ITNESSES FOR MITCHELL PUT ARMY ON TRIAL

Tell of Blunders in Air Service.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Col. William Mitchell's drum fire began at 10:10 o'clock this morning. It lasted five hours.

The colonel of the air service, now on trial for insubordination, called two witnesses. Each one of them confirmed under oath the charges of maladministration of the air service by the army and navy which the accused had said he would confirm by them.

It was the colonel's day. He carried the fighting to the heart of his enemy and he struck hard.

Prosecution Overruled.

Several times Col. Blanton Winship, law officer of this court martial and the legal mentor of the four major generals and five brigadier generals who are trying the colonel, overruled the objections of the prosecution, thus enabling Mitchell to let loose a quantity of testimony by which he claims he will prove that all the criticisms he ever made of the war department, army, and navy were true.

This day, therefore, took the Mitchell case far beyond the question of the colonel's guiltiness of insubordination in making the statements charging his superior officers with incompetence and "near treason" and landed it on the wide and tempest-tossed sea of the truth or falsity of general allegations. This is now the trial of the army and navy.

Air Major Testifies.

The star witness of the day was Maj. Carl Spatz, who came straight from his desk in the war department to help Mitchell blow the works. He is chief of the tactical unit section of the training division of the air service. He is 34 years old. He has been in the army fifteen years, counting his time at West Point. Here is a sample of his testimony:

"The training of the first pursuit group of airmen in the 6th corps area was delayed because of the war department's delay in appropriating $1, which was the merely nominal rent which the citizens of Oscoto, Mich., asked for a field suitable for training purposes.

Delay Was Serious.

"This delay was long in duration and serious in effect." Maj. Spatz continued:

"Military aviation has reached a condition where it is very difficult to find out how we are going to continue flying.

"The bulk of the equipment is either obsolete or obsolescent. The bulk of it is not adapted to the purposes for which it is intended.

"It is very disheartening to attempt to do any training work under present circumstances, and that is true generally over the United States."

Questioned by Reid.

Representative Frank Reid of Aurora, Ill., Col. Mitchell's senior counsel, asked Maj. Spatz some questions.

"What," Mr. Reid asked, "do you think about the knowledge of the general staff in aviation?"

Maj. Spatz replied:

"It is the knowledge of men who have not been trained in aviation. With the exception of Maj. M. F. Harmon and Maj. G. C. Brandt, no officers of the general staff have had the service training that comes of having been in command of tactical units."

Maj. Harmon, it soon transpired, has been on the general staff only two

"Do you believe the development of aviation is being retarded by the attitude of the war department?"

Reid asked that.

Col. Sherman Moreland, judge advocate of the court—the prosecuting officer, in other words—slowly formed an objection, but he was too late.

Maj. Spatz has quietly answered "I do."

No Bombing Practice.

Reid asked the major this:

"Has there been any practice whatever in the last two years with 1,100 pound bombs suitable for war purposes?"

Col. Moreland objected that the competency of the witness to know the facts that had not been shown.

"Isn't it your business to know?" Reid asked the major.

"It is."

"And has there been any such practice whatever?"

"There has not been."

Col. Moreland objected that the

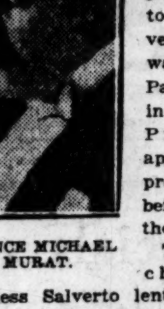
FRENCH PRINCE WHO MARRIED U. S. GIRL FACES PRISON TERM

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Prince Michael Murat, who in 1913 married Miss Helene MacDonald Stallo of Cincinnati, today was sentenced to eight months in jail and ordered to repay 93,000 francs to Countess Salverto. Sentence was passed by a Paris police court in default of Prince Murat's appearance; his present domicile being unknown to the court.



PRINCE MICHAEL MURAT.

The prosecution charged that Countess Salverto lent the prince a quantity of jewelry to help him conclude certain financial operations. She stipulated that the gems should be placed in the Paris municipal pawnshop.

Later she learned, according to the testimony, that the prince had disposed of the gems in London and then sold the pawn tickets. The countess eventually was able to buy back most of her jewels, but spent 93,000 francs.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—An American admirer of Great Britain today paid the interest upon the British debt to the United States covering a period of twelve minutes. The official announcement by the chancellor of exchequer says the American, who was born in England, has forwarded bonds worth 1,100 pounds sterling [$5,330] as a contribution to the reduction of the British debt, with the expression of appreciation of the attitude of Britain toward international affairs. The exchequer's statement concludes: "Mr. Churchill desires to express his majesty's government's warm appreciation of this generous gift."

ROME, Nov. 9.—Premier Mussolini's press bureau today prohibited publication or dispatching of any news regarding the investigation of the plot against the Italian premier except that officially given out through the government subsidized Stefano agency, which originally announced the plot. The government today abolished the Socialist workers' organization in Milan. Fascist syndicalists took over building operations. This is the first step toward the dissolution of the Socialist party, which was ordered the day the discovery of the plot was announced.

Cosmic Ray, Superforce in Space, Found

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—His success in isolating a ray with energy greater than any other known and with a frequency a thousand times higher than the frequency of the ultra X-ray ray, was related by Prof. R. A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology at the meeting of the National Academy of Sciences here tonight.

Prof. Millikan told of the work that has been done in the study of the new ray with first experiments made by sending up balloons containing electroscopes which showed that the ions increased with altitude. The first studies of this nature were made by German professors before the war and since then. Prof. Millikan has sent up small balloons with instruments from Kelly aviation field, which, in general, bore out the findings of the German scientists.

Gets Results at Ten Miles.

Prof. Millikan noted the increase in the number of ions with altitude, one of his recording machines having ascended to a height of ten miles.

In order to sift out the influence of radioactive substances, tests were taken under water, but it was found that the liquid was radioactive and snow water-fed Lake Muir on Mount Whitney was next taken as the scene of experiments. Here it was found that through lowering the instruments to certain depths the hard rays could be eliminated. The same experiments were later tried at Arrowhead lake, 300 miles distant, but also a great height, with approximately the same result.

The increase in lakes at high altitudes caused Prof. Millikan to conclude that there was something that brought absorption other than radioactive substances.

Sun Has No Effect.

Prof. Millikan found that there was something coming in from the outside, with the action of all radioactive material barred. He found further that ionization was the same at all times of the day and that the sun had no effect on the ionization of the cosmic rays.

The rays are of the ten million volt variety, Prof. Millikan declared, and concluded that they are due to atoms changing over to other atoms.

"The energy of the ray is that of an electron being captured by a heavy nuclei," he asserted. "The rays are all through space, bombarding the earth from all directions. They are rays of extraordinary absorbing power and come to the earth with equal intensity day and night."

Prof. Millikan did not discuss any practical purpose the rays might serve. It has been suggested that this cosmic ray is a counter force to gravitation, perhaps responsible for the initial activity of planetary bodies, and that its influence in the universe prevails to prevent the force of gravity from bringing all celestial bodies into one mass.

JUROR BETTER; RESUME GENNA TRIAL TODAY

Improvement in the condition of Frank A. Hammers, ailing juror in the trial of John Scalisi and Albert Anselmi, two Genna gangsters charged with the murders of two policemen, was reported last night, and it is expected by court attachés that the trial will be resumed this morning before Judge William V. Brothers.

Hammers, who lives at 7451 Kingston avenue, developed a severe cold while in the jury box, and Sunday and yesterday he was kept in bed under orders of the court's physician.

Defense Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell probably will argue during the entire day. He will be followed by State's Attorney Crowe, closing the case.

HOME WRECKED BY DYNAMITE; MOTIVE VEILED

Liquor and Strikes Both Suspected.

Policeman Fred M. Schmitz was killed last night by the explosion of a bomb at his home at 5233 West Van Buren street. An investigation failed to disclose the motive, whether it was set at the behest of those interested in booze, vice or gambling, by labor union bombers, or if it was intended for the home of Police Captain Ira J. McDowell, who lives next door at 5235.

Schmitz was a traffic policeman attached to the South Clark street station and assigned to crossing duty at Wabash avenue and Eighteenth street. He had, some time ago, been assigned to strike duty when the garment workers were out. He is said also to have made inquiries about a bomb set off beside the Rex café, Twenty-second and State streets, a month ago.

Knows of No Enemies.

Capt. Charles Larkin, Schmitz's commanding officer, said he knew of no reason why any one should wish to serve any warning or wreak any vengance upon Schimtz. The policeman was not the prosecuting witness in any important criminal case, either, Capt. Larkin said.

"I can't understand why any one should want to kill a $40 a week policeman," Chief of Police Collins said. "I can't believe, either, that a mistake was made in the houses and this bomb was intended for Capt. McDowell. Bombers never make such mistakes. And again they would not want to bomb a square policeman like either McDowell or Schmitz. I am mystified."

At Work in the Basement.

Policeman Schmitz was at work in his basement, making a cabinet for his wife who was at the time visiting a relative in a hospital. The policeman's three children were on the first floor. Catherine, 10 years old, was studying her lessons, Fred Jr., 7, and Richard, 6, were at play.

Suddenly there was a terrific blast that rocked the entire neighborhood. Fred Jr, called for his father, then, receiving no answer, the child sent in a fire alarm. The firmen found Schmitz terribly wounded, in a dying condition.

It was determined that six or seven sticks of dynamite had been placed in the light wall of a basement window at the northeast corner of the building. The policeman's body was found about twelve feet away from where the explosion had ripped out the brick wall.

Furnace Door Open.

The door of the furnace was open, a shovel was near Schmitz' body, indicating he had possibly been tending the furnace at the time. It was thought he heard some one outside and started for the window just as the detonation occurred.

The children upstairs were unhurt. Mrs. Lois Peacock, who lives on the second floor, was stunned, but not otherwise injured. Windows were shattered in nearly every house in the block.

The adjoining houses are of similar construction as the Schmitz home. This led to the belief a mistake may have been made. Schmitz and his family have lived there eight years, the policeman having purchased the building for $6,500 and having recently refused an offer of $13,000 for it.

McDowell Also Mystified.

"I know of no reason why any one should want to bomb either his building or mine," Capt. McDowell said. "I can't recall any incident that would give cause for such action against us."

Capt. McDowell was transferred from the Des Plaines street district last night, a few hours before the bomb exploded. He is a veteran of the force and has always been known as a strict enforcer of all laws. He drove the gamblers, the bootleggers and the vice interests from his district in the year he has been assigned there.

It was considered possible some interests, not knowing of the transfer, wished to warn him or to punish him. In the absence of any known reason for bombing Schmitz' home the prevailing theory was that the dynamite was intended for McDowell's.

Oil-Electric Engine Tests for C. & N. W.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Northwestern railroad has ordered a thorough test of oil electric locomotives in its downtown trackage on the north bank of the Chicago river between its north branch and the Municipal pier.

It is to be a conclusive experiment with a unit designed by the Ingersoll-Rand company, the General Electric company, and the American Locomotive company, and also with another engine built by the Baldwin Locomotive Works and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Engines of Deisel Type.

The engines with which the experiments are to be made are of the Deisel internal combustion, oil using type. They will drive electric generators, which in turn will run electric motors that will propel the locomotives.

One type of such engine is said to weigh 60 tons and develop 300 horse power, another to weigh 100 tons and develop 600 horse power. The tests probably to begin between Dec. 1 and Jan. 1, will last for about sixty days.

The oil used is low priced and does not give off the dangerous gases that a gasoline engine does.

If the experiments are successful, as hoped, the new engines will eliminate smoke, soot and cinders completely, the exhaust gases will be negligible and comparatively harmless. Apparently the railroad's searching for a substitute for electrifying its trackage at large installation cost and the paying power bills or the cost of a power plant of its own.

Would Boost Air Rights.

Success would make available valuable air rights over the Northwestern's downtown trackage for construction of large buildings. That undoubtedly would bring about the double-decking of several streets north of the river and spur the Illinois Central to greater effort in getting the air rights ready over its acres of tracks immediately south of the river and east of Michigan boulevard.

Probably also the Dearborn, La Salle and Grand Central groups of railroads would hasten a decision on their proposed new terminal. Then, too, if a satisfactory oil-electric freight engine is developed, a suburban service engine naturally would follow.

Perhaps a statement will be issued today after the regular meeting of the Northwestern's directorate in New York, but that is improbable because the road's officials in charge while President Fred Sargent is in the east insist emphatically that "we are just making a test." Adding, "what comes of it, depends on its outcome."

To Test Gasoline Engines.

The Northwestern also is to experiment with internal combustion gasoline engines, such as used on automobiles, and has ordered a 60 foot gasoline locomotive from the Edwards Railway Motor Car company of Sanford, N. C. This is to be tried on a stretch of 72 miles between Clinton and Anamosa, Ia. It is said it can be operated at one-third the cost of a steam locomotive and take care of all of the traffic, passengers, milk, cream, mail, express, etc.

Another gasoline engine is to be tested between Kenosha and Rockford. These gasoline engines are satisfactory for the open spaces, but because of their gases are not acceptable for the downtown trackage. To make even the lower deck of South Water street usable by autos a ventilating system is being installed.

DOCTOR BLAMES BLANK MIND FOR MERCY MURDER

Knows but One Thing —He Loved Cripple.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Littleton, Col., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Depressive melancholia, epileptic automata, hysterical somnambulism—a variety of medical terms, were flung at the jury late this afternoon in the trial of Dr. Harold E. Blazer for the killing of his idiot daughter, Hazel.

The battle of the experts began—pathological and psychological. The human case sat before them, an old man with bowed head. There was no agreement as to what was the matter with him on Feb. 24, last, when he gave poison to Hazel and attempted to take his own life by poison and knife.

That he was insane at the time; could not distinguish between right and wrong was the opinion given to the jury by Daniel E. Phillips, professor of psychology in Denver university, and Dr. Cyrus L. Pershing, a noted alienist of Dnever.

Old Man on the Stand.

The doctor, himself, was on the stand for nearly four hours. He abandoned the defense, probably the true one, that he had decided that Hazel must die, and that it was no crime, but true humanitarianism to kill her.

He took the other ground, that she had an immortal soul, that he believed in the Bible and in the tenets of the Presbyterian church on these questions, that he had no right to take human life, and that if he did so in this case, he was not aware of it. He would have the jury believe that a lapse came in his life a period of five days when he did not know what he did.

During this period, he tacitly admitted, his automatic self, his other personality, his powerful unconsciousness, perfected and carried out the elaborate plot that resulted in the girl's death.

In seeking to make this plausible the defense put a long hypothetical question to the two experts on the stand.

Wonder About His "Spells."

They made much of the "spells" that the doctor had suffered—called plain headache, by the state—and cited his condition of stupor which the state says came from morphine.

"Assuming such a father (a loving one) had killed this idiot," ran the conclusion of the question, "state whether in your reasearch and experience, this man was able to distinguish between right and wrong."

And the answer was no.

The state experts will say yes.

The case will last until Thursday, on the basis of this new journey into the unexplored regions of the human mind.

The question of Dr. Blazer's religious beliefs and the immortality of the soul were declared by Judge Samuel Johnson to be beyond the field of any experts.

The mind experts told of cases in which complete amnesia occurrs, although it may not be apparent. A man may not be aware of events, may do things of which he retains no memory.

Suicide Laid to Insanity.

It was agreed that one who attempts suicide is insane.

Prof. Phillips, however, refused to define insanity. Dr. Pershing said that he had discovered insantiy in the Blazer family and that in his opinion the doctor had melancholia. This, however, is not characterized by loss of memory, he said. He did not see much ground for amnesia as a theory, though he denied that there was evidence of faking in this direction.

Other experts will take the stand tomorrow and court probably will recess over Armistice day.

Dr. Blazer first testified briefly as to his past. For 35 years he practiced in Ohio and Colorado.

Not in Line with Experience.

Having taken the ground that he "could not remember," Dr. Blazer denied that he had ever said that Hazel's death was the best thing, that he had a right to send her out of the world.

He maintained this attitude in the face of a rough cross examination by the young state prosecutor, Joel E. Stone. He was gentle, precise, properly grief stricken, at this action of his Freudian subconsciousness.

That his act did not coincide with the teachings of psychology in the working of the subconscious, has not struck him yet as a serious obstacle to acceptance of his story by the jury, and freedom.

Dr. Blazer seems to have loved Hazel sincerely all his life. His own examination supports in many ways the theory of the state that he came to a conscious decision to take her life and his own. He admitted that he had been suffering from high blood pressure and feared that he might die at any time; that he had lost most of his property; that he hated to leave Hazel in new surroundings, with people who might not understand her as he did.

The white-bearded bailiff with the G. A. R. button called court at 1 p. m., while the crowd struggled for seats and standing room in the sun-flooded room. From the windows back of the jury one could look across the sage brush plains to the brown foothills, the darker timber line, and remote white peaks outlined against a blue sky with the clarity of a Japanese print of the holy mountain.

Doctor Waits for Ordeal.

The doctor had been waiting an hour in the courtroom, his head bowed in his hands, preparing for his ordeal. His daughter, Mrs. Frances Bishop went at times to comfort and cheer him. He was called to the witness stand by his attorney, H. W. Spangler, the moment court was opened with the appearance of Judge Samuel Johnson.

He was questioned concerning his early life in Carrolton, Ohio, his study of medicine in Cleveland, his marriage in 1888, and the birth of the two children, Hazel and Frances. Hazel was born in May, 1891, he said, at Dillonvale, Ohio, where he was practicing. About six weeks later, she developed cerebral spinal meningitis and was left a hopeless invalid.

Q.—Did she have any mind? A.—Not as far as I could tell.

Picture of Helplessness.

Q.—State her exact condition. A.—She was a sufferer all her life. She was absolutely helpless. She could neither walk nor talk, feed herself nor do anything. She could get around a little by rolling on the floor.

Q.—Could she indicate her wants? A.—I got to understand when she wanted some things. If she suffered we could not tell where the pain was. Then she would go into convulsions, become rigid, work her hands and mouth. Her eyes would turn back. She could not masticate. I fed her with a spoon when she was propped in a chair. She could make sounds. Her feet, arms, legs, and hands were developed less than those of a 5 or 6 year old child. Her body was deformed by a double curvature of the spine. The left shoulder was higher than the right. There were knots on her chest bones. She had no control or coördination. She would tear paper to pieces for amusement. Her weight was about 90 pounds. I dressed her, washed her, bathed her. She slept in the same room with me and I would attend to her three or four times during the night.

Loved Her Beyond Words.

Q.—Did you think as much of her as of the other child? A.—Yes, apparently more. I tried everything possible for her.

There were tears in the doctor's eyes. He nursed her, he said, through two bad cases of pneumonia and one of typhoid.

Q.—Did you ever think what would become of Hazel if you were called away? A.—Yes, many times.

Q.—Could a stranger take care of her? A.—I don't consider they could do as well as I could.

Q.—Why not? A.—Well, I recall once when I had to go to Pittsburgh and was away for several days, Hazel was taken ill and a physician was called. He told Mrs. Blazer that Hazel was dying, and I was telegraphed to come home. Hazel heard my step on the walk. She looked up and laughed and immediately began to get better. She was practically well in 24 hours. She had very acute hearing.

Why He Quit Practicing.

Q.—Why did you quit practicing in 1924? A.—I had been having some kind of spells and was afraid that I might do something that was not right. My tongue would become numb, my head heavy. I am now 62. Two years ago it began to grow worse. I have a cataract and cannot see properly.

Q.—Do you remember of your daughter and son-in-law going to Denver on Feb. 24, the day Hazel died? A.—I remember some things, but it is hard to differentiate between memory and what was told me later.

Q.—Do you recollect taking any drugs yourself or cutting your throat with a razor? A.—No.

Q.—Do you recollect locking the house and putting Hazel on the bed and getting on the bed by her side? A.—No, sir.

Q.—They have told you since? A.—Yes.

DENVER LAWYER, ILL AND HOPELESS, ASKS FOR LEGAL WAY TO DIE

Denver, Colo., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Blazer murder trial has brought about a strange reaction here, in the request of a prominent attorney, believed to be suffering from a serious disease, that the board of directors of a church vote on the question of whether he should be put to death if he so requested, and if there was a legal way in which it could be done. He is Barney Haughey, 67.

FIND HER AGE 74, NOT 100.

Shortly after the death on Monday of Mrs. Mary O'Toole, 3553 West 111th street, a report was received at the coroner's office stating that she was 100 years old. A subsequent investigation disclosed that her real age was 74 years and that the undertaker who made out the original report had guessed at the 100.

CONGRESS WILL PASS BUILDINGS BILL—MADDEN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Assurance that a general public buildings bill, carrying appropriations for the erection of public buildings in all parts of the country, will be passed at the coming session of congress, was given President Coolidge today by Representative Martin B. Madden [Rep., Ill.], chairman of the house appropriations committee.

MARTIN B. MADDEN.

The building program under the new law would provide funds for the construction of badly needed new buildings in the District of Columbia and, if passed, would virtually assure the construction of a new modern postoffice at Chicago.

As proposed now, however, no particular buildings would be authorized in the law itself. The money would be available for use during the next six years and a committee headed by the secretary of the treasury would designate the buildings to be built.

Illinois representatives, however, feel confident that the need for a new Chicago postoffice is so great that it will be recognized by the committee at once.

Children Ill, Wife Asks Police to Find Husband

Mrs. Edna Caliva, 1654 Mohawk street, asked the aid of the police yesterday in finding her husband, Joseph, missing since Friday. She and her two children are ill. Joseph, a pressman, may have gone away with another woman, Mrs. Caliva said, but she is willing to forgive him if he returns.

George Hitzman Indorsed for Sheriff by Crowe Body

George Hitzman was indorsed for sheriff last night at a meeting of the Crowe-Brundage Republican organizations in thirteen wards. Wards represented were the 28th and all between the 30th and 41st.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, Nov. 7, on shipments sold out, ranged from 7.00 cents to 22.00 cents per pound and averaged 11.98 cents per pound.—Adv.

TRIBUNE TARGET OF FINAL BLAST IN DRY MEETING

New York and Maryland Read Out of U. S.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The Anti-Saloon League of America closed its crisis convention in Chicago last night. To a considerable extent the target of the concluding session, as well as of the earlier sessions, was THE TRIBUNE.

In more than fifty speeches delivered in the five day convention THE TRIBUNE was charged with all the sins and crimes in the catalogue of prohibition, from simple wetness to treason.

Until the Rev. Sam Small of Georgia, prohibition lecturer and writer, read New York and Maryland out of the Union last night nothing heard in the convention approached the shafts of denunciation that were hurled at THE TRIBUNE, not even the attack of Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania on the Coolidge administration on Sunday.

Robins Climaxes Attacks.

Few of the speakers in the whole convention omitted the opportunity to assail this newspaper. This denunciation reached its climax at the Hotel Sherman banquet last night when Raymond Robins of Chicago, social worker and former Bull Mooser, stormed THE TRIBUNE's position for the final sally of the drys.

Mr. Robins was so worked up himself and stirred his audience to such fervor that shouts of "Hang them for treason" were heard in the turmoil as the good ministers and elders and deacons and other assembled Christians jeered THE TRIBUNE and its representative who sat at the banquet boards.

"THE TRIBUNE is the enemy of the constitution," Mr. Robins shouted amid the cheers and jeers, boos and hisses. "It is guilty of selective anarchy."

A new crime, that, but Mr. Robins explained:

"If THE TRIBUNE can select those portions of the constitution it wishes to obey and disobey, the Russian bolshevik who comes to our shores can select those portions he wishes to obey or disobey."

Deportation should be the same for both, Mr. Robins believes.

Talks of Al Smith as Nominee.

Mr. Robins then began to draw a picture of the political future with Gov. Al Smith of New York as the wet Democratic candidate for President in 1928. He got just that far when a shout, "Nothing doing," was heard.

The banqueters turned quickly toward the shouter. They looked in the blazing eyes and belligerent countenance of Representative W. D. Upshaw [Dem., Ga.].

There was no humor in the attitude of that fiery Democrat from Georgia as he contemplated such a nomination by his party. "Nothing doing," he fairly screamed again as he brought his left crutch down on the floor with a bang.

Mr. Upshaw had addressed the dry convention during the afternoon as "fellow booze fighters" in a speech condemning the wet press of America to the abyss of oblivion.

Demands Water Wagon for Press.

"If the newspapers of this country, every publisher, editor, and reporter, were put on the water wagon we would be grandly on our way to accomplish our goal," he had declared.

"If the Republican party," resumed Mr. Robins, "is recreant in enforcing prohibition and the Democrats put up a wet candidate, there will be another candidate before the people on this issue in 1928," he said.

"But I am one who trusts that bit of solid Vermont granite in the White House. I believe Calvin Coolidge will enforce the constitution."

"But I don't like the weak chin music of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews," Mr. Robins said. "I don't like his apologetic attitude. This nation can enforce its laws. If he can't do his job let him resign and let some one else take it."

Two States in Rebellion.

The Rev. Mr. Small said the state of New York and Maryland are in rebellion, displaying the essence of anarchy and the shadow of treason in definitely refusing to provide for prohibition enforcement.

It is within the power of congress to expel their senators and representatives and banish these states from the union until they knuckle down to prohibition, he declared. For precedent he pointed to the ten southern states held under military control until they ratified the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments after the civil war.

"The same power congress had then to dehorn those ten states it has today," he shouted. "Congress in session tomorrow could dehorn New York and Maryland until they take down their red flags of rebellion.

"South Observes 14th and 15th."

"And I defy any man, black or white, to produce evidence that any southern state today is not observing the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments," he declared.

This was music to the ears of Mr. Upshaw of Georgia and he said so with voice and crutch.

The Rev. Mr. Small quoted numerous authorities, including some of the framers of the constitution, to declare: "The constitution belongs to the people to change or do with as they please."

And the eighteenth amendment was their will, he declared.

Congressman Henry R. Rathbone [Rep. Ill.] declared that the American people will never be fickle and change their stand on prohibition. Great Britain, he said, may soon be forced to go dry to meet American competition in the world marts because of the stimulus prohibition has given to American production.

The "crisis convention" yesterday sent to President Coolidge what was in effect an ultimatum. Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit, the high Methodist churchman who is president of the Anti-Saloon league, announced that the text of Gov. Pinchot's attack on Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, Internal Revenue Collector Blair and Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes had been sent to the President with a letter calling on Mr. Coolidge to act on the Pinchot charges.

Among politicians yesterday Gov. Pinchot's new onslaught on the Coolidge administration was taken as the start of the Pennsylvania governor's candidacy for the Republican nomination for president in 1928.

Haynes Defends Himself.

Commissioner Haynes came to his own defense against the Pinchot charges in a telegram from Washington last night to the Chicago convention. He said some of the alcohol permits mentioned by Gov. Pinchot have been revoked, that others had been restored on court orders or on intimations from the courts that the government would not be sustained in revocation orders.

This was greeted with enthusiasm by partisans of Haynes, a former Anti-Saloon leaguer, who got his job through the influence of the dry organization.

Congressman Richard Yates [Rep., Ill.], former governor of the state, addressing the convention yesterday, started to challenge Gov. Pinchot's charges that a wanton disregard for prohibition prevails in official Washington among the cabinet members, senators, representatives and judges.

Demands Names from Pinchot.

"What cabinet officer, what judge, what senator, does he name?" he asked. "A governor of a great state should make his statements explicit——"

"Well he can prove it," shouted a voice from high in the gallery of the Chicago temple. Mr. Yates sensed hostility in the hall and brought his remarks to a quick and moderate conclusion.

Resolutions adopted by the executive committee demanded of the treasury department the same effort toward prohibition enforcement that is given to the collection of federal taxes. They also called on the President to use the navy to stop rum running.

In a minister's meeting at the temple yesterday morning Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church ridiculed Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, and Edward F. Dunne, former governor of Illinois and mayor of Chicago, for their positions on prohibition and their "pretenses in proposing remedies for the liquor traffic."

Radio Conference Approves Limitation of Broadcasting Stations; Hits Ads in Air

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—A radical regulation and limitation of radio broadcasting in order to prevent congestion of the ether, is the prospect as a result of the deliberations of the Fourth National Radio conference, which met today for a series of sessions under the auspices of the department of commerce.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, opening the conference with a thoughtful survey of the problem, declared his conviction that restrictive legislation is now imperative and Representative White, [Rep., Me.], of the house committee on merchant marine, who handles radio legislation, was on hand to obtain the views of the 600 delegates preparatory to the framing of a bill in congress.

Favor Limiting Stations.

In the open discussion it soon became apparent that there is overwhelming sentiment favoring the limitation of the number of broadcasting stations and in favor of restricting broadcasting on a basis of service to listeners. The aim of such restriction would be to eliminate broadcasting for purely advertising purposes.

These two proposals were submitted by Secretary Hoover, together with a third one, to which considerable opposition developed. This one was that "regional committees, familiar with the situation and needs of their communities be established as advisory to the secretary of commerce in passing upon applications for broadcasting licenses."

If that plan were adopted the secretary of commerce would share the responsibility with local committees for discriminating between broadcasters and would be able to "pass the buck" now and then.

Want No Politics.

The proposal aroused much opposition on the part of delegates who argued that it would introduce politics into the situation and cause broadcasters to resort to the invocation of local influences of various sorts to obtain or retain licenses.

George Morris, representing W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE broadcasting station, addressed the conference on practical radio problems from the point of view of the big broadcasters. He said that THE TRIBUNE has spent $500,000 on its station up to date.

"The state of congestion of the ether today and the increasing pressure for the licensing of still more broadcasters, demonstrate that there must be a limitation of broadcasting sooner or later under the present conditions of development of the art," Mr. Morris said. "Only some extraordinary invention which will permit unlimited broadcasting by stations simultaneously can obviate the necessity of limitation and that invention is not yet in sight."

Secretary Hoover called on the conference to deal with questions of radio advertising fearlessly.

Hoover Senses Danger.

"There lies within it," he said, "the possibility of grave harm and even vital danger to the entire broadcasting structure. The desire for publicity is the basic motive and the financial support for almost all the broadcasting in the country today."

"The radio listener does not have the same option that the reader of publications has to ignore advertising in which he is not interested, and he may resent its invasion of his set. It has been pointed out, in previous conferences, that advertising in the intrusive sense will dull the interest of the listener and will thus defeat the industry."

Mr. Hoover is not moved by lofty argument for "freedom of the air." He doesn't believe freedom of the air sanctions the thrusting of unwelcome broadcasting upon the listener through his receiving set than freedom of speech sanctions the invasion of your sitting room by an orator with an address.

"The ether," declared Mr. Hoover, "is a public medium and its use must be for the public benefit."

PINCHOT SEEKS CONFERENCES TO END COAL STRIKE

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Pinchot today sent letters to W. W. Inglis, chairman of the anthracite operators' negotiating committee, and John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, asking them to meet him to discuss the coal strike situation. The governor hopes to meet Mr. Lewis in Philadelphia on Wednesday and Mr. Inglis in Harrisburg on Thursday.

Dever Provides Money for Fees in Redistricting Suit

John B. Fergus' worry about the sheriffs' costs in connection with his Supreme court action to compel the legislature to reapportion the state were ended temporarily yesterday by Mayor Dever. The old veteran required $375 with which to pay for the serving of subpœnas on downstate legislators. There were no municipal funds in sight until Mayor Dever instructed Corporation Counsel Busch to draw the $375 from the mayor's contingent fund.

CHIEF SUSPENDS CAPT. LEE FOR DURKIN FIASCO

Charged with bungling and neglect of duty in permitting Martin Durkin, wanted for murder, to walk out of a police trap, Capt. Michael Lee of the Englewood station was suspended last night by Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins. Lee will be brought before the police trial board to answer to charges of incapacity and inefficiency.

The blame for Durkin's escape from the Austin flat at 240 Englewood avenue after he had shot Sergt. Harry Gray, who died a few days later, was placed squarely on the shoulders of Capt. Lee in a report made by Deputy Superintendents Matthew Zimmer and John E. Ptacek to Chief Collins.

"Capt. Lee was given information that Durkin would visit the flat," Deputies Zimmer and Ptacek reported to the chief. "He was given a free hand and we find that he assigned men to the inside of the building, but none on the outside.

Detail Improperly Placed.

"If a detail had been properly placed inside and out, Durkin could not have escaped.

"It is recommended that Capt. Lee be suspended and charges of neglect of duty and incapacity and inefficiency in the service be preferred."

"I have nothing to say, I do not wish to discuss the matter," was the only comment Capt. Lee would make last night.

By the suspension of Capt. Lee, Chief Collins again manifested his confidence in the ability of Capt. William Schoemaker of the detective bureau, who had been criticized in connection with the Durkin escape.

Lieut. William Leibecke will command the station temporarily.

First action in the long expected shakeup of the department came last night when Chief Collins issued an order transferring four police captains. While denying that there were any irregularities in their districts, the chief said he hoped for better results from the change in commands. At the same time Chief Collins assigned nearness of their homes to the new posts as the chief reason for the shift. Those affected by the order follow:

Discuss Maxwell District.

During the day Chief Collins and Mayor Dever conferred on conditions in the Maxwell street district, where graft by policemen from bootleggers has been charged by Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell of counsel in the Genna gunmen murder trial.

A wholesale transfer order affecting more than 90 per cent of the men in the Maxwell district is being prepared.

Witnesses Charge Poor Air Administration.

major was not "an expert," and so ought not to be asked to testify on such and such a point.

1,368 of 1,820 Planes Useless.

Other high spots in Col. Spatz's testimony were:

"Of the 1,820 planes which are the military strength of the United States in aircraft, 400 are standard and well suited for their purpose; 1,368 planes are substitutes or are obsolete.

"Twenty-two per cent of the army air service planes are fit for service and 50 per cent of those were made in wartime, seven or more years ago.

"Only 69 planes are modern, up-to-date, and designed for the purpose for which they were intended. Sixty of them are being used for training purposes, leaving nine available for use against an enemy."

No Value in Training.

Maj. Spatz continued, packing in his answers to this effect:

"The training at Mitchell field last summer of the bombardment group had no value whatever in increasing efficiency, because the army kept the bombardment group busy towing targets for anti-aircraft practice. . . . But anti-aircraft fire does not interfere with the pursuit carrying out its mission. I know of no cases where anti-aircraft fire prevented the Germans from coming over. . . . There is not one pursuit plane fully equipped for war time service in the army air service of the United States. . . . The planes that crashed in the 1924 air races, killing Lieut. Pierson and Capt. Skeel, had been in storage from one to two years and had deteriorated in storage.

Not Enough Pilots.

"Throughout the United States there have never been sufficient pilots in the pursuit group to carry on tactical training. There has been no assembling of the air force for tactical purposes in two years, and only one assembling since the war."

Mr. Reid brought it out that this one and only assembling since the war had been effected—by whom?

Answer: "Col. William Mitchell."

Major Spatz said that in case of war our air men would have to go to school to learn gunnery, because they are not now getting enough training to handle the guns. Some of the men have not fired a single shot since the war.

This paragraph is a specimen of the major's nearly two hours of revelations:

"There are thirty-two planes required for the present attack squadrons in the army air service and that there is not one attack plane available, rebuilt observation planes seven or more years old being used for attack purposes."

Recommendations Ignored.

Capt. Robert Oldys was another of today's witnesses who came from the war department, where he has supervision of defense projects in our overseas possessions. Part of his work is to make comments and recommendations.

"My recommendations have not been followed—not been carried out in a great many instances," he testified.

"What difficulties," they asked him, "did you encounter?"

He said he never has been supplied with sufficient equipment or personnel to carry out his approved recommendations and plans. This goes, he said, for work he wanted done in Hawaii, in the Philippines, and in the Panama canal department.

That statements "false and misleading" have been made by high ranking officers in our army before various boards of investigation is one of Col. Mitchell's principal accusations.

Gen. Fries Called.

To support that accusation Mitchell brought on the witness stand today Brig. Gen. Amos A. Fries, head of the chemical warfare service of the United States and one of the authorities on the chemistry of war. He testied that "if you wanted" the District of Columbia gassed so densely that it could not be occupied you could do it in one trip with 960 planes, each carrying a 1,000 pound gas bomb.

The purpose of this testimony was to stamp as "false and misleading" the statement made by so high a high up as Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of staff, that it would take 3,439,000 pounds of mustard gas to do the job to the district and that you would have to have 2,000 planes to carry the gas.

Gen. Fries went into much technical detail, and Gen. Graves, one of the judges and the commander of the 6th corps area, of which Chicago is the metropolis, asked:

"What is the purpose of all this? Is it to qualify the witness or does it bear on the issue before the court?"

"Both," said Reid.

THE BILL OF PARTICULARS

Before the testimony of the day began Attorney Reid read a sixty page statement of what Col. Mitchell expects to prove in this trial. The colonel's familiar phrase, "almost treasonable," which he flung at the war department in September and which caused this court martial to be created, was used in the statement three times.

That high ranking officers have made "false and misleading statements" to the injury of the air service and the befuddling of the nation was charged four times.

Reaching page 27, Congressman Reid began the slow recital of the list of fatalities in the army air service during the 18 months from Jan. 1, 1924, to June 30, 1925, thirty-six in all.

Tells of 36 Fatalities.

The courtroom was quiet while Reid read off the names of the dead, each name followed by "burned to death in a De Haviland plane" . . . "killed when his plane had gone into a tail spin" . . . "killed in a JN plane which spun into the ground" . . . "killed in an accident due to motor failure" . . . "killed by plane crashing into the ground and bursting into flames" . . . "the tendency of the De Haviland plane to burn when wrecked is well known" . . . "killed in a JN plane due to collapse of the wings of the ship in the air" . . . "killed in a navy racing plane, which went to pieces in the air" . . . "killed in a JN plane due to motor failure" . . . "killed in a plane which was forced into the river by a fog, an accident which adequate weather reports could have prevented" . . . "killed in a spin."

"All these accidents may be attributed directly or indirectly to faulty equipment or to lack of proper weather information," Reid said, continuing:

"We will prove that by evidence: "Money appropriated for aviation has reverted to the treasury and that with this condition existing it was not necessary to send men to their deaths in wartime built craft."

Wanted Testimony Retracted.

"We will prove by evidence," he went on, "that an officer of the navy department endeavored to get Mrs. Lansdowne, the widow of Commander Lansdowne, to give false testimony retracting her former statement that Commander Lansdowne was ordered to take the Shenandoah on her fatal flight to the middle west over his protest.

"We will prove by evidence that lack of parachutes deprived officers and men of the Shenandoah of their only chance for life.

"We will prove by evidence that the war and navy departments maintain public propaganda agencies, the number of officer and civilians employed in publicity and propaganda work and that their salaries are paid out of funds appropriated by congress for national defense.

"We will prove by evidence that a press report has been sent out by the war department, during the progress of this trial regarding its conduct and in an endeavor to influence public opinion and perhaps this court. I am considering very deliberately whether I should not ask from this court a ruling that these press agents be summoned for contempt of court.

"We will prove by evidence that it is almost treasonable not to forestall the attempt of a foreign flight organization to secure a foothold in Central America, within striking distance of the Panama canal and though often requested to thus forestall by Col. Mitchell, the department ignored this menace.

"We will prove by evidence that the war department was guilty of almost treasonable administration due to the fact that up to 1923 there were in Hawaii no plans for the employment of the air service in the aeronautical protection of the islands.

Aviation in Philippines.

"We will prove by evidence that the war department was guilty of almost treasonable administration in that the air units in the Philippines in 1923 were disorganized, scattered, untrained, and poorly equipped."

Other accusations are that years ago a board of officers recommended substantially the things which Col. Mitchell recommends now, but that the war department refused to act on the recommendations.

AVIATION CAPTAIN IS HELD IN $2,000 BOND AS HIS CAR KILLS MAN

Mount Holly, N. J., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Capt. Anton Heinen of Lakehurst naval station, was released in $2,000 bail on a charge of manslaughter, today, after his car struck and killed Thomas Chamberlain, 55, a trolley motorman. He waived examination until Dec. 22.

Chamberlain stepped from his car to turn a switchlight and ran into the path of Heinen's sedan in which the officer and Mrs. Heinen were proceeding toward Camden. Heinen surrendered himself at once and awaited the action of the coroner.

OPES TO BIND WORLD IN PACTS OF FRIENDSHIP

"Locarno Spirit" Hailed by Chamberlain.

BY JOHN STEELE.

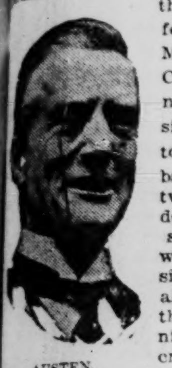
opyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]



AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In his first important address since his return from the Locarno conference, Foreign Minister Austen Chamberlain tonight took occasion at the historic lord mayor's banquet to make two utterances of deepest political significance. One was an expression of the revival of friendship, the other a definite promise to create the same "Locarno 'spirit" between the east and the west.

When he brought up the latter subject Mr. Chamberlain made it clear that he referred not only to the Balkans, but China as well.

At the conclusion of the feast in the mediaeval Guild Hall, Mr. Chamberlain took the ancient loving cup—the age-old symbol of peace and good will—and before the eyes of all the foreign ambassadors and ministers, including those of Germany and Austria, and a hundred celebrities and dignitaries, he proposed the formal toast, "To their excellencies, ambassadors, and ministers."

Met Wants of World.

"If the results of Locarno were received so universally, and with such a measure of approval," Mr Chamberlain said, "it is because what was done there responded to the consciousness of the whole world and because the statesmen who were present at that conference represented the feelings and expressions of their nations.

"I am confident that the decisions reached there will be ratified by all the countries represented in those decisions." This point the British foreign secretary aimed at the present crisis regarding the pacts in Berlin.

"No statesman," he continued, "will dare to take the responsibility of dashing from our lips the cup of hope of Locarno, and no nation dares to take the load which would rest on any nation which denied the world its greatest need, its deepest, most profound hope. It is the spirit of Locarno that the world needs and cherishes. It is not the written treaties of Locarno that will make the changes which we expect will follow."

Hopes for Peking Results.

Turning directly to consideration of troubles in the far east, Mr. Chamberlain continued:

"The same spirit of mutual understanding and good will which prevailed among the powers at Locarno will, I hope, prevail among the powers represented at the conference with representatives of China regarding the Far East treaties. From that conference may spring a new fellowship between the east and the west—a new understanding in which old enmities will be forgotten and old friendships will be remembered.

"I hope and believe that the conference in China may be the means of establishing peace in the east as firmly as I hope we are establishing it in the west."

Traffic in the center of London was held up for three hours this afternoon to allow the lord mayor's procession to pass. The demonstration is given every year as a part of the inauguration ceremony for the lord mayor. This year's lord mayor is Sir William Pryke, who began life as an office boy with the business which he now heads.

SELECT JURY FOR NOEL, KILLER OF CHAUFFEUR, GIRL

Newark, N. J., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Harrison W. Noel, the confessed slayer of 6 year old Mary Daly and Raymond Pierce, a Negro chauffeur, went on trial for the murder of Pierce before Judge Edwin C. Caffrey.

Noel's attorney, William A. Wachenfeld, assigned to the defense by the court when Noel's father, Dix W. Noel, a New York lawyer, declined to provide counsel for his son, sat directly in front of him. At no time during the day did Noel and his counsel appear to confer.

About fifty-five talesmen were examined before the necessary twelve were chosen. The state had one question for each talesman: "Have you any conscientious scruples against capital punishment?"

Noel's attorney asked each one "Whether a legitimate defense of insanity" would cause him to vote for acquittal.

The jury is composed largely of working men and tradesmen. Opening statements were made and the trial adjourned until tomorrow.

NO WARRANTS; DYNAMITE PAIR ARE SET FREE

It may be a crime illegally to possess dynamite, fuses, and caps, but if the police make an illegal seizure of the said explosives—why, nothing may be done about it. William Fox knew that and therefore he was discharged yesterday in Judge Albert B. George's court. Fox and William Clair were joint defendants.

Both have long criminal records and Fox has, in addition, the distinction of having practically pleaded guilty to fraudulent voting and then having been absolved of wrongdoing because the Supreme court held the election null and void. A criminal case or two against him at that time also fell by the wayside for lack of prosecution.

That's the Law.

Judge George said last night there was no lack of prosecution yesterday, nor even lax prosecution. The law is just so arranged as to protect the rights of Messrs. Fox and Clair [who are suspected of being professional bombers] when the police neglect those little niceties such as search warrants, Judge George said.

It was like this: A robbery was committed in the home of Mrs. June Stabnik, 319 Root street, Sept. 22, by two men who forced their way into her home. They obtained about $500 in clothing and valuables.

The police received information that the stolen property might be found in the home of Mrs. Anna Kelan, 520 West Forty-third street. Sergt. Peter Kearney's squad was sent there and, according to her, forced their way in.

Find Stolen Property.

They found the stolen property there and they made such a diligent search they also discovered percussion caps and fuses in the bathroom. That meant the additional charge of unlawfully possessing dynamite, and it cast further suspicion on Fox and Clair because of their affiliation with certain labor leaders.

Judge John Lyle held them in bonds of $50,000 on the charge of receiving stolen property, and they demanded a jury trial on the dynamite charge. Yesterday Attorney James J. McDermott of the firm of Nash & Ahern, appeared for them.

"A motion to suppress the evidence, your honor," Attorney McDermott said, presenting a written petition to that effect. "The police had no right to break into that house without a search warrant."

And that was and is the law.

COUNCIL JOINS FIGHT TO STOP TICKET SCALPING

Mayor Dever was requested to refuse licenses in 1926 to theaters which were known to have sold tickets to brokers for resale at higher prices. A resolution to that effect was adopted by the city council yesterday. The measure was introduced by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] and directed that the committee on judiciary investigate ticket scalping.

Ald. Arvey declared that ticket agencies through their attorneys appearing before the ways and means committee of the house in Washington had admitted that Chicago theaters furnished brokers tickets for resale.

That, Ald. Arvey said, was a violation of the municipal code, which provides for revocation of license and a fine of $50 for each offense.

Do Women Compete with Men? Perhaps

Now and then some man, perhaps some mere man, overwhelmed by fear of competition, takes his typewriter in hand and writes a piece about woman and her avidity for breaking into business or into some profession heretofore given over to men.

There isn't much cause for fear and there may be some for congratulation. Competition is a great sharpener of wits. Will Rogers might say that any lady who could pry him out of his job would be welcome to it. Besides it wouldn't be his job she would get, but another one she would have to create for herself.

Oh, yes, but Will Rogers is Will Rogers; it's a gift. Besides there's a good deal of work that anyone can do.

Perhaps. But it's also possible and practicable to put yourself so thoroughly into any job that if someone else gets it, it will be a different job.

And that's the way with women. They make the places different and, having another and bigger job, you may have noticed that any of them will leave what she has for this other and bigger job.

In the meantime the lady in any case is doing her work well. She likes this bank. Seventy per cent of those trying to get on a sound saving and spending basis are women. Sixty-two per cent of the business done in our savings bank is done with women. And every time one of them does any banking business, some man is probably the better for it.

STIRRING UP THE PHILIPPINES.

Socialist propaganda has reached the Philippines in the form of a letter from Charles Edward Russell, American socialist, to Maximo Kalaw, native leader in the move for independence. And the Filipinos—who shall blame them?—are gobbling at the exciting stuff. Mr. Russell urges them to send emissaries to stump America; he urges them to get a million names signed to a petition demanding complete freedom; he exhorts them to adopt aggressive methods; he says the outlook is bad and their cause lost unless they do something.

Of course, he blames America's retention of control on the profiteers, and the Filipinos believe him and will get busy. They are going after the million names for their petition.

It is just as well to have the excitement start now and to have it take this form, comparatively and so far mild. Every person not too busy to know that the Philippine islands and a Philippine problem actually existed knew that sooner or later there must be real trouble unless this country's policy toward the islands were changed.

The Jones law, passed in August, 1916, giving the Filipinos such independence as they now enjoy, including a legislature of their own, stated very definitely that the United States would some day grant the islands complete liberty, and very indefinitely when this would take place. It is supposed to happen when the Filipinos are considered able to govern themselves.

They think they are ready for self-rule at the present moment. Governor General Wood is sure they are not. Naturally there is discord. When in steps a gentleman recommending the punch and the peppy methods—those are his own expressions—of socialism.

All over the world color is lining itself up against the white domination. It is pan-Islamic, Asiatic, anything you please, with Russia, always the Tartar, always the Mongol at heart, casting in her share with the yellows, the reds, and the blacks. Europe has sensed the trouble in the air. The volcano has already erupted in several places. Cast the hatred of the despised race for its exploiter into the pot with oriental fatalism, and occident sovietism, and stir with Russian gold, and the mixture is as full of explosion as a brew of nitroglycerin.

And now the talk has reached the Philippines. The religious incentive to revolt is lacking, but that of race and color is there. All that is needed is a little communism, the preaching of a little anarchy, and the insignificant garrisons stationed on the islands would stand in danger of annihilation. America would have the choice of a bloody war or of retirement, and neither course would sit well with the national conscience or the national honor.

It has been our own policy to favor immediate independence for the Philippines. Others disagree, of course. All that we ask now is, not agreement with our main thesis, but with us when we recommend that America climb off the fence, on one side or the other; amend the Jones law; strike out entirely the clause about eventual independence for the Philippines, or else put in the date when the promise actually shall be carried out; get in or take in the Philippines, or else get out entirely.

We are very fond of the American soldier. We have always liked the Filipino. We don't want to see them out in the brush stalking each other some day and taking pot shots at each other at three hundred yards.

THANK GOD FOR FIVE YARD McCARTY!

Right at the start we admit prejudice, all sorts of it. Our gorge rises; our back hair prickles; we want to chew tobacco and spit; we want to go home and assert our masculinity by rescuing those torn but so dearly beloved carpet slippers from the waste barrel on the back porch and wearing 'em despite orders to the contrary.

Probably there's no one quite so cordially hated by the average American male as Valentino. We admit sharing the feeling. Call it what you will. We repeat the admission and announce we're proud of it.

"A symphony in green" was Rudy when he passed through Chicago. Thank heavens, our green suit went the way of all wool years ago. And a beaver collar on his overcoat. Great guns, what a man. And his wrist watch worn on a slave bracelet. Here goes our wrist watch out the alley window, and what in the name of all that's masculine is a slave bracelet?

It gives us a horrible sinking feeling at the pit of the stomach to know that within the next few days tailors and clothing stores will be swamped with requests for green suits, that overcoat buyers will demand beaver collars, that jewelers will be besought for slave bracelets—whatever they are—"just like Valentino's" [spoken with a lisp]. Sadly we acknowledge to ourselves that this will happen.

Rudy says he tried to make his wife happy, "but a man with my particular temperament—being very susceptible to any kind of beauty, whether in femininity or art—really hasn't any business with a wife. There always is that feeling of dissatisfaction, that consciousness of the woman in the background."

As they say in vaudeville, "And they shot Lincoln!"

Rudy doesn't like marriage because it cramps his style. He says there is too much fun to be found afield to be tied down by the conventions of monogamy. Rudy is a strayer, is this lover of things beautiful.

Blood will tell. Heredity and early environment do mold the individual. Green suit, beaver collar, slave bracelet, adorning this Don Juan who's too self-important, too bent on gratifying his fancies, to fancy marriage. Rudy's nothing more than a spaghetti gargling gardener's helper, product of modern feminism, and all the wishy-washy feminine gurgling in the world can't change him.

Thank God for Five Yard McCarty!

WELL OUT OF EUROPE.

With the drawing up of the Locarno treaties Europe declared her independence of further American interference in her affairs. The leadership of America in the rehabilitation of Europe is on the ebb.

It is learned on the authority of John Steele, THE TRIBUNE'S London correspondent, that the statesmen who met at Locarno discussed this very phase of the situation. They decided Europe was well able to take care of herself, and as evidence of this attitude they let it be understood among themselves that President Coolidge's plan for a land disarmament conference in Washington was not only premature but was also out of place. They preferred, it was agreed, to settle their disarmament problems in their own way and at their own convenience.

But, being gentlemanly diplomats, imbued with the kindest of motives, they made every effort to keep their opinions out of the official record in order to avoid giving offense to America.

Appreciated, but needless old world courtesy!

America admires people who know when to tell the other fellow to mind his own business—even when the other fellow happens to be America, as in this case.

No offense at all.

It was America's fault. This country should not have put itself in a position where it had to be told to keep hands off.

The successful completion of the Dawes plan, as Mr. Steele's dispatch declares, marked the high point of American influence across the Atlantic. America is proud of what her representatives did in bringing about the settlement, and Europe has not been ungrateful. The Dawes plan straightened out many tangled lines, furnished Germany with a firm foothold on which she could begin her climb back to normal prosperity; in short, made possible the resumption of friendly relations and the pacts of Locarno.

At that time we had a very immediate interest in European affairs. Only through a settlement of the German reparations controversy could America hope for payment from the nations in her debt. Since acceptance of the Dawes plan in August, 1924, the debt question has gradually worked toward a solution. England has come to terms. Italy is about to—at least, it is so to be hoped. France hangs off and sulks, but still has the grace at least to talk settlement. The smaller nations are settling up one by one.

The need for interference has passed. America no longer has a pressing economic interest in Europe. The statesmen who met at Locarno were quite right in saying their business was their own, to conduct as they pleased.

This country ought to be most happy to let them conduct it. If America were in the league now how woeful she would feel. Wars and alarums of war. The Riff, Syria, Mesopotamia, Roumania, the Balkans; Fascism, sovietism, dictatorships.

Europe has gone back to the old alliance game and America desires no place on any team.

"No offense at all, Mr. Chamberlain, M. Briand, Herr Luther, Sig. Mussolini. In fact, we thank you for your pains in pointing out what we ought to know by ourselves, that America is well out of Europe."

THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL AND THE GAME.

The Voice of the People has received a number of letters complaining about the service given by the Illinois Central in running special trains to Champaign for the game last Saturday. Several are printed this morning. The others tell very much the same story.

The writer of this editorial had a very different experience which, he believes, was more nearly typical. He had the good fortune to reserve space in one of the special trains of Pullman cars and for him and all the others who were similarly accommodated, the trip was pleasantly simplified. He knew his train by the color of his ticket. There was a blue train, a pink train, a brown train and so on. His car was waiting for him at Roosevelt road in the morning, and it was warm and waiting for him only a few blocks away when the game was over. He was carried swiftly and safely with a minimum of inconvenience. There were plenty of railroad officials ready to answer his questions, but he had none to ask, so thorough had been the railroad's preparations.

Any one with army experience knows how complicated is the process of entraining and detraining great numbers of men even though soldiers are under orders and disciplined. The Illinois Central had the problem of moving half a division without officers or discipline. It did not entirely succeed in avoiding friction, but on the whole, we believe, the job was creditable. Perhaps our correspondent's suggestion that trains of coaches and Pullman trains be alternated may prove of value to the railroad in years to come.

The Other Side

PEPPER YIELDS A POINT.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Senator Pepper, says that although he would much prefer to have the world court divorced absolutely from the league of nations, that is impossible and it is better to go into the court as is, with Pepper reservations, than not to join it.

This is a reasonable attitude for a politician of Pepper's school. It would be unreasonable to ask the divorce of the court from the league because one nation out of all the world objected. As for Senator Borah's idea of "an independent judicial tribunal," the present court comes about as near that as is humanly possible—unless he means a tribunal functioning only between nations not in the league. Those nations, if our information is right, are Afghanistan, Egypt, Germany which is planning to come in immediately, Mexico, Russia, Turkey, and the United States. If we want an association of these nations, we could probably have it. Some people might object to seeking out Turkey as a particular friend, the government objects to Russia, but there would still be Afghanistan, Egypt, and Mexico.

HEALTH IN CITIES.

ANY mayor or alderman interested in the health of his people should be able to get an estimate of the efficiency of the health department for which he is in part responsible. The United States public health service, the American Public Health association, the Council of Social Agencies, and, now, the American Child Health association, have all reported on groups of cities, or individual cities in separate reports. In addition, the bureau of child welfare, United States department of labor, and various foundations have made reports on local health activities. Between them, there are few cities with less than 40,000 population that have not been reported on.

In addition, the American Medical association was responsible for a report on state health departments, made about ten years ago. If any official wants to know what his own city is doing and how; what it is doing compared with what is being done by other cities, he will be able to find out. That is, he can find out what some outside investigator thinks about the subject. How much value he is to give these outside reports he can decide for himself.

I have just been through a valuable report on eighty-six cities made by the American Child Health association. These cities ranged in size from 40,000 population to 70,000. They were located in thirty-one states, in all sections of the country, and their aggregate population was about five million. The report gives, in some detail, what was found in each city, then aggregates the findings under proper heads and concludes with a detailed recommendation for a health department for a city of 50,000.

Here are some facts, taken from a summarized table:

In the methods of garbage disposal the method employed was: Feeding to hogs, 39; burning or reduction, 29; dumping, 15, and burying, 2. I presume every place that dumps garbage makes at least a gesture towards burying. Let us hope that Kenosha, Wis., and Davenport, Ia., the two cities reported as burying garbage, employ the fine satisfactory methods used in Panama.

The report shows the proportion of the total milk supply that is pasteurized in the several cities. Seven report 100 per cent pasteurization; nine report 95 to 100 per cent; two report 90 to 95 per cent; ten report 80 to 90 per cent; six, 70 to 80 per cent; eleven, 50 to 70 per cent; twenty, 25 to 50 per cent, and seven failed to report.

On whether vaccination was required in the schools, fifty reported "yes"; thirty-three reported "no," and three reported "yes, in times of epidemic smallpox."

Water and sewage are not found reported in this table. When we return to the detailed reports we find the reason. As compared with other activities, water protection and sewage disposal are now on a satisfactory basis.

HE'S AN "ANTI."

B. S. writes: Recently you published something about eccentric people who were always antis. I have often been an anti myself. I was anti-imperialist, anti-free silver, and against the entry of America into the league. I am now anti-opium—British opium—and anti-automobile massacre.

I would naturally rather be an anti than a time serving liar. I believe that you are mistaken and that the antis are usually the intelligent minority, like Mark Twain.

CHILD'S ECZEMA CURED.

Mrs. O. B. B. writes: I want to send you a note of appreciation for what we feel you have done for our little girl. She is now 3 years of age and had head eczema since 3 months old. We tried so many doctors and so many different things, but were not helped permanently until last March we began using cod liver oil as suggested in your column. Now her little face is clear for the first time since a tiny baby. The change has come gradually, but we feel thankful to you that it has come.

TO KILL HEAD LICE.

Mrs. H. P. S. writes: As to head lice in children. I have had a large family, and after much experimenting, I found a coal tar product such as sulphur naphtha to be the surest cure. Wash in a rather strong solution every three days for two weeks. This kells each fresh crop.

No hot vinegar ever affected the nits, as far as I could see.

THEY'RE IN HER HAT.

A reader writes: Some days ago a reader complained of bedbugs in her hair.

Well, the bedbugs are in her hat. If she will go over it, she will find them under trimming in lining; just let her give her hat a once over and a gasoline bath and this will cure the evil.

RETURNING TO CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—What is the citizenship of an American born woman who married a man of foreign birth in 1912? He took out his citizenship papers in 1919, but these were never completed. L. S.

An American woman who married a foreigner before Sept. 22, 1922, assumed the citizenship status of her husband, and if she desires to become a citizen, she must apply for naturalization the same as any other foreigner, but she will not be required to prove more than one year's residence in the United States.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT.
District Director of Naturalization.

MAY NOT BREAK LEASE.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—When we rented our apartment I told the landlord that my husband worked late into the night so that he would not come home until about three o'clock in the morning. Every night when my husband gets in he has to grope through dark halls and up the dark stairway, for the landlord will not have lights going after eleven o'clock. Inasmuch as he knew my husband would be coming home so late, I think he should have told us about the dark halls. Can we break our lease? I am constantly worrying about my husband being held up. A. O. E.

No you cannot break your lease on such grounds. The ordinance requiring lights in halls and stairways of apartment buildings at night was declared unconstitutional by the state Supreme court.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PAY YOUR BILL.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Once in a while I used to let my laundry bill run, but since last summer have kept it paid up all the time. The laundry driver claims I owe for another week's laundry and will not give me this week's wash. The company says I must settle the difficulty with the driver. He will not give up my laundry. What can I do about it? Has he the right to keep my laundry? B. K.

The technical legal course is to sue in replevin, for which it is ordinarily advisable to employ an attorney.

He has no legal right to withhold your laundry.

DONFARRAN.

OH, WELL, last Saturday is last Saturday, or was last Saturday, any way you want to say it. Anyhow, it's ancient history now. The big fact is that our own Cyrena Van Gordon is going to sing tonight in Aida and we're going to go. No sitting by the hearth fire and letting Quin Ryan describe it to us when Cyrena sings. No sirree. Here's where the radio spends a long, lonesome evening all by itself.

Why, of Course.

R. H. L.: Speaking of Harold, tell Saleratus Sal not to forget, "So is Harold man." PUTZIE.

Much Better.

R. H. L.: Listen to me, Percolating Papa. How come you left the word MUD out of the last line Monday when you said there was honor and glory enough to cover both teams? If that didn't cover the Ladies from Hell and the raging Illini, I don't know what did. DREARY DAVE.

Well, We Would Rather Some One Else Would Say.

RHL: Please have some of the great thinkers who contribute to your column give their expert opinions on this: What is the greatest American sport? Crime and football seem to tie, according to the newspapers. Sitting at the movie show the other night, I decided that chewing gum might be the most popular sport—every one in our row was masticating rubber, myself included. However, today at work, I was suddenly enlightened—the great American sport is PASSING THE BUCK. What do you think? COUNTRY JANE.

THERE will be no mail delivery Christmas day, says the postoffice department. We don't mind that. Our Christmas presents always get broken and leak all over the place anyhow. But it reminds us that it is ONLY forty-three days to Christmas. Or is it ONLY thirty-three? Or ONLY twenty-three? Anyhow, there's one thing—it's ONLY something to Christmas.

Tiddledywinks, My Dear, Tiddledywinks!

RHL: It was with a surge of relief that I read the Line's encouragement to the Chicago team after reading all the sweet things the loyal Chicagoans could think of to say to their hirelings on the gridiron. The beautiful courtesy of inviting some one to dinner and then giving them hell defies description. The Gas House Gang is good! I'm an Illinois rooter, but I've developed a very sudden sympathy for a team that has to fight for a school and city as ungrateful and unsportsmanlike as Chicago. I ask you, RHL, is it a game or a bloody war? GENTLE CO-ED.

He Will, Dearie, He Will!

Dick: I met a real estate man (oh gosh, I'm sorry, I mean a realtor) the other day who didn't have "another party looking at the house." Honestogawd! SUE CLAY.

OLD ART EVANS says that down in Florida they never heard of Volstead and that there's rum and scotch and gin and whisky four feet deep from the northern state line down to the Everglades. Ah, so that's why railroad tickets to Florida have to be engaged five months in advance.

COL. BILLY MITCHELL is up and at 'em again with 22,000 words of accusations and he's just started. Well, one consoling fact to the generals and colonels conducting the court martial is that they can automatically retire when they get to be sixty-four years old.

AH, COLONEL—A BOUQUET.

R. H. L.: Don't be ragged about the Colonel's opinion of early Americans. Her occasional contributions are the brightest spots in the Line, and I know a lot of literary critics who could take lessons from her. She has apparently such good sense and judgment that I have often wondered how she could stomach so much of the Line. I say these things in spite of the fact that it was the Colonel who ditched my one attempt at M. T. L. It was when you were off on one of your broadcasting toots. L. M. F.

Richard: Do recall you the incident that was told of Lincoln when some extra dry gentlemen came to him with the scandal that Gen. U. S. Grant was said to be partial to soda pop? As told, did not Lincoln ask them to name the brand so that he could send some, whether it be soda pop, or even sarsaparilla, to his other generals? This certainly would serve to discredit the late George Washington, who, according to a recently discovered letter, ran a successful whisky still. CHATEAU YQUEM.

"WHEN we have finished," said Doc Speer, addressing the Anti-Saloon League of America yesterday, "it will be a dry world." You said it, Doc, you said it! R. H. L.

ONE DARN THING AFTER ANOTHER

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE I. C. AND THE GAME.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The accommodations provided by the Illinois Central railroad for the transportation of the thousands of Chicago fans who traveled to Champaign Saturday were very poor, indeed. Of the twenty-four special trains, more than half were Pullmans and private trains, all of which left both Chicago and Champaign ahead of the coach trains, leaving the station waiting rooms jammed with thousands of coach passengers who were clamoring for service, while women and girls were screaming and fainting as they were being crushed by the mob.

The railroad officials could easily have alternated the coach and Pullman trains so that coach passengers might have avoided the jam and confusion when the gates were opened to admit them to their trains.

I as a coach passenger had to stand up with hundreds of others for the entire trip from Chicago to Champaign. This could easily have been remedied by supplying more coaches and fewer Pullman cars, as the seating capacity of a coach is a good deal greater. In my opinion it is a case of the railroad catering to the wealthy. W. A. I.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—We reached the Illinois Central station at 7:45 a. m. and waited in that station until 9:55 before they would open the gate to allow us in the train sheds. Every one was pushing and I never was in such a crowd in my life. Several were carried out, fainting. We were fortunate to get to the stadium a few minutes after the kickoff and that only after running through the mud and water. The train on the return trip was without any heat. Folks were walking up and back in their dripping clothes trying to keep warm. M. M. MITCHELL.

REPLYING TO MR. BENNETT.

Riverside, Ill., Oct. 28.—We have grown accustomed to articles in THE TRIBUNE advocating compulsory military training, but the final effort of James O'Donnell Bennett in "spiking" the anti-compulsion students at the state university is about as unfair and biased a piece of reporting as has appeared in a newspaper of any standing in many a day.

His implication that there "is something wrong" with the students who are opposed to military drill is nothing short of libel. He seeks to excuse, in a small measure, the objectors who do so on religious grounds. How about the millions of citizens of the United States who oppose such enforced training because they are opposed to the army control of this nation and are against compulsion in times of peace?

THE TRIBUNE poses as a great champion of personal liberty. In the fight against prohibition, religious bigotry, Italian despotism, and nonfreedom of speech it maintains that position. But here is a matter of personal liberty—the right of students or their parents to decide upon whether they want to get their exercise by military drill, athletics, or as they please—and THE TRIBUNE goes to any length against it.

DICK SMITH, EX-A. E. F.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 5.—In today's paper you have an editorial, "The Law Gets Another Laugh."

I would like to ask you who is responsible for these laughs if not you newspaper people? How would I and others know what Jack Durand has been doing if not for your reporters who are always looking for something to fill up the paper with? You are making heroes of every criminal or would-be criminal by giving them the free publicity that they do not deserve. M. H. RUBIN.

ECKIE AS REFEREE.

Quite right. Glad you noticed it. How many do? Mr. Eckersall invariably is to be found "on top of the play." He is incomparably the most efficient and effective football referee of the many I have seen.

He has the rare ability of seeing, judging and managing correctly all the numerous, arduous duties of a most difficult job. He is an honor and an asset to any game in which he officiates.

But Mr. Eckersall also possesses a much more elusive qualification. He keeps the game progressing as fast and smoothly as the game can progress with consistency and fairness.

I often have wondered if the spectators appreciate fully how largely Mr. Eckersall's efficiency has to do with their state of mind—regardless of actual game results—as they leave the stands. Many times we should add to our comment another remark: "And, as usual, Eckersall saw to it that we were protected in our spectator's rights and thereby enjoyed a satisfactory playing spectacle as well as a football game." R. O. W.

KEYING UP THE TEAM.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—I had quite a thrill this morning when I read the "expert advice" given to the Maroon team by the alumni of the University of Chicago. I have often listened to the advice of the coach; I have even been called "yellow," although eleven years ago this fall I made a play that got the headlines and even hit the Line o' Type for a nice gain. But I have never had the pleasure of being so completely bawled out in public.

I have long been an admirer of Stagg because of his wonderful influence for clean college sports, although I differ with him in his attitude to professional football. I most decidedly differ with him now in his methods of allowing the alumni and other "experts" to "cheer" the boys to victory.

The only trouble I find with the fine lads that sat through all that talk is that they are better boys than we old timers were. We could take such talk in the privacy of the dressing room from the coach, but from no one else! I certainly admire the spirit of those boys who took that public bawling out in silence like real men. I thought when I read the item this morning that it might be the application of "new and advanced psychology." Of course, if it is, I can say no more. I finished college a long time before the new discoveries.

A FALLEN STAR.

FOR A POSTOFFICE SPONGE.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Mr. Lueder has undoubtedly taken great strides in improving the service of the Chicago postoffice department, but it seems to me he has overlooked an important sanitary problem. The unhygienic practice of licking stamps has long been a bone of contention in health departments and it is brought to me forcibly whenever I purchase stamps in a branch station. The stamps are invariably laid on the counter, gummed side down, collecting an infinite number of disease germs as they are pushed out to the purchaser. They are also handled by possibly ten different employés of the department before they reach the ultimate user, thus multiplying the possibilities of infection. When the stamps are purchased for immediate application to a parcel post package or letter, the purchaser must necessarily lick the stamps. Would not the small cost of maintaining a moistened sponge in each branch office and substation be offset by the evident and appreciable safety afforded stamp buyers? JAMES E. GROVES.

JURY TO DECIDE IF COLOR LINE BLOTS WEDDING

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The suit of Leonard Kip Rhinelander against Mrs. Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander for annulment of their marriage on the ground that she failed before their wedding to inform him of her alleged Negro blood, opened today before Judge Morchauser and a jury of married men, none of whom has children.

[P. & A. Photo.]

Husband and wife did not glance at each other as the trial opened. Young Rhinelander, scion of an old New York family, appeared in the courtroom only after the jurymen had been selected. Mrs. Rhinelander, daughter of a New Rochelle taxi cab driver, sat between her parents.

Husband Physically Defective.

Summing up the plaintiff's case, former Supreme Court Justice Mills of counsel for Rhinelander, began by saying that in view of the birth records of Mrs. Rhinelander's parentage, "there is no doubt that our allegation that she is of colored blood is true, and I challenge any proof of the contrary."

He asserted that young Rhinelander is suffering and has suffered from a physical infirmity which affects his speech and mind.

"He is practically tongue tied," he said. "And there are times when he can hardly get the words out. His mental devices have been affected with his speech."

Had Lived at Hotel.

Mr. Mills said he would show that prior to their marriage in October, 1924, the two registered as man and wife in a New York hotel on different occasions, living together there at one time for five days and at another for a week.

Mr. Mills read letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Rhinelander before the marriage in which references were made to the times the couple spent together in the New York hotel.

Young Rhinelander did not object to giving up "his high social position" and his friends in marrying Miss Jones, Mr. Mills asserted, but he could not forgive the fact that she was of Negro blood.

LEGION OUT FOR A MILLION MEN BY END OF 1926

A million members before the end of 1926 was the goal set for the American Legion yesterday by John R. McQuigg, newly elected national commander, at a luncheon of the Advertising Men's post of the Legion at the Hotel Sherman.

"Fewer than one-fifth of the American veterans of foreign wars belong to any veterans' organizatoin," Commander McQuigg said. "We intend to secure the necessary 400,000 to complete our million before another year is over."

Capital as well as men must be conscripted in the next war, McQuigg asserted. The Legion, he said, sponsors a bill to take the profit out of war and thereby make the recurrence of war less probable. He reiterated the Legion's attitude favoring adequate national defense.

Vice President Charles G. Dawes introduced the speaker.

AGAIN UNABLE TO AGREE ON DEBT ITALY OWES U. S.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Members of the American and Italian debt commissions put in three hours today in another effort to iron out disputed points which thus far have held off an agreement for funding Italy's war debt.

While they failed to reach a conclusion, the official view later expressed was that no reason appeared why there should not be a satisfactory solution for the problems.

The efforts of the two groups, it was made known, is now a conversation designed to bring about a reconciliation of the two positions. The conference will be resumed late tomorrow.

Protect the Records that Protect YOU!

EVERY 58 seconds, day and night, somebody suffers a disastrous fire. Many of these fires are burning up records that it took years to create.
The fire in the Census Bureau in Washington is just one appalling example. The records destroyed were valued at more than $2,000,000. The Chief Clerk stated that many of them "could not be replaced if we had the entire wealth of the United States at our disposal."
What if the next fire is yours? Maybe it will be. And when the firemen have gone, where will your records be—your accounts, contracts, customers' records, inventories, tax data, private papers, dozens of other valuable documents?
If your records are lost, think of the expense, the time, the trouble to re-create them! Some of them never can be replaced. Meantime, confusion, delays, loss of business, perhaps the loss of your business itself. But if your records are protected and saved, you can move to another office and keep on with "business as usual."
Protect the records that protect you. Send for the free Shaw-Walker booklet, "Years to Create, Minutes to Cremate," which shows you how you can safeguard your vital papers at a cost comparatively trifling. Phone us now before the fire breaks out, or write your name and address on a corner of this ad and mail today.

WAUKESHA, WISCONSIN

CITY ACTS WITH BUSINESS MEN ON TRAFFIC SURVEY

Remedies for traffic congestion will be sought by the Association of Commerce through a $100,000 survey, covering the territory from Highland Park, Ill., on the north to Gary, Ind., on the south, and west as far as Wheaton, Ill.

The city council yesterday pledged coöperation and invited the association to go ahead with its plan. The survey, to consume a year, will have as its object the drafting of uniform traffic regulations for the entire area. Those rules will be submitted then to the necessary authorities and their adoption urged.

Mayor Names Committee.

A committee of five aldermen and four other officials was named by Mayor Dever to represent the city in the making of the survey. The mayor named Alderman Thomas J. Bowler [41st], chairman; E. I. Frankhauser [49th], Guy Guernsey [6th], Thomas F. Byrne [15th], Albert J. Horan [29th], A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works; Francis X. Busch, corporation counsel; Morgan A. Collins, chief of police; John T. Miller, commissioner of gas and electricity.

Immediately following the council's action W. R. Dawes, president of the association, announced that Miller McClintock, director of the Albert Russell Erskine bureau of street traffic research of the University of California, would have charge of the work. With a corps of assistants Mr. McClintock will begin work Jan. 1. Elmer T. Stevens, chairman of the commerce traffic committee, will direct the work of the experts.

Will Study Accidents.

Causes of accidents and congestion will be analyzed not only for the city, but for the surrounding area. The following problems will be studied as a basis for a standard traffic code:

Pedestrians' safety and regulation.
Traffic signal installation and timing.
Speed control.
Parking conditions.
Street obstructions.
Law enforcement.

Serving on the traffic committee of the Association of Commerce are representatives of interests that either operate or control transportation, as well as representatives of merchants, newspapers, manufacturers, automobile makers and dealers of the city, and park police departments, the Chicago plan commission and the National Safety council. The county road commissioner, the sheriff, representatives of the municipal court and the park boards will be asked to join the committee. Their coöperation is regarded as assured.

During the council meeting yesterday Ald. Max Adamowski asked that all automobile traffic be required to stop before crossing street car tracks. That amendment to the code was referred to the transportation committee.

"Seventy-five per cent of the automobile deaths in Chicago occur at street crossings," Ald. Adamowski said.

Her husband's love is worth $200,000, Mrs. Helen Sigler, 6801 East End avenue, estimated yesterday as she filed suit in the Superior court for that amount against her parents-in-law, Schuyler Sigler, president of the Ætna Sand and Gravel company, 11 South La Salle street, and Mrs. Ollie Sigler, 6821 Crandon avenue. She also filed suit for divorce against S. William Sigler, charging drunkenness and cruelty. She declared her husband was won away from her by his parents' influence.

SOCIALISTS BAR VAST INFLATION OF FRENCH MONEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The finance commission of the chamber of deputies labored today with Premier Painleve and Georges Bonnet, the new budget minister, over the fiscal program which the premier is expected to present to the chamber on Thursday, when he will stake his ministry on a vote of confidence.

The question of money inflation was the chief subject under discussion. It is understood that Premier Painleve agreed to accept amendments to his original project, in view of the fact that the strong Socialist party, which controls the fate of the Painleve government, is firmly opposed to increased bank note circulation.

Although desirous of winning the Socialists' support, M. Painleve feels some form of inflation is absolutely necessary to enable the government to meet payments on short term bonds, due Dec. 8. The premier believes the printing of 2,500,000,000 paper francs is the only way to satisfy these pressing obligations. The original Painleve plan asks another increase of 5,000,000,000 francs as an immediate loan for a sinking fund to retire internal debts.

The proposal to print a total of 7,500,000,000 paper francs has aroused criticism from many quarters.

Arrest 2 Chicago Girls in Los Angeles Mail Robbery

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Two girls were arraigned in court today charged with complicity in the recent $500,000 mail robbery here. They pleaded not guilty. They were Genevieve Guerin, alias Genevieve Dirshner, and Dorothy Lee Tesciona. Both were arrested in Chicago.

A PROTEST AGAINST EXTRAVAGANCE

ROLLS-ROYCE

HAVE you been paying for a Rolls-Royce and not riding in it? Many people have—people who buy cars costing from four to eight thousand dollars usually spend more in a few years than the owners of a Rolls-Royce.

Why? Because the average "good" car depreciates in value 40 per cent the first year. Ten years of usage finds it practically valueless—if it has not been junked before! But a Rolls-Royce, after ten years, is worth at least 50 per cent of its first cost—and even then it is good for twenty or more years of service.

No one knows the length of service of a Rolls-Royce because none has ever worn out. Few, even, are ever resold. Ten years ago 346 Rolls-Royce cars were owned in New York City. Some were eight years old. Today 274 are still in the hands of the original owners, and will be for years to come.

Let us demonstrate the perfect riding comfort of a Rolls-Royce in a 100-mile trial trip, arranged at your convenience.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO PASS ON FUTURES ACT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Although submitting a brief in the Supreme court, as law officer representing the government, arguing in support of the constitutionality of the future trading act, Solicitor General Mitchell, in a supplemental statement, expressed his personal conviction that the law was invalid.

The brief and statement were filed in a test case in which H. P. Trusler of Emporia, Kas., a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, has challenged the constitutionality of the law, attacking particularly the section imposing a tax of 2 cents a bushel on all privileges or options.

The constitutionality of the law was upheld in the lower courts. Explaining his action, Mr. Mitchell said the only other course open to him was to have confessed error and asked to have the lower courts reversed.

Philippine House Votes Independence Plebiscite

MANILA, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The house of representatives today unanimously passed the senate bill providing for a plebiscite on the question of Philippine independence. The house amended the bill, striking out the paragraph which would grant independence within six years, making the plebiscite vote simply in favor of or against immediate, absolute and complete independence. It is intimated that Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood will veto the bill.

CHILE STARTS FIREWORKS TO WIN TACNA VOTE

Ex-President in Arica Praises Coolidge.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ARICA, Chile, Nov. 9.—Arturo Alessandri, former president of Chile, opened Chile's campaign to retain the province of Tacna and the port of Arica with a speech in the plaza here this morning. He told THE TRIBUNE the reception excelled anything in his political career.

ARTURO ALESSANDRI.
[Copyright: U. & U.]

A plebescite under the guidance of Gen. John J. Pershing is soon to be held in the Tacna-Arica country to decide whether it shall be returned to Peru or remain a province of Chile. This is in accordance with a decision of President Coolidge, which both countries accepted, and is designed to end a quarrel dating back to 1883 and which often has threatened a South American war.

"I come to Arica as a private citizen," he said. "I have no official position, and Augustin Edwards remains as Chile's representative on the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission. The president has asked me to spend twenty days here, enlightening residents of Tacna and Arica on the advantages of remaining under Chile's flag."

Chilean Flags Bedeck City.

Arica this morning was bedecked with Chilean flags. Almost every building carried the Chilean emblem. From El Morro fortress, a west coast Gibraltar, where, nearly half a century ago, Col. Bolognesa plunged into the ocean on horseback after his last cartridge had been fired and his troops massacred by the Chileans, the Chilean flag waved in the breeze. The modern guns of the fortress command Arica's harbor.

Former President Alessandri arrived at 11:15 o'clock on the Essequibo from Valparaiso. Before he landed the harbor was filled with vessels flying the Chilean flag, and their occupants cheered the statesman.

Pays Tribute to Coolidge.

Señor Alessandri began his address with a tribute to President Coolidge.

"We must render a tribute of gratitude to the American President, who in his award knew how to give justice to Chile," he said. "Chile is ready to give any guaranty excepting such as will affect its national dignity and honor, which no true Chilean will ever permit. The award is on just grounds and sets a precedent which will affect large as well as small countries in the future, including nations which in the past did not want arbitration, believing their national rights would be curtailed.

"It was a judicial solution, not a political one, and it was a great step towards international peace. It is now up to you people of Tacna and Arica to justify this advance and decide for the first time in international history what the true voice of the people is regarding your government. You must disperse the accusation that has been spread for forty years concerning us and which has given us a reputation with the world at large that we did not deserve.

"I come to celebrate with you this coming victory and to assist in this great triumph. I also have a higher object, for the solution of this dispute means that we shall regain our friendship with Peru. This must follow the expression of the wishes of these people in the coming plebiscite."

AUTO TAXES CUT; MISCELLANEOUS LEVIES SLASHED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Substantial reductions in the automobile taxes and repeal of many of the miscellaneous excise levies were tentatively agreed on today by the house ways and means committee in its preparation of a tax reduction bill.

With only $100,000,000 of the prospective $300,000,00 treasury surplus left to apportion in reductions among these taxes, the committee struck a snag in attempting to comply with the numerous appeals for relief, and after an all day discussion put over until tomorrow final decisions.

None of the tentative changes in rates agreed on today was announced by Chairman Green, pending final disposition of all the rates in the group; but a reduction in the levy on automobile passenger cars from 5 to 3 per cent and repeal of the taxes on automobile trucks, tires and accessories were understood to have been approved.

Tentative repeal of the following taxes also was reported: Cameras and lenses, photographic films and plates, jewelry, firearms (except pistols), and shells; art works, yachts and motor boats, and some occupational taxes, such as those applying on cotton and grain exchange brokers.

Reductions in the levies on alcohol and cigars also were favored in the temporary program. The former would be cut in half, from $2.20 a proof gallon to $1.10.

The taxes on admission and dues were not taken up.

WILKERSON TO RULE TODAY ON DRUGGAN PLEA

Terry Druggan today will know whether he is to be given the opportunity legally to visit his playmates, business associates and such, outside the portals of a jail. Judge Wilkerson will rule at 10 o'clock this morning on a petition filed by the beer baron asking that he be released on bail pending the judge's ruling on Dec. 7 on whether he should serve time in connection with the Cook county jail scandal case.

Frankie Lake, Druggan's partner, has been at liberty for several weeks under the same sort of arrangement as that sought by Terry.

Judge Wilkerson also will pass on the legal status of former Warden Wesley H. Westbrook's "cement head" plea.

SENATOR McKINLEY SPEAKS TODAY.

United States Senator William B. McKinley will address the Central Manufacturing District club at a noon luncheon today at 1110 West 35th street. His subject will be "Pending Legislation."

LAKE COUNTY COUNTRYSIDE

—on the rim of Chicago

THIS is addressed to people who cannot be hurried into real estate investment—to discriminating heads of families who are determined that when they do buy in the suburbs they won't over pay and will get the kind of place they want.

It is that kind of property we are offering in two established Chicago surburbs. It is priced low because it has for years been distant from the city—and only now is brought close in terms of time due to the extension of high speed electric transportation.

The property is in Libertyville and the adjoining village of Mundelein—in the heart of that peaceful, alluring, healthful Lake County Countryside region where millionaires have their estates and homes.

Come now and look at our two attractive developments—Libertyville Highlands in Libertyville and Lakewood Heights in Mundelein. We say come now because next Spring will bring eager, interested thousands and selection will narrow and prices advance.

Our whole idea of property selling out here is unusual. We are discouraging the mere speculator and profiteer. We are favoring the investor who is more than likely to build a residence on the home site he buys.

So—without obligation—let us show you what can be had here. The kind of person you are means more to us than how soon you will be ready to buy.

"Safety Policies" given purchasers

Without cost, each purchaser of a Lake County Land Association home site is given a "Safety Policy" as insurance against the hazards of death. These "Safety Policies" are more than the Association's guarantee—they are underwritten by a leading legal reserve insurance company—and means that should you die, before completing payment on your property, your heirs or estate get the property without further payment and receive back in cash all payments other than your initial down payment.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

The Monthly Country Gentleman Has Broken With the Past

IN FARM PAPER publishing, the monthly Country Gentleman represents the same progress that has replaced the buggy with the motor car, the mud road with concrete, the old oaken bucket with running water, the kerosene lantern with electric lights, the washtub with the power washer, the broom with the vacuum cleaner, the cradle and flail with the combine harvester, the deadly silence of country isolation with the radio.

The Country Gentleman recognizes that farm people have progressed too—until their interests and activities are today as wide as those of any other group of American citizens.

The Country Gentleman today devotes more space than ever before to the trade or business of farming.

But it is a bigger and broader farm paper, covering the other interests of the American farm family as helpfully, as broadly, and as authoritatively as it has always treated those problems which bear directly upon the craft of agriculture.

Pioneering, thus, into wider fields, it is a great satisfaction to find that the men and women on the farms are responding with a progressively increasing flood of subscriptions. All over the country, sales are mounting.

Advertisers have indicated clearly their appraisal of the monthly Country Gentleman by making use of more space in the first four monthly issues than was used in the seventeen weekly issues of the corresponding period last year.

Clearly, the monthly Country Gentleman is the modern farm paper—the foremost publication in America for those whose homes, or whose interests, are in the country.

PLEAD TENDER HEARTS TO AVOID HOLT CASE JURY

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—A young woman very pale as to face, very colorful as to dark red frock, slowed up things considerably today in Judge Claire C. Edwards' courtroom

Mrs. Clara Devinger Harcq, 31 and personable, didn't mean to retard the selection of twelve men to try her, Albert, her husband, and Arthur Holt, her youthful stepfather, for the murder, Sept. 20, of her mother, Mrs. Lillie Holt, not a bit of it. In fact, toward the end of the day, when more than sixty veniremen had been excused, for this and that, Mrs. Harcq snuggled down into her mink wrap and yawned.

The difficulty then was in the mere fact that a woman, for the first time in twelve years, was on trial for murder in Lake county.

This gave pause to the men who filed in and out of the jury box, and farmers, merchants, clerks, and all mused over State's Attorney A. V. Smith's qualifying question: "Would you find it just as easy, on the same evidence, to find a woman as a man guilty of murder?" They mused on the question, and a goodly number of them replied, in substance, in the words of C. Ludwig: "Well, you know, we all of us have a tender spot in our hearts."

Mr. Ludwig was excused. So were a number of other men who felt, or said they felt, as Ludwig did. Others had fixed opinions Many had read in the papers the story of how Mrs. Holt was found that Sunday afternoon, in her Fox Lake summer home, lying straight out on the floor of the kitchen, dead, three bullet wounds in or near the abdomen, one in the mouth.

Judge Recalls Another Case.

One man, H. G. Mitchell, was excused promptly. Later Judge Edwards recalled that Mitchell and his wife, leaders of a cult at Zion City, had been tried in that same courtroom 22 years ago for the murder, during a religious frenzy, of an old woman member of the cult whose limbs they had broken in their zeal to cast out devils. And Claire C. Edwards, attorney, had defended them. Mitchell gave up his cult leadership at the time of the trial. He's a printer now.

But just before court adjourned this afternoon four jurymen were accepted by Attorneys James G. Welch of Waukegan and Joseph Keig of Chicago, defense counsel, and by Col. Smith and Assistant State's Attorney Sidney Block.

The pivotal point of the defense, it seems apparent from the questioning today of Attorney Welch, is to be the possibility for Mrs. Holt to fire three shots into the abdominal region and still be able to raise the gun to her mouth and send a bullet into the mouth, severing the spinal column and causing almost instant death.

Will Hear Experts.

Every juryman accepted declared that he was in a position to give fair consideration to such a medical possibility.

The defense proposes to introduce expert testimony on this point. And it is reported that Dr. Frederick Besley, head of the Lake county clinic and former commander of the Northwestern university medical unit during the world war, will testify for the state.

Talk of surprise evidence to be sprung by the state as the result of some investigation, via a dictograph, by a detective agency, was discounted yesterday. The prosecution declared it had thrown out the dictograph.

This contrivance, set up in the room in which the defendants and their attorneys held their conferences, was discovered immediately Attorney Keig came into the room. This happened several weeks ago. The matter was reported to the judge, who ordered the machine torn out.

Insists Clients' Are Innocent.

"They couldn't have got anything if they had listened all night," Attorneq Keig declared last night, "for our clients are absolutely innocent. But we aren't so dumb that we wouldn't detect it at once."

Clara, pleasant to everybody, received many friends during the court intermission. They brought her letters of sympathy from other friends, unable to get to court.

CHANGES IN NEW POSTAL RATES REQUIRE DELAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Recommendations to congress on permanent postal rate legislation to replace the existing temporary statute will be deferred at least until next Feburary by the joint congressional postal commission.

The commission was instructed at the last session to report early next month, but since the postoffice department reported today that it could furnish no accurate estimates on the operation of the temporary rates after the close of the present quarter, the members decided that their recommendations would have to await that information.

Postmaster General New told the commission that, from the best information obtainable from fifty of the largest postoffices, the department's guess would be that the temporary rates would increase annual revenues about $32,000,000. This represents slightly less than half of the amount by which congress has increased the postal pay roll.

Only one recommendation for a change in the temporary rates was submitted, Mr. New proposing a return to the former rate of one cent for each two uonces on transient second class mail matter—newspapers and periodicals remailed by individuals—regardless of the distance.

CITIZENS' BODY LAUDS RECORD OF DEVER RULE

Mayor Dever yesterday received one of the warmest boosts ever given his administration for efficiency and honesty.

It came in the fifty-first annual report of the Citizens' association and was signed by Augustus S. Peabody, president, and Shelby M. Singleton, secretary.

Lists Numerous Achievements.

This part of the report reads as follows:

"During the year the mayor, aided by most of his department heads, has strengthened his administration in the estimation of the public by inducing the city council, as he did in 1924, to keep its total appropriations within the limits of its estimated revenue for the year; by compelling his bureau chiefs to keep expenditures within their appropriations; by the competent and faithful handling of the city's law business; by relieving the fire department from the grip of politics; by giving the city better police protection; by carrying forward great public improvements, such as the widening and double-decking of South Water street; by championing other great and necessary projects, such as the opening of main arteries from the loop to the south side and the straightening of the river; and by such characteristic acts as the mayor performed last August in preventing the city council by a threatened veto from making a large appropriation to pay the expenses of a proposed aldermanic junketing trip to European cities."

Peabody Re-elected President.

Secretary Singleton also announced the reëlection of Mr. Peabody as president of the organization and of George E. Cole as honorary president. Leslie F. Gates was elected first vice president, Lewis C. Walker second vice president, and Moses E. Greenebaum, treasurer.

Making a Great Product GREATER!

COSMOPOLITAN has for years been the magazine through which great fiction writers of our time have given the world the first glimpses of their work. For years, too, Cosmopolitan has been the magazine that has developed and given to the public the art of the world's great illustrators.

Persistency in such a policy generously carried out as to volume and quality made Cosmopolitan one of the great magazine institutions of the American home. So much so, that, even at 35c a copy, more people bought it monthly than purchased any other publication of its kind. And its circulation went to well over a million copies, an unheard of thing at such a price.

A few short months ago, a new and higher standard was set. With Cosmopolitan was combined Hearst's International and into one single magazine came, as though on one great stage, a grouping of authors, writers, and artists such as never before had been assembled.

The results have been not only gratifying but startling. Also they are important to every manufacturer interested in a policy of constant betterment of an already fine product. Actually hundreds of thousands of new purchasers have been added to the number that not long ago was considered an astonishing attainment.

A magazine is an institution. A great magazine is a great institution. A magazine like Cosmopolitan, sought out each month by the American people at a price clearly proving its position, and staying for thirty days as a part of their every-day life, is a unique institution as well as a great one.

Today on the counter of the little general store in the frontier towns of Alaska—in the hotels at Palm Beach and "on the corner" in every city in this country, December Cosmopolitan is being purchased by people who wish to stimulate their lives and their living by reading the work of the really great writers of the hour.

Cosmopolitan has today announced an increase in its advertising rates.

CHICAGO BANK GROWTH 276% IN LAST 24 YEARS

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The story of Chicago's outlying banks, which may "tax the credulity of almost any one" is supplied by the Association of Commerce inventory commemorating its twenty-first birthday. This tale reads like some tales from Florida, but 28 of the best known bankers in the city put their stamp, accepted as to accuracy, upon the face of the recital.

About the time the Association of Commerce was organized 21 years ago Chicago had 30 banks all told, a dozen national and a dozen and a half state. Today the city has 200 banks. Among them are the second and third in size in the United States. Of the 50 chief banks in the country six are located in Chicago.

Growth of Banks 276 Per Cent.

While the population of Chicago has increased 76 per cent in the last 24 years, the banking resources of the city have jumped 276 per cent. So much for the banks of the city as a whole; now to the outlying banks.

Of the "exactly 200 banks in Chicago 27 are located in what is termed the loop and the other 173 are in the so-called outlying districts," the report of the Association of Commerce says. New York, with double the population of Chicago, has only half as many individual banks, branch banks being permitted in that city.

"These 173 outlying banks," the Chicago association's inventory reads, "have total deposits of $615,000,000, an average of more than $3,500,000 per bank. They are owned by 22,000 individuals, 95 per cent of whom are estimated to be Chicago citizens—a splendid example of customer ownership.

Resources Nearly $700,000,000.

"They have total resources of nearly $700,000,000 and a capital account of approximately $75,000,000. They pay out each year in salaries more than $12,000,000 and give employment to 6,000 persons. During 1923 they paid to their savings customers as interest nearly $7,500,000. This figure, added to the amount they paid as interest on commercial accounts during last year, gives a total equal to all deposits in outlying banks 30 years ago.

"They have slightly more than 55 per cent of the savings deposits of the people of Chicago. Two years ago they had less than 48 per cent. Nearly 2,000,000 of Chicago's 3,000,000 citizens have accounts with them. Their stock has a market value in excess of $110,000,000.

"They are housed in buildings having a resale value, together with the land on which they are located, of more than $55,000,000. They are not 'additional offices' set up in store buildings; the average outlying bank has a home valued in excess of $340,000."

JAILS PERJURER TRYING TO SHIRK SUPPORTING BABY

A husband who committed perjury on the witness stand in an attempt to divorce his girl wife in order that he might avoid paying for the support of a year old baby was sentenced to serve six months in jail yesterday by Superior Judge Harry Lewis.

The judge and his clerk, Clarence Ranseen, laid a trap for George Muntean, 30 years old, 5825 Ravenswood avenue, after they had received a warning from the wife, Mrs. Julia Muntean, 17 years old, who is living in Youngstown, O.

Mrs. Muntean wrote that she was penniless and unable to leave her sick baby. She asked the judge not to allow her husband to divorce her so that he could avoid paying for their child's support. Muntean had made a similar attempt to obtain a divorce in Detroit, she declared.

Acting under Judge Lewis' orders, Clerk Ranseen investigated and obtained records from Detroit which told the following story:

Muntean married the high school girl, then only 15 years old, in Detroit, in May, 1923. They lived together only three weeks.

Then they separated and Muntean filed suit for divorce, charging cruelty. Mrs. Muntean fought the suit and obtained temporary alimony. Muntean thereupon dropped the suit and came to Chicago.

Muntean filed another suit for divorce here, charging desertion. The suit came up for hearing yesterday and Judge Lewis allowed Muntean to go ahead with his testimony.

"My wife left me three weeks after the wedding," Muntean said. "I begged her often to come back to me, but she refused."

"Any children?" queried the judge.

"None," said Muntean.

"Did you ever file suit for divorce before?" the judge asked.

Muntean said he had not. He was confronted with the records, but insisted there must have been a mistake.

"A man must be pretty low to do what you have done," said the judge. "You have shown yourself unworthy of the name of husband or father. Six months in jail is a light punishment for you."

There will be another hearing Friday to determine what shall be done for the support of the wife and her child.

Watts was struck in the arm and the bullet lodged in his back. He told the police that he and another man were drinking in the Barnes home and that the woman seized a revolver and fired while he and a man whom he had never seen before were quarreling. Mrs. Barnes, according to Watts, was intoxicated.

SYNOPSIS.

A band of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when she supposedly had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Mimi Winchell, one of the crooks, posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter," Doris. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the band can lay claim to. She is in reality an orphan whom Mimi had befriended. One of the crooks, Beauty Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian angers Mimi by announcing he would like to marry Doris. She tells him she knows his wife is alive, and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her but agrees to pay. Mimi returns to London immediately, and discovers that Sir Adrian has tricked her. Sir Adrian, disturbed by Mimi's story, decides to make an investigation. His wfe's former maid, Anna Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. Sir Adrian, in attempting to find her, calls on her sister, Madam Georgette, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information.

IS ANNA ALIVE?

Madam Georgette smiled, but there was a worried look in her eyes.

"What a one you are, Matt! Sir Adrian didn't come here for that, as a matter of fact, and you know very well that we've wiped that miserable seven pounds off the books. It was about Anna. He wants to make her a present, I imagine, and he hasn't got her address."

"Neither have you," said Mr. Given.

"No, but I expect we shall hear from her soon. How are the new mannikins shaping up?"

"You'd better come down and see for yourself, Georgie," Mr. Given replied. "The Winchell girl is all right. Seems to have found the idea without any trouble. But little Taylor is taking a lot of teaching. Her appearance is stunning, but she can't walk. She clumps."

"Then she'll never learn . . . I'll come, Matt. What appointments have we?"

Mr. Given whipped out a gray velour notebook and, rustling the pages, rattled off a couple of dozen big sounding names. The last on the list was the Honorable Mrs. Walter Holden.

"Mrs. Holden?" queried Madam Georgette. "I don't think we know her?"

"No," said Mr. Given, "we don't. I'll put a little cross opposite her name. If she asks for credit, then we'll ask for references."

They went down together to the curtained, softly lighted room on the first floor where a display of autumn models was to be held that morning. A rather incongruous couple—stately, somewhat old fashioned Madam Georgette and her smartly dapper little husband.

By this time a stream of cars flowed steadily up to the curb, blocked at intervals as one of their number halted and deposited its burden of feminity.

"I adore that gown," Mrs. Holden went on. "I think I'll have it."

The commissionaire was kept busy. When Georgette's cards of invitation announced her show would begin, say at 11:30, to be half an hour late meant to lose exactly half of it, so the guests were prompt. Some arrived on foot, and amongst these was the lady who had written for a card in the name of the Hon. Mrs. Walter Holden.

In the big show room—atelier as they called it—a rustling expectant throng of women congregated, with here and there a forlorn or embarrassed male being in tow; they greeted their friends, stared at the girls parading so effectively in the latest creations of Goergette, criticized, or sat silently, speculatively entranced.

Money breathed here in soft fabrics, the sheen of pearls and mysterious flower scents. Mr. Given, himself, helped to hand around cups of chocolate with whipped cream frothing the top, and little plates of fairy like cakes and sandwiches. Madam smiled upon all, nodded, exchanged comments and criticisms. There was a homely atmosphere about her which gave the salon just that fillip of contrast which made it so attractive. Georgette created wonderful dresses for other women to wear. She did not belittle the importance of those frocks by wearing them herself. Your successful painter cannot afford to keep his own masterpieces, and Georgette would not insult her customers by appearing in garbled editions of their own expensive purchases.

There was still that worried line between her brows as she threw what seemed to be careless glances at the young women who, circling languidly, displayed the creations of her work rooms.

It was true, the Taylor girl walked badly, and Matt had used the right word when he said she "clumped." Heavy footed, although divinely featured and formed. It wouldn't do. They'd have to find some work for her outside the showroom. In these hard times, Madam disliked turning off employés, however recently acquired. She knew from experience what that might mean to a pretty girl.

But that Miss Winchell . . . the worried line deepened. Miss Winchell was a find. The girl was perfect and at the same time Madam, who had only noticed her casually once or twice before, experienced a closely familiar feeling as she studied Doris on this occasion. It was a soft, charming face, with something of her own contained expression. Madam stole a sidewise glance at her husband, so busy handing cakes and making himself agreeable . . . She was too pale, that Miss Winchell.

Madam spoke to the dresser about it.

"For the Watteau blue frock, a little touch of Blush Rose on the Winchell girl's cheeks," she said. "Not too much—just a touch, a caress, as it were."

Slipping back into the showroom,, a timid hand brushed Georgette's arm, and there was a little lady who proved to be the possible new customer, the Honorable Mrs. Walter Holden, who introduced herself prettily as a great friend of the late Lady Shale.

"I believe," said the Honorable Mrs. Walter Holden, "that I once met your sister. A most estimable woman, a Miss Ferguson, She was Lady Shale's maid, wasn't she? Not an ordinary maid, of course——"

"O, quite an ordinary maid," Geoergette replied. And although she smiled her most agreeable and friendly smile, the line between her brows persisted. She was thinking again of Anna and of Sir Adrian Shale—what he might know about this long silence of Anna's, yet hadn't told her. He knew something—yet what could it be? Then again her glance fell upon the girl who was parading in the Watteau blue frock.

A triumph, that creation!

But Louis, the experienced old dresser, hadn't yet got Miss Winchell's complexion quite right. Under the dash of Blush Rose the girl was paler than ever. One didn't know how they lived, these poor beautiful young things. Perhaps the Winchell girl didn't get enough to eat at home, and it was so hard—so despeerately hard—when they were pretty and temptation ever waited on the doorstep.

It seemed to Georgette that the Winchell girl's eyes held a look of fright, too. What for? Perhaps the child was really ill and fighting against collapse.

"She's wonderfully beautiful, isn't she?" said the Honorable Mrs. Walter Holden, raising a gold rimmed lorgnette.

Georgette had often heard her gowns criticized, but never had she heard one of her mannikins admired so extravantly. She was conscious of a pleased little thrill. She liked this Mrs. Holden. Here was a woman—pretty herself—who could be generous about a young creature of her own sex. It was somewhat unique in Georgette's experience.

"I adore that gown," Mrs. Holden went on. "I think I'll have it . . . Yes, as I was saying, I spent last winter on the Riviera. I was in Alassio shortly after dear Lady Shale's death. It was a pilgrimage, as one might say. I wanted to lay some flowers on her grave. Such a lovely woman, Lady Shale. But, of course, you knew her."

"Did you see my sister—when you went to Alassio?" Georgette asked, her voice a little sharp.

"No—O, no!" Mrs. Holden's head dropped slightly. "One would have thought Miss Ferguson would have remained until after the funeral, but it seems she didn't. Sir Adrian, himself, drove her to San Remo and saw her off to England. I hope your sister is quite well, Madam?"

"As far as I know she is—quite well," said Georgette.

She moved away, with a halting, somewhat fumbling step.

Strange that Anna should come up so importantly all of a sudden. Anna had been almost like a mother to Georgette—or, to give her her girlhood's name, Georgina Ferguson—but the business of earning a livelihood had drifted them apart. It occurred to Georgette that Anna must have a neat little pile of savings and securities laid away somewhere. If Anna were alive— already her sister was querying it—she would have been in communication with her bank at some time during these last nine months, either to withdraw money or, what was far more probable, to deposit a goodly proportion of her wages.

Human, Funny, Interesting Is Gloria in This

And Such Gorgeousness You Never Saw.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Into the lap of the dreams of a poor working girl the producers have poured several scenes of such prodigal gorgeousness at the beginning of this picture as to make you rather wobbly and goggle eyed. You don't know, you see, at the moment, that they're only dream stuff.

Having dazzled you to the limit, they fade away—and the splendiferous undulating, siren actress Gloria you have been beholding changes before your eyes into a hard worked and bedraggled waitress who, during a brief flight of imagination, has been beholding herself as you have been seeing her on the screen.

"Right about face!" and "Presto, change!" seem to be the Swanson slogans these days.

In "Stage Struck" you have a Gloria as different as different can be from the one who thrilled you in "The Coast of Folly," but a Gloria who appeals to you every bit as much.

Her romance with the nifty exhibit who flops pancakes in Wagner's restaurant is something worth going a long way to see. The pancake flopper likes actresses, and the little waitress takes to the stage on a river show boat —just for one night—to discover that her Orme would "never MARRY an actress . . . !!!"

A complete understanding between them is reached under circumstances most unusual—circumstances that you will get a lot of fun out of when you see the picture. And right there is where the picture might vurr' well end, I thought. The finis given you seems a little tacked on and anticlimax.

"Stage Struck" is human and funny and interesting as the dickens. It's beautifully produced and splendidly acted.

How You'll Hate Pauline, but She Can Act

Compromise—that's what we have to do with life, you know. Take the bad with the good. And that's what the beautiful lady of this story wouldn't do, until many things, including a cyclone, taught her the futility of kicking against the pricks and brought her to a sweet state of charity and forgiveness.

In "Compromise" two half-sisters battle over the husband of one of them.

Young Mrs. Thayer, an idealist, believes that to have life beautiful one has only to MAKE it beautiful and scorns the idea that any unlovely influence can poison her existence. She is full of faith in the world at large and her husband especially, and announces that nobody—not even Nathalie—can take him from her.

Nathalie is the other sister, who from a selfish and spoiled youngster has grown into a selfish, spoiled, heartless, and, yes—vicious—woman.

She takes Joan's confession of faith as a challenge and from then on uses a shrewd and ruthless brain and a beautiful body to tempt the man Joan loves into paths his feet should never, never tread.

She is a perfectly terrible young woman as impersonated by Pauline Garon, who's getting heavy about the chin and wants to take notice of the fact. You're so mad at Nathalie by the time the cyclone hits her that you're having a hard time to sit still and let the big wind do its dirty work alone. And when, just before the storm descends on the taunting blonde, Joan lashes out, it's all you can do, I give you my word, to keep from bursting out with three hearty cheers.

The story is interesting in the main, though decidedly far fetched in a number of instances. But there can be no disputing the fact that it is exceedingly well acted throughout and that the storm at the finish is a bear.

Miss Rich and Clive Brook make a great team of marrieds—and, hate her or love her, Pauline Garon CAN act!

See you tomorrow!

McAndrew Urges School Changes to Fight Crime

Sweeping changes in the curriculum of public schools with more emphasis on training for citizenship must be effected if education is to win its race against vice, crime, and corruption in government. This, in short, is the belief of Supt. William McAndrew as set forth in the latest number of his magazine, the Educational Review, issued yesterday. Asserting that democracy is threatened by crime and disregard for law, the superintendant declares in his article that "in the bulk of the courses of study in the American public schools there is nothing whatever to prevent the country from going further into corruption than it has come."

Five hundred Red Cross workers, many of whom saw service overseas during the war, attended a Red Cross tea at the Casino club yesterday, given by Mrs. George A. McKinlock and Miss Muriel McCormick, preliminary to the ninth annual Red Cross roll call, which will open tomorrow and continue to Thanksgiving.

Mrs. McKinlock, who is chairman of the roll call, and who served as commandant of the Chicago chapter canteen service in Grant park during war time, urged the guests to reënlist in the organization.

Chicago chapter should have 400,000 members, Thomas Temple, executive secretary of the chapter, said. Last year only 60,000 were enrolled.

Walter S. Brewster Becomes President of United Charities

Charles W. Folds, president of the board of directors of the United Charities since 1913, and David R. Forgan, treasurer since 1912, declined further terms in the offices yesterday at the annual meeting of the organization, and were succeeded by Walter S. Brewster as president and Howard W. Fenton as treasurer. Both the retiring officers will remain members of the board.

During the administration of these officers the annual budget of the United Charities has grown from $265,187 in 1912 to $623,232 in the fiscal year just ended. In the same period the endowments have grown from $357,309 to $1,016,217, and the list of contributors has been tripled. The new president, Mr. Brewster, has been a member of the board of directors since 1901.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Harold H. Swift, Sewell L. Avery, and Charles F. Glore were elected vice presidents, and Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick secretary. Noble B. Judah, William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Chadwick, Angus Roy Shannon, Harold T. White, and Dean John H. Wigmore were elected directors.

The family welfare department of the organization served 12,022 families and 54,099 individuals during the year, according to a report by Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent. The legal aid bureau handled 16,700 cases. Summer outings were furnished to 4,345 mothers and children directly by the United Charities, and 5,275 by agencies in coöperation with the organization.

In spite of increase in population and the periods of unemployment in 1922 and 1924, the decrease in registered destitution, as reflected in the 12,022 families assisted, may be regarded as permanent, Mr. Hunter said, as previous to 1918 the number amounted to about 15,000 annually, rising to a peak in 1915 of 22,000 and dropping in 1920 to 8,027.

Better laws, better enforcement, and the higher standards of family life are credited by Mr. Hunter with reduction of three of the four principal causes of family distress—sickness, intemperance, widowhood, and desertion. Illness, the one constant factor, is responding to preventive medicine and is beginning to dwindle.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question E. C. Covert, 1434 Cuyler avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

How do you start the day, cheerful or grouchy?

Where Asked.

Clark street at Randolph.

The Answers.

Edward Paul, 4043 North Francisco avenue, salesman.—Quite cheerful. My disposition is just as good before breakfast as it is after dinner. It doesn't pay to be grouchy. Grouchiness digs downward furrows on the face. The lines that run upward are the ones that win friends.

Mrs. Harry Gradous, 5621 North Kedvale avenue, housewife.—Cheerful, if the house isn't too cold or something. I'm usually too busy to give that a thought. First, it's the baby; then breakfast; then clearing the dishes, but that's only the start.

Tony De Cola, 507 South 9th street, Maywood, messenger. Nope, I'm never sore at anybody. I'm always in a hurry for breakfast, though—a cup of coffee and buns, five buns. Then the 6:30 train for downtown. I don't like grouchy fellows. They kinda make you feel the same way.

Mrs. T. J. Van Dorn, 5922 North Campbell avenue, housewife.—The baby gets me out in the morning, and you can't be grouchy with a baby around. We have two children, one four, the other two, and they begin their noise early in the morning. Breakfast, then a stroll, and we're all set.

F. L. Garrity, Rice hotel, actor.—Cheerful, mostly. But we all have the Jakes once in a while. Every human being has days where everything goes wrong from start to finish. You can't help it and you can't account for it. Then again everything breaks exactly right, just as though it were made to order.

Martha, Too, Is Grand Old Name, at Least When Sung by Mason

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Martha" may have been written many years ago, but in this case years have nothing to do with age. In reality it is considerably younger than a good many other operas that are still under voting age. It is a fine piece, and will remain so for several decades to come, so long as they continue to present it as they did at the Auditorium last night.

Of course, being the work of the German composer, Friedrich von Flotow, and dealing with a story so English that even the signs in the market place were printed in that language, also because two principals in the cast are Americans and another is capable of singing good English, all the best operatic traditions demanded emphatically that it must be sung in Italian. Wherefore, though it may have little to do with the case, there is still an echo of Lord Chesterfield's remark about the necessity of checking one's brains with one's coat when one goes to opera.

Just the same I should be glad to hear "Martha" sung in Hungarian if it could be done the way it was presented last night. The cast calls for nothing but superlatives. There was Edith Mason in the name part, and you can wander the world over and not find her equal as a lyric soprano. There was Irene Pavloska, who is the world's best in her own type of art. There was Tito Schipa, he of the angelic lyric tenor voice, making his first appearance of the season, and winning hearts right and left as he always does; in other words, another w.g. There was Virgilio Lazzari, who occupies the same position among bassos that Schipa does among tenors. And there was Vittorio Trevisan, a buffo beyond compare, holding down a full fifth part in a great quintet, not only because he was invariably funny but because he made a definite characterization.

The only things that went wrong in the performance were the crisscross singing of some of the minor principals in the market place scene, and the fact that the huntresses in the forest scene stirred up a cloud of dust that almost obscured the stage. Perhaps the presence of the dust was an attempt at realism, but this was not the work for that attempt.

Conductor Roberto Moranzoni carried along the performance at a lively pace, with plenty of spirit that never interfered with the opera's mellow glow.

"Aida" tonight, with Raisa, Van Gordon, Marshall, Formichi, Kipnis, and Lazzari. Polacco will conduct.

Fraser Grange, baritone, sang at the Studebaker yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the first artist's recital of the Musicians' Club of Women. In manner of singing, choice of songs, and artistic sympathies he would seem to belong to the German wing of melody makers, and he is an attractive member of his category. His Bach singing was of a high order, and by no means the less because he had the aid of first class violin obbligatos by Amy Neill; his Strauss was as though he had been coached by Strauss himself; his Schumann and Schubert quite as fine. He sang other songs in French and English, but his German singing alone was enough to make him distinctive.

And, Whether or No, It's One Dude of a Show.

"THE DOVE":

Melodrama, in three acts, based by Willard Mack on a tale by Gerald Beaumont: made known in Chicago (by David Belasco) November 9, 1925, in the Blackstone Theater, with this cast:

|---|---|
| Dolores Romero | Judith Anderson |
| Don José Tostado | Holbrook Blinn |
| Johnny Powell | William Harrigan |
| Little Bill | William Norris |
| Mike Morowitch | Alfred Webster |
| Pancho Gonzales | William Lemuels |
| John Boise | Wilson Reynolds |
| Mabelle Boise | Grace Culbert |
| Juanita | Yvonne D'Or |

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

Don José Maria Lopez y Tostado (to give to him all that's his in the way of a name) has oil-wells gushing seven thousand barrels a day; and he is, he says, the best damn caballero in all Mexico. Don José is, as Mike Morowitch tell its, a big sap; and Mike bids the girls who work for him in the Purple Pigeon to get their share of the dinero, and not to forget their boss when it is time to cut up the loot. Don José is, in Johnny Powell's analysis, a big Turk, but as strong as horse-radish in this town—this town being Mexicana, six miles into Mexico from the American border.

It's lights up and a roll of red carpet for Don José when he enters the Purple Pigeon: he is the best of the butter-and-egg men; so, all rules are off as he buys out the stock of the cigaret-girl and dumps her basket on the champagne-laden table round which sit the red-ribbon dolls who pay tribute to Mike. Don José says that a good girl is no good until she becomes bad. And, when Don José meets Dolores and tries to make a bum of her, you know him for what he is—a dirty guy, and a mean one, as gaudy as a gunman beer-runner, and as cheap at heart as any pet prisoner in the Cook County Jail.

Although Dolores sings in Mike's cabaret, and although she knows she is a decoy for the gringos with money, she is a blue-ribbon girl, and has no wish to be a bum. After a ten-minutes talk with Johnny Powell, in their first meeting, she tells the world that they are to be married, although he hasn't even told her that he loves her. He does; and he is all for marrying and going into a business other than the only one he knows: he runs the craps-table in Brayfield's, across the street from the Purple Pigeon. . . . But there is Don José, who doesn't believe that Dolores knows what she's talking about when she says she loves Johnny Powell; and there's Mike, who, having had himself made legal guardian of Dolores, is keen to sell her to Don José. And they frame Johnny at his work-bench by sending Pancho in to shoot loaded dice and then to shoot Johnny when he protests.

Johnny, in the best bit of quick gunplay in all drama, shoots first and kills Pancho, and is taken to jail; and he is to be shot in a stage-managed escape when Dolores steps in and bargains with Don José: if he will fix it for Johnny to get across the border, she will go off with him to his hacienda and become a bum. . . . He fixes it; and she doesn't.

If the foregoing hasn't been footlighted into the best of all Mr. Belasco's shows, then I'm dim on what was better in the best of its predecessors—in kind, I mean: always in kind. For here is the sort of thing he knows how to do and does better than any other stage-director in all the world. I don't know what Mr. Beaumont's tale may have been; and I know that Mr. Mack turned over to Mr. Belasco something that looked as if it were from Woolworth's, and that Mr. Belasco delivers it in a Spaulding box. . . . It is a grand old hoakum-show; and there is something the matter with anybody of any age who doesn't have to fight with himself to keep from climbing to the stage and getting into the fight on the side of Dolores and Johnny Powell. Brayfield's gaming-joint is just the place to be when the shooting starts!

And it is acted con amore, not to say with bells ringing from every pore. Miss Anderson is just right, and Mr. Blinn is immense, and Mr. Harrigan is a love of a square gambler, and Mr. Norris is bully as a lame roulette-dealer who used to be a jockey and still places a bet a day on the horses. When the play is on in Brayfield's, you're back in the theater of thrills and tingle and high excitement; and it is all a very dude of a show.

Furnish the Home and You'll Ruin Him Right at the Start

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"A Faithful But Unhappy Bride" of 20 is married to a selfish man, by her own confession. She has given him the cutest little home—four cozy rooms furnished as prettily as she could afford, out of her savings of five years' work, because he did not have a cent to his name.

"I thought he would appreciate me all the more because he never knew what it was to have a nice home. I've been working right along, keeping the flat spic and span, cooking when I get home at night, washing, doing everything a housewife has to do, and what do I get for it? Nothing. Nothing but criticism, fault finding, not a word of appreciation!"

There's a wise young wife in another part of the country who started out marriage assuming more than her fifty per cent of the share of the business. Two youngsters came along in the space of four years, so a small bungalow was bargained for and first payments made. The husband turned over so much money each week out of his salary, keeping a comfortable amount out for his personal needs. All of which seemed fair enough until the husband suggested to the wife one day that they buy a car, as it would be easier for him to get around in during his business day. The wife had all she could do to make the grade on current expenses, without a car. Her thoughtless mate suggested that with a little better management it could be done.

"All right," she agreed. "From now on there'll be better management. You'll take over the expenses of the house buying. You'll give me enough to run the housekeeping end, including the children's needs and my personal ones."

It was agreed, not without much protest from the husband, that he did not have time to bother with such details. The wife was firm in her stand.

"In future," she said, "if he wants a car or any other extravagance, he'll know how he can get it. He'll get out and earn the extra money."

And so it worked out. The young husband saw his salary would no more than cover the immediate needs. He got busier, got his car eventually, and now in that household there is no more wrangling about how far money should go.

Which is but another instance in proof of my conviction that if you want a man to appreciate you, better let him share the financial responsibilities of the home. Don't let him shift the entire thing over on to you. It is his home and he has just as much right to share the job of close figuring as the woman has.

I've never seen it fail yet where a woman attempts more than her share, she does something to the man that is not for his own good. The right way is to begin married life making him feel that he is more than a guest who may pay what he pleases and when he pleases. No man, I'd even go far enough to say, ever appreciated a woman for her sacrifices when her sacrifices meant relieving him of his rightful responsibility. Furnish an apartment for him, and you ruin him right at the start. If he has any decency in him, the knowledge of his incompetency alone makes him resentful and disagreeable.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Four Egg Sponge Cake.

An entertaining booklet might be written concerning the technique of making and baking a sponge cake, or different and many sponge cakes and their ancestors, as it were. There is ample material for such a booklet, especially if all the different practices that have prevailed should be described. Perhaps the surest fire recipe worked out for this column—and considerable work has been done by its author in making sponge cakes during the last dozen years—has the following formula and technique:

Four eggs, four tablespoons cold water or other chilled liquid, one cup sifted sugar, one cup of flour sifted several times, with one level teaspoon of baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Separate eggs. Put yolks all in one bowl. Put two whites in one bowl and two in another. Beat two of the egg whites till dry and add to them one-fourth of the cup of sifted sugar, beating it in with the egg beater. Beat the yolks with the four tablespoons of cold liquid until stifflike and bulky, and add the rest of the sugar, which is three-fourths of a cup. Fold the flour into them, and add the sugared egg whites and vanilla. Finally beat the other two egg whites, add the sugared egg whites and vanilla. minutes in an oiled pan in a medium oven or one at 350 degrees. Invert pan so that it will rest on the tube on a grill and do not remove cake until it is cold. Only cakes which are baked in papered pans can be safely removed while hot.

The advantages of this method are, first, combining sugar and egg whites gives a firm icing like mixture. The little cells have been filled with the sugar and cannot be broken down. Second, egg yolks beaten with a cold liquid swell up to a wonderful volume, and may have almost the consistency of beaten egg whites, instead of being creamy as when alone. Folding in egg white at the last gives a wonderful light crust.

Mrs. Robinson Guest of Mrs. Arthur Ryerson During Her Visit Here

BY NANCY R——.

One of the most distinguished visitors in town at present is Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the former Corinne Roosevelt, sister of the great Teddy. She is stopping with Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, at her house at 2700 Lake View avenue, the house that is such a gathering place for celebrated and interesting folk. Her capable hostess finds Mrs. Robinson one of the most delightful and stimulating guests who has ever shared her hospitality—as important to the world in her way as her illustrious brother was in his.

Entertaining for Mrs. Robinson is being done on a small scale—a half-dozen guests to dinner last night and the same for luncheon today—as she's a busy and much-in-demand speaker. She arrived in Chicago on Sunday, to be here until Thursday, and the number of talks she is to give is stupendous. Her subjects range from the interesting personalities she has met in her full life, through thrilling reminiscences of her brother and his crowded career.

Besides her fondness for our vigorous young city, I understand that Mrs. Robinson is taking special delight in being at the house on Lake View avenue, for she has pleasant memories of visits there with the Wood family, back in 1920, when, its chatelaine being away on one of her journeyings, she leased it to Gen. Wood, one of the greatest friends of the Roosevelt family.

There was a large and gay crowd lunching at the Arts club yesterday. Theodore Hinckley was host at a luncheon party for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Noyes, his other guests including Miss Marion Gheen, Mrs. James McRae, the Clarence Houghs, and John Sloan. Mrs. Ryerson, her house guest being busy for the day, lunched Miss Alice Roullier and Pierre Matisse, the young Frenchman whose collection of French water colors and drawings at the club is making such a hit with the members and their friends. Alfeo Faggi was there with Mrs. Martin Schutze, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Matthias had a table a deux over in a corner.

Day's News in Society

Invitations have been issued for the wedding, on Nov. 25, of Miss Martha Blair Hamm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frederick Hamm of Kenilworth, to Rush Clark Butler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rush Clark Butler of Winnetka, which is to take place at the First Presbyterian church in Evanston. There will be a reception at the Hamm residence after the ceremony. Miss Hamm's sister, Mrs. Homer Robertson, will be her matron of honor, and Miss Harriet Hamm, who is at Miss Bennett's school in New York, will come on to be maid of honor. Miss Florence Notz, Miss Elizabeth Hanna, Miss Beatrice Pease of Cleveland, O., and Miss Mary Foster Brown of Chattanooga, Tenn., are to be the bridesmaids. Mr. Butler's brother, Crilly Butler, who is a student at Yale, will be his best man, and the ushers will be Ira Couch, Tracy Turner, Charles Dennehy, John M. Tuttle of New York City, Frederick B. Hamm, and Edward Hamm. Mr. Butler and his bride are to go east on their honeymoon where they will attend the Army-Navy football game. They will reside at 435 Aldine avenue after Jan. 1.

An engagement announcement of interest to Chicago is that of Miss Freda Rew Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Gross of 1100 Ridge avenue, Evanston, to George Starkweather Haskell, son of Mrs. Blanche L. Jones Haskell of Brookline and New Bedford, Mass. Mr. Haskell was graduated from Phillips academy, Andover, and from Yale in 1918. Miss Gross was graduated from Westover school at Middlebury, Conn., and received her diploma from the Chicago Musical college last June. She made her debut in 1920 and is a member of the Service club and the Junior league. The wedding is to take place during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah McRoberts have come in town from their country place at Geneva, and are at 25 East Walton place for the winter. Mrs. McRoberts will give a luncheon tomorrow at the Arts club for her niece, Florence Noyes, who is one of this year's buds.

Mrs. Watson Blair, Mrs. George Packard, Mrs. Murry Nelson, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, Mrs. John J. Borland, Mrs. George Halleck Taylor, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Mrs. Albert T. Evans, and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, will comprise the reception committee at the banquet of the Illinois League of Women Voters which is to take place tomorrow evening at the Congress hotel. Mrs. Clair E. More is in charge of the banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Robinson of 1120 Lake Shore drive and Miss Frances Robinson have returned from a three weeks' trip in the east.

Bridesmaid's Frock Designed by Germaine

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Bridesmaids come and bridesmaids go, and often they do it so summarily that we are left with nothing save an impression of flowers and color and youthful grace. But if Germaine of Paris can bring it about, each detail of the bridesmaid's costume is going to be imprinted on the mind of the most desultory observer. For he showed in one New York collection several models designed for this great function which are really textbooks of style.

We find one of them sketched. It is made of a purplish pink taffeta—although "changeable" by name, this is its real conviction—and it is accompanied by a wide scarf of flesh colored tulle that trails one end over the arm and the other upon the ground. This scarf is weighted with the same brilliants that are employed elsewhere on the gown with such stunning effect. The playground for these brilliants on the gown proper occurs in a narrow band of self-material which is looped about the right shoulder and then descends a few inches below the skirt.

The irregularity of the hem line demanded by this season's mode! We find it enunciated not only in this narrow band but in the scalloped skirt bound in self-material. The skirt is quite full at the sides and back, and this fact is emphasized by a bustlelike draping of the taffeta on the hips. In the center back the bustle idea is confirmed by loops of taffeta ribbon.

Our friends accompanied us to the station after we had spent the week-end with them.

After getting comfortably seated in the train, in preparation for our homeward trip, our daughter looked out of the car window at the group on the platform and said, "Now, you talk about us and we'll talk about you."

Men's Fashions

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Character of Snap Brim

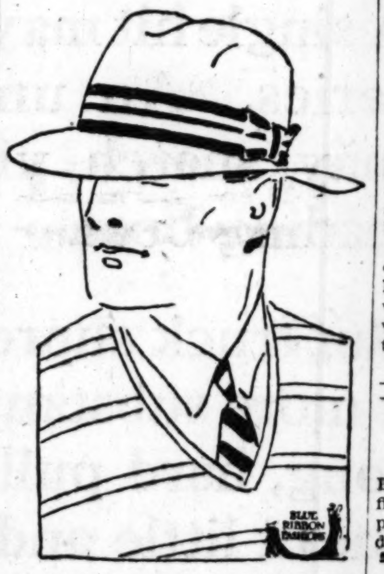
NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—It's plain to be seen as one wanders in and about the fashionable places and by ways of this metropolis where well dressed men abound, that there are many young chaps who are so delighted with the jaunty and debonair effect given to them by the wearing of the snap brim hat, that they are not going to give up the style, no matter what the occasion.

But even though they find this manner of wearing a hat becoming, they should remember that it is a style of hat that is purely negligee in character, and does not belong to a costume that is meant to create formality in any degree. For carefree strolling about town, to business, when the rest of the business outfit smacks of this flavor of informal dress, these are the times when a turn down brim is correct, if one wishes to wear it. But if the overcoat, for instance, which is worn to business is a Chesterfield, or some other coat on semi-formal lines, the snap brim hat is out of place. It needs a rough and readier accompaniment.



It should not, of course, be combined with a wing collar and a stiff bosomed shirt. It would never do to wear it with the semi-formal dress of striped trousers and black jacket. But give it a shirt with a self soft collar, a sack suit, and an overcoat that does not look as though it were bound for the Ritz for tea, and give the wearer enough sense not to go to tea or a dance with it, and the snap brim hat will hold its own nicely.

Taking His Job.

I work in a small building in the loop which has only one elevator. The man who operates this elevator is so slow that it takes him about five minutes before he gets off the chair to open the gate to let any one out. It gets me nervous, especially when I am in a hurry, or am late in the morning; so when he stops at my floor I never wait for him to open the gate, but open it myself.

You can imagine my embarrassment when one day while at a department store I took the elevator to the third floor and absent mindedly opened the gate myself. I was not aware of what I had done until a voice said, "Say, lady, what do you think I am here for?"

Making It Worse.

A ladies' ready-to-wear shop in which I was working was having its spring opening. There were many wax models dressed up and standing around. Crowds had been coming all afternoon. I was standing in back of a woman and all of a sudden saw her bend forward.

I thought it was one of the wax models falling, so made a sudden grab at her. My action was so abrupt, and I was so embarrassed, that I made it worse by saying, "O, excuse me, I thought you were a dummy."

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MISS K.: FOR AN OILY SKIN, get a bottle of diluted alcohol at the drug store. Keep some fresh absorbent cotton or little pieces of gauze handy, and dip it into the alcohol, wiping off the face several times a day. Or, you may use this formula: Orange flower water, 6 ounces; tincture of benzoin, ½ ounce; witch hazel, 2 ounces. Mix witch hazel and the orange flower water, shake lightly, and add to the tincture of benzoin. Apply with a piece of absorbent cotton night and morning.

G. V. G.: HOT TOWELS WILL NOT cause enlarged pores, if you follow them up with cold water and an ice rub. First, cleanse the skin with a good cold cream, then apply the hot towels for a couple of minutes. Rinse the face in warm water, then in cold. And, if you follow this treatment with an ice rub, you will be well repaid for your effort. For the treatment of blackheads send a stamped addressed envelope for my booklet on care of the complexion.

Simple, Homemade Mouth Wash Helps to Make Sound Teeth

by Antoinette Donnelly

"Is lime a good mouth wash?" asks G. C. "And how do you prepare it?"

It is an excellent mouth wash, and is prepared thusly:

Use coarse, unslacked lime, dentists advise, rather than the refined lime the druggists sell. The unslacked is the kind masons use for coarse plaster. Secure from a paint store, then, a lump of coarse lime—a few cents worth is enough, and crush it into a fine powder. Place half a cupful in an empty quart bottle and fill it nearly full of cold water. Thoroughly shake and then allow the lime to settle to the bottom of the bottle, which will take several hours. After it has settled, pour down the sink as much of the clear water as you can without losing any of the lime. Again fill with cold water, shake well, and allow it again to settle.

Into an empty 12 ounce bottle pour the clear lime water, taking care not to stir up the lime in the bottom of the bottle. Now place the quart bottle under the faucet and fill with cold water, shake thoroughly, and set it aside to use when the smaller bottle becomes empty. This process may be repeated until the half cup of lime has made five or six quarts of mouth wash.

The 12 ounce bottle is used, as it is more easily handled at the wash bowl. After brushing and flossing the teeth, pour out a little of the lime water in a glass and, taking it in the mouth, force it back and forth between the teeth with the tongue until it foams. If you rinse it long enough to make it foam it has then been in the mouth long enough to have a beneficial effect on the teeth. After spitting it out, rinse the mouth with clear water, to take away the taste of the lime. If the lime water is a little strong at first, dilute it with clear water in the small bottle, half and half. It should be used clear and full strength as soon as the gums become hard and healthy from brushing.

Dr. Alfred C. Fones, well known dental hygienist, to whom we are indebted for the above, says: "If but one thing could be used to prevent decay of the teeth, lime water used three times daily would prove to be the most valuable. It removes the mucin that otherwise remains on the surface of the teeth and allows bacteria to cling to these surfaces."

CIVIL WAR HITS NORTH CHINA AS CHANG IS BEATEN

War Lord Retreats When Troops Desert.

PEKING, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A setback for the forces of Marshal Chang Tso-lin in northern Kiangsu has resulted in the movement of the civil war northward, threatening to involve Shantung province and making the situation around Peking more tense.

After several days of fighting south of Hsuchow, in northern Kiangsu, the desertion of some of his Shantung units compelled the Manchurian war lord's forces to withdraw into Shantung province. Thereupon Gen. Sun Chuan-Fang, governor of Chekiang, occupied Hsuchow, an important railway junction.

The desertion of Shantung troops seems to have been the chief reason for Chang Tso-lin's reverse. These went over to the Chekiang enemy, compelling the Manchurian troops to retire on Hanchwang, in southern Shantung.

Honan Army Joins Wu.

TSINGTAO, China, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The troops of Marshal Chang Tso-lin are in general retreat in consequence of the arrival at Hsuchow of the forces of Gov. Yueh Wei-Chun of Honan province, who is an ally of Gen. Wu Pei-Fu, head of the movement in the Yangtse region against Chang. The Honan troops are reported to be rapidly advancing and to be near Tsinanfu, where it is said there is panic.

Chang Tsung-Chang, commander of Chang Tso-lin's forces, is reported to have been dangerously wounded by his bodyguard, who tried to assassinate him. The commander of the fifth division was shot by his own men.

The people here are much disturbed by a report that 20,000 Manchurian troops are entraining for Tsingtao. The banks and shops are taking precautions.

Expect Feng to Fight Chang.

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Dispatches to the foreign office here by Japanese consuls in a number of Chinese cities declare there is prospect that a major engagement between the armies of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin and Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang may begin soon in the vicinity of Peking. Considerable fighting has already taken place in Shantung. The foreign office has telegraphed to all Japanese representatives in China that the strictest maintenance of neutrality on the part of Japan is necessary.

Evanston School Officials Pallbearers for Old Teacher

Funeral services for Miss Jennie F. Foster, 67, who was a teacher for forty-six years at Central school, Evanston, were held yesterday afternoon at the school. The Rev. David U. Jones, pastor of the Evanston Presbyterian church officiated and members of the board of education acted as pall bearers. Burial was in Rosehill cemetery.

CIVIL WAR GAINS

The forces of Chang Tso-lin beaten at Hsuchowfu, in Kiangsu, retreated to Hanchwang, and are now falling back still farther northward. They may stand at Tsinanfu or they may retreat to Techow, on the Chihli border. A battle between Chang Tso-lin and Feng Yu-hsiang is expected in the vicinity of Peking.

TRACES WORLD FROM DAWN TO CHEMICAL ERA

Speaking to an audience in Orchestra hall last evening, Dr. Edwin E. Slosson, noted scientist and director of science service at Washington, D. C., led his hearers from savagery to the chemical wonder era of today.

Dr. Slosson spoke under the auspices of the University of Chicago, of which he is an alumnus, and was introduced by President Max Mason and by his former teacher, Prof. Julius Stieglitz of the university's chemistry department. "The Influence of Chemistry Upon History" was Dr. Slosson's theme.

ARMY TRAINING IN COLLEGES HIT BY MRS. CATT

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, speaking before the Evanston Woman's club last night, attacked the colleges and universities of the United States for teaching war psychology.

"Seventy-eight institutions in twenty-eight states make military training compulsory," she declared. "This is not done by law; students are told they must drop their studies to parade on drill grounds in uniform. Boards of trustees are the bodies which foment this psychology of war and are nullifying the efforts of lovers of peace."

Mrs. Chapman, who said she would retire as a public speaker after her present tour, called on her hearers to end the menace of militarism. There will be no peace, she declared, as long as the uniform is fashionable and training for war goes on.

Your teeth made white

Please accept 10-day tube to try

HERE are beautiful teeth for the asking. Those dazzling clear teeth that add so immeasurably to one's personality and charm.

Millions have found them in this new way. Dental authorities urge it. In a few days you can work a transformation in your mouth. Dull teeth thus are made to glisten. Gums are firmed and given a healthy, coral color.

Now a test is being offered. Find out what can be done with your teeth, quickly, amazingly. Just mail the coupon.

Film—that's the trouble

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it—a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Mere brushing won't do

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice, the world has turned to this method.

It removes that film. And Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums. No harsh grit, judged dangerous to enamel.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

Service Means Supremacy

A single hit may decide a world's series. An unexpected swell may snatch victory from the leading boat.

But truck supremacy is won on a more substantial issue—on the long, hard pull where minutes mean little and years mean all.

Graham Brothers won world supremacy among exclusive motor truck manufacturers because Graham Brothers Trucks have stood the test of exacting service in every line of business—and because they are priced at a figure that is too attractive to be overlooked.

BAVARIANS STIR UP ROYAL PLOT, BUT SHELVE IT

Government Balks Plan to Crown Rupprecht.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

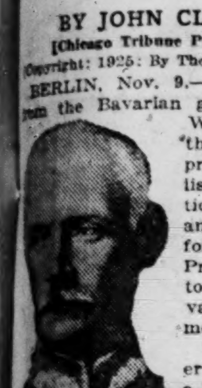
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]



EX-CROWN PRINCE RUPPRECHT.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Despite denials from the Bavarian government and Wilhelmstrasse, the democratic press today published a sensational report of an attempt by former Crown Prince Rupprecht to seize the Bavarian government.

The Frankfurter Zeitung says a Bavarian leader informed the correspondent that Prince Rupprecht's chief advisers, Count von Soden and Gen. Moehll, approached Bavarian authorities a fortnight ago to sound them out on the plan.

According to the democratic press, Gen. Moehle had formed military organization to aid in a coup d'état.

Government Balks Scheme.

The Frankfurter Zeitung declares Prince Rupprecht's proposals were so coldly received that there could be no doubt that any attempt for a coup would meet the resistance from the government, despite the monarchist leanings of many of the chiefs, and the "putsch" was therefor abandoned.

At Prince Rupprechts' headquarters the whole report was characterized as an attempt to manufacture comical propaganda, containing not an atom of truth.

Socialists Ask Indictment.

Prince Rupprecht has often declared lately—and any one who knows conditions in Bavaria will be willing to admit the contention—that he could be declared king of Bavaria any time he wished, but it would be impossible to maintain a Bavarian kingdom within a republican federation. Not until the monarchist movement has spread throughout Germany would he be willing to make such an attempt to take the throne in Bavaria, his friends say.

The democratic press, however, connects Prince Rupprecht's reported aims with yesterday's resolution of the conservatives in the nationalist party favoring reëstablishment of the monarchy. The Socialist press demands the indictment of the prince.

GIRL A WILLING GUEST OF DRAGON, WITNESSES SAY

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 9.—[United News.]—The outlook brightened for D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, and two of his henchmen, as attorneys defending them against charges of murder in connection with the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, unloosed a vigorous attack Monday on the claim of the state that she was abducted.

Stephenson, Earl Gentry and Earl Klenck, the three defendants, wore broad smiles as witnesses testified that Miss Oberholtzer did not appear to be unwilling to accompany Stephenson on the trip to Hammond, Ind., last March 15.

Fred Kemper, night station master at Indianapolis, declared he was on duty when Stephenson, Klenck, Gentry and Madge boarded a train for Hammond and that Madge seemed to be going along with the men without a protest.

WALTER STEVENS SAFE FROM LAW UNTIL SPRING

Walter Stevens has nothing to fear from federal authorities until next June when his parole from the Illinois state penitentiary expires, according to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's disposal of a writ of habeas corpus obtained in the gunman's behalf.

For ten months assistant district attorneys had sought the removal of Stevens to Florida on a technical charge of violating the Volstead act. Once in Florida Stevens was to be arrested by state authorities in connection with a murder.

Dr. Gross' Cod Liver Oil Tablets help build weight and health

It's easy for your doctor to tell you to "slow down"—to work less, exercise more, get more sleep. But it's not easy to do.

Nearly all of us are victims of this nerve-racking age—burning up more energy from day to day than nature can supply.

If you're beginning to weaken under the strain—if you're run-down, thin, "all fagged out" a good part of the time—you need something to offset the wear and tear.

Any doctor will tell you there is nothing like old-fashioned cod liver oil for building up your system and putting on weight. Now science has found a new way to administer cod liver oil—Dr. Gross' Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

If you are tired of being skinny and run-down, try these flesh-making tablets. Go to your druggist and get them today. Take them according to directions. You'll be elated with results—your health will show a radical improvement—you'll sleep better, eat better and feel better in every way.

So He Raps WOK, but Praises Some Others.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

A curious radio night, interesting for uncommonly freakish fading, and some news items.

But first, since WOK, Chicago, was on the air, courting publicity, must refer to it. Shortly after that station went on the air they, its management, wanted permission to take my pet set to their hospital, have it operated on by their doctor, and so on, at a stated fee. All of which made me half smile and half sore. The subtle point here is, they had my address! It didn't pay them in this instance to have my address, but it may pay them in other instances to have addresses; all they can get!!!!

My set satisfactorily brings in lower wave length stations than WOK, but it shouldn't bring WOK in at all on Monday nights.

One of the most interesting regular programs encountered this season is the series of educational talks given from WSUI, State university of Iowa, Iowa City. Last night they were listened to off and on for an hour.

WHO, Des Moines, came in quite clear and strong, 8 to 9, but with a weak, but persistent heterodyne whistle.

KDKA, Pittsburgh, 8:30; jerky, fading, spoiling reception.

Milwaukee has another new station: WKAF or WKAS, 9:05. Signals jerky and not clear.

KOA, Denver, 9:15, heard by this writer for the first time this season. Strong one minute; gone the next. Program by high school girls.

WSAI, Cincinnati, was not in the WEAF, New York, chain of stations in the 9 o'clock studio broadcast of "Rigoletto." WSAI instead had its own concert program. The opera broadcast was picked up from WCAE, Pittsburgh.

KSD, St. Louis, 9:40; strong for that station.

KFKX, Hastings; exceptionally clear and strong. An advertising program, but handled as the programs should be.

KFAB, Lincoln, Neb., 10:12, heard by this writer for the first time. "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," type of program. Good By!

WOAW, Omaha; WBAP, Fort Worth; WTAM, Cleveland; WJR, Pontiac, signals very weak. WSMB, New Orleans, about as powerful as ever. WSM, Nashville, 10:45; strong, but not nearly as clear as last Monday night.

WJZ, New York, 10:45. Identification by dial log only. Station 2XAR, Newark, heard so powerfully strong while testing Sunday night, is undoubtedly WJZ testing out their New Jersey location.

Fred Hamm and his Liberty orchestra will furnish a background of soothing, melodic numbers and rythmic jazz.

Jack Little, who alternately syncopates and croons one rollicking number after another, has been held over one more week at WLIB by popular request, and he will be one with Fred Hamm and his gang in making the 7 to 8 hour a riotous affair, saturated with melodious mirth and shrieking syncopation.

N. U. PLANS CALL FOR THE HIGHEST STADIUM IN U. S.

Zoning Board to Act on Permit Tonight.

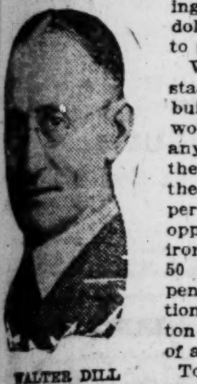
Northwestern university has plans drawn and is prepared for the building of a million dollar stadium to seat 75,000.



WALTER DILL SCOTT.

Whether that stadium can be built so that it would surpass any stadium in the country in the number of persons seated opposite the gridiron and near the 50 yard line depends upon action of the Evanston zoning board of appeal tonight.

To enable Northwestern to build such a stadium the zoning board must grant the university a special permit authorizing a 126 foot height. The present Evanston zoning law prohibits construction of buildings more than 80 feet high.

Scott Explains Plans.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern last night explained the plans for the stadium.

"The great difficulty in stadium construction," he said, "lies in trying to place the maximum number of seats opposite the sides of the gridiron. It's especially desirable to place a great number of seats near the 50 yard line.

"We asked our architect, James Gamble Rogers, to overcome this difficulty. He has responded by drawing plans for the highest stadium in the country. The great memorial stadium at the University of Illinois has two decks and is 108 feet high. The stadium at Ohio State has two decks and is 110 feet high. Mr. Rogers has designed plans for a stadium which would exceed the height of Ohio State's by 16 feet and instead of having two decks would have three. If the 126 foot height is permitted a greater number of spectators would be seated near the gridiron with a clear view than at any stadium in the country.

The plan of the three decks, President Scott pointed out, was to make the two upper decks shallower than the one deck at other stadiums. In this way persons seated on the lower deck will not be pushed far back in the shadow of the upper tiers of seats.

The second deck of Northwestern's proposed stadium would seat 4,000 and the third deck 6,000.

Would Start Work Soon.

The members of the zoning board of appeal before which Northwestern's plea for the sky piercing stadium will come tonight are A. B. Andrews, Warner Baird, Fred Schuette, Francis Baldwin, and John A. Branch. The university representatives will try to convince these men that public good demands the zoning law be stretched 46 feet in the case of the stadium. And that in so doing no precedent would be created, inasmuch as a stadium is unique among structures.

If the university's plea is granted President Scott said work on the mammoth structure would be undertaken at the earliest possible date. It will be built on the site of the present athletic field. For that reason work will be pushed to have the stadium ready for occupancy Oct. 1.

University officials point out that if they are permitted to build the 126 foot stadium Northwestern will have not only one of the finest of the nation's stadia in point of seating arrangements but in transportation facilities. Street cars run past the field. And within easy walking distance are the lines of the Chicago, North Shore Electric, the elevated, and the Chicago and Northwestern railroad.

Tearney Leaves for Western League Meeting

President A. R. Tearney of the Western league departed for St. Joseph, Mo., last night to attend a meeting of the club owners today. Tearney said he did not know whether his offer to resign would be accepted or rejected. President Tearney presented his resignation recently at a meeting held in Des Moines.

Illini Plan to Buy Gridiron Umbrella and Get Out of Mud

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—There will be no more muddy fields for football games in the University of Illinois stadium if human ingenuity can prevent it. Plans for the purchase of a huge rubberized cover for the football field have been started and the Illini expect to have it by next fall.

The cover will be of the same material used successfully by major league baseball clubs to cover their infields. It will be made in four sections so that it can be quickly put on and taken off and will be exceedingly light, so that comparatively few men can handle it. The Illini expect the gridiron umbrella to nick their treasury something like $10,000 or $12,000.

"We have considered this," said Director George Huff, "but have been waiting until our stadium affairs were well along before we ordered the cover."

ARTHUR BRINGS HOME BONDS AS WELL AS HORSES

Jockey Mortensen Here on Way to Visit Mother.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Mr. Arthur Mortensen of Homedale, Idaho, the seventeen year old kid who is the leading race rider of the year on the American turf, stopped here long enough yesterday to tell a group of admiring Chicagoans what he has done with the $50,000 he has earned by riding since the first day of last January.

JOCKEY A. MORTENSEN.

And if Little Arthur spoke the truth he's not only the round-faced kid he appears to be but is a bloated 93 pound bondholder, with a ranch in Idaho for a playground.

The ranch had cost him a little more than half of all the money he has earned this season, the 93 pound saddle giant declared. The rest he invested in bonds.

Going to Visit Mother.

The tiny jockey star was en route from Churchill Downs in Kentucky to his Idaho home, where for the first time in nearly two years he wil visit his mother. He will report to the International stable, owned by Herbert G. Shimp of Chicago, at New Orleans for the beginning of the winter turf season on Thanksgiving day.

"And just tell the boys in Chicago, who may think they would like to become race riders, that it's a hard road to success. There are many weary hours as a stable boy before getting to the race track," Mortensen said. "And as success arrives, the job becomes all the more difficult, particularly for those boys who are growing and taking on weight."

Weighs 93 Pounds 2 Years.

Arthur said he weighed 93 pounds two years ago and tipped the beam at the same mark when he stepped on the scales for the last race of the fall season at Churchill Downs last Saturday.

Mortensen is one youth who gets credit for never betting on a horse race; in fact, he said yesterday he had never gambled. His favorite entertainment is a western movie.

PUBLISHERS TO START PLAY IN GOLF MEET TODAY

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Nov. 9.—The preliminary round of the American Newspaper Publishers' association golf tournament will be played here tomorrow. Silver cups will divide honors as trophies with some fine Virginia hams, wild turkeys, and sides of western beef. Members of the association arriving today included Theodore P. Seymour of Broxville, Miss.; E. R. Detwiler of New York, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Thomason and Mr. William Graves, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Gaylord of Oklahoma City, Hilton Brown of Indianapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Williams and C. M. Denise of Pittsburgh.

DRAKE ELEVEN MAY PLAY YULE TILT IN FLORIDA

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Drake university football team has been asked to play in an intersectional game at Jacksonville, Fla., with some team in the east during the Christmas holidays.

Just what eastern team will be selected is not known definitely by Coach Ossie Solem. Solem said that if other members of the Missouri Valley conference aprpoved the trip, he would be inclined to favor acceptance of the offer.

HOPPING

Walter (Rabbit) Maranville.

Cubs Waive Rarin' Rabbit to Brooklyn

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Rabbit Maranville is no longer with us. The one time great shortstop who couldn't keep both feet on the ground when given an opportunity to manage the Cubs and for whom more than one club would gladly have given around $100,000 a few seasons back was turned over to the Brooklyn team yesterday for a paltry $4,000, the waiver price.

Announcement of the transfer was made in the east and confirmed here y Secretary Johnny Seys who is sitting on the throne during the absence of President William Veeck. No other club put in a claim for the player and if the Robins hadn't chimed in the Rabbit would have been turned loose. Under the ten year rule he was eligible for unconditional release.

Fell Down as Manager.

Maranville's career as a Cub was brief but filled with action. He was acquired from Pittsburgh last winter along with Cooper and Grimm in exchange for Aldridge, Grantham, and Niehaus. On the spring trip he received a broken ankle and that ruined him as a player for the better part of the season. In July he was made manager, but he lasted only a month, being succeeded by George Gibson.

Including the Rabbit, three men have been severed from the Cub roster in the last few days. The others were Outfielders Grigsby and Griffith. The end hasn't been reached however, as there are several others doomed to get a ticket.

Magnates to Meet Dec. 10.

Commissioner Landis yesterday announced that he had selected Dec. 10 as the date for the annual joint gabfest of the sixteen major magnates. It will be held in New York.

The National league, no doubt, will observe custom and hold its annual session in the big town Dec. 9. President Ban Johnson of the American league was back at his desk yesterday after a long hunt in old Mexico and said he hadn't given a thought to his meeting. The constitution provides that it be held in Chicago.

Dakota Bank's Closing Cancels Football Game

The contest between Huron college and Intermountain college of Helena, scheduled for Nov. 14, was called off because the local institution's athletic association lost its finances when the Farmers and Merchants bank here was closed last week because of frozen assets.

The association decided to adopt a conservative policy and not run the risk of going into debt to bring the Montanans here.

FITZSIMMONS NOT HAVING HIS FLING; HE'S TO BE FLUNG

Airy Persiflage Moves Backers to Give Him Air

HERE'S THE OVERTURE

This little tale had its start Sept. 29 last at Niles, Mich., when Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills signed a contract whereby Floyd Fitzsimmons, who had the backing of a South Bend [Ind.] syndicate, would promote a titular battle some time next September. A few days later Dempsey's attorney, Ray Cannon, tore up the original contract, substituted another and induced Fitzsimmons to sign it. Shortly came a loud squawk from Rob Roy Benton, erstwhile secretary to the champion, that the new contract had been drawn up with the idea of getting Jack Kearns, the champ's ousted manager, back into the picture and stage the fight when and where he saw fit. Now go on with the story:

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Those who believe that Mr. Floyd Fitzsimmons, the prize fight promoter, is just enjoying his little fling in the current do-business between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills are only partly correct. They anticipate.

Mr. Fitzsimmons is not having his fling yet. But he will soon be flung.

One gathers from conversation with the gents who have reason to know most about the transaction that Mr. Fitzsimmons will be snatched by the slack of his trousers at no remote date and hurled to a new distance record, even for him.

His Toss Is Brewing.

In a few weeks, if not sooner, Mr. Andrew Weisberg, the South Bend, Ind., innkeeper and minor colossus of Hoosier commerce and finance, will undertake a readjustment of the deal with J. Dempsey.

Mr. Weisberg seems to be alarmed lest Mr. Fitzsimmons, in flapping a loose lip, shall commit the promoting syndicate to some obligation which they have no desire to undertake. Furthermore, he does not want to deal to look any sillier to the public than it does right now

In other words, Mr. Fitzsimmons seems to have talked himself out of his job and his principals into a state of alarm. They wish to wash up the deal so far as it has gone and start over again, maintaining the present financial arrangements with Dempsey and Wills but reducing the enterprise to a sober and credible status.

'Tis a Simple Problem.

Mr. Weisberg intimates that he is afraid the whole work will go the way of the Shelby (Mont.) promotion, which was wrecked by its press agents and other spokesmen.

Mr. Weisberg would like to tell the world and points en route the entire truth of the transaction. He is deterred from doing so at present because, for all his sagacity in the ways of normal business, he permitted himself and his associates to be talked into a rather delicate situation.

When Mr. Fitzsimmons has been flung, the innocent butter-and-egg magnates of Indiana will go before the country, so to speak, with a statement of just what's what and how so.

After that they will only have to find a spot, which is a technical term meaning a sucker town; appease the political powers in the appropriate manner; and pull off a heavyweight championship fight between a white man and a black. This of course, is a simple task. It is about as simple as promoting a wet bar at the national convention of the W. C. T. U.

Kieckhefer Loses Two Cue Games to Layton

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago dropped two National three cushion games here today, losing to Johnny Layton, 50 to 45, in the afternoon and 50 to 37 in the evening. The first game lasted 50 innings and the second 40 frames. In the evening Kieckhefer ran 3 and Layton 2.

PREPARING FOR THE WILDCAT HUNT

Bruno Merkobrad plays a half back position as running mate for Wilcox. [Pacific and Atlantic Photos.]

Here's the high kicker of the Purdue university eleven which faces Northwestern's Wildcats Saturday. The high stepping gent is Chester Wilcox, half back on the Boilermaker machine.

Victory Adds Pep to Drill of Wildcats

Northwestern's football mudhogs traded their scows for snowshoes last night and ran through what the coaches declared was the best Monday night practice of the season. The victory over Michigan seemingly has put more punch into the Purple than anything in years past. The Wildcats are getting ready for Purdue, with high hopes of being away up in the conference standing when the season ends.

Thistlethwaite has a new formation built around Moon Baker. He expects it to give the Purple star a chance to get away on runs and to provide more time for him to start passes. Moon's limp is gone and he is helping put snap into the daily work outs.

Capt. Tim Lowry and Tiny Lewis were the heroes of the campus yesterday. Chapel exercises were given over to a free for all student celbration yesterday. Lowry and Lewis and Thistlethwaite were on the platform with President Walter Dill Scott, Dean Raymond Kent, and Dean James A. James.

PURDUE TO TRY PASSES

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Purdue came through Saturday's game against Franklin without injury and Coach Phelan today started work for the battle with Northwestern here this week-end.

The Purple's startling upset of Michigan has stimulated activity in the Boilermaker camp. Purdue's success with forward passes in the Franklin tilt indicates another air bombardment Saturday.

Taube's expert tossing was mainly responsible for the strong aerial assault. Merkobrad and Wilcox, half backs, will carry the brunt of the running attack.

Andy Oberlander Is Flame Breath of Big Green's Dragon

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

There's a terrible Swede on that Dartmouth wrecking machine which will invade Stagg field next Saturday with intentions of destroying the Maroons. He is the Red Grange of the east, and his name is Andy Oberlander.

Not a team in the east has been able to stop him. Harvard was crushed, Brown was defeated, and Cornell was smothered, and it was mainly due to the open field running, the passing, and the kicking of this blonde Scandinavian. Now he is coming here with the idea of romping over Mr. Stagg's much abused young men and giving Dartmouth a right to claim a national grid championship.

In the muck of the Illinois stadium last Saturday these humble Maroons were able to stop Mr. Grange. It even was proved that the Illini red head lost more ground than he gained. Of course, Illinois rooters will say that was because of the muddy field. But only the week before this same Mr. Red romped in the mud at Pennsylvania. Consequently, the Chicago players deserve some credit.

Maroons Not Scared.

This Mr. Oberlander may be a Swedish terror, a conquering Norseman, and everything they say about him, but no one out in this section of the country will admit that he is the equal of the heroic Mr. Grange. So the feeling out on the Midway is "Bring on your terrible Swede."

After reading reports of what Oberlander did against Cornell, one is led to believe that the only way he can be stopped is with a machine gun. We find that six of the nine touchdowns made by Dartmouth resulted from forward passes that were hurled by him. Three of the six were shot for a distance of 50 yards, one was 25, and two were for distances of 22 yards. No matter how one looks at it, that is some passing.

The reports also stated the mighty Swede had no trouble whatever in tearing through the supposedly strong Cornell line or dashing around the ends for gains of from 10 to 50 yards. In making those runs he has a most destructive interference, planned and taught by Coach Jesse Hawley, who appears to be one eastern mentor who knows something about the possibilities of the open game. End runs for 10 to 50 yards are considered as something quite above the average even out here.

But that isn't all this Scandinavian does. He's one of those triple threat fellows. He runs and he passes and he also kicks. In fact, he must be a whale of a kicker because one eastern writer says he averages 50 yards on his punts.

"Bring On the Swede."

They say he is sure to be chosen for a half back position on almost any one's all-American team. Of course, out in this section every one says Grange is sure to be named for one half back position on the big mythical team. So that's settled. It's a good thing there are two half back positions.

Western football followers are eager to see this star of the east. They know their football out here. For three years they have looked at Red Grange. They believe there is no other. They will have to be shown. Bring on your terrible Swede.

MAROONS TAKE IT EASY

Stiff muscles and rusty joints contracted by members of the University of Chicago grid squad in the rain at Champaign, Saturday, were given a bit of brisk exercise last night when the Maroons staged their first drill for Dartmouth. There was no hard work on the afternoon's schedule, signal practice being the order of the day.

Today's diet will not be so light. The line, which showed marked improvement against the Illini, will receive instruction on blocking and cross blocking.

Except for Austin McCarty's sore rib and a few minor bumps and bruises, Chicago players came out of the Illinois game with few injuries. McCarty was not in a suit yesterday, but will practice today. He probably will play against Dartmouth.

Stagg Builds Up Pass Defense.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The Dartmouth football team, developed in the granite hills of New Hampshire and claimant of the eastern championship, will come west this week to meet Chicago on Stagg field in the most important football struggle to be decided on the week-end in the middle west.

C. W. SPEARS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

While this interesting and colorful intersectional contest is being waged, result of the Minnesota-Iowa game at Minneapolis will be followed with interest because the Gophers are the only undefeated eleven in the Western conference. Nor will the intersectional clash between Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech at South Bend be overlooked. It will be homecoming for Notre Dame alumni.

Purple Hopes Soar.

Results of these games are of little interest to followers of Northwestern's football fortunes. Purple supporters either will make the trip to Lafayette to see the Purdue game or they will have their ears close to sources of information to hear the result of every play. If the Purple can defeat Purdue it may either win or tie for the Western conference championship, a Northwestern hope which has almost grown stagnant.

Ardent football fans, however, will flock to Stagg field to get a glimpse of the team which decisively defeated Harvard, Cornell, and Brown and won all other games on its schedule. This is about the most powerful team which has represented Dartmouth in years, according to eastern football officials who have worked in its games. The Green has been equipped with a pleasing open and close attack. It also has a splendid running assault, while the aerial offense was responsible in a large measure for the one sided victory over Cornell Saturday. It is a well rounded eleven, fortified in every department of play, and thoroughly representative of its section.

Maroons Will be Rugged Foe.

Chicago is an excellent standard bearer of western conference football, despite its defeat by Illinois and at tie with Ohio State. The Maroons have nothing to regret for their game with Illinois last Saturday. Had one or two of the players exercised a little better judgment and given Illinois safeties instead of trying to punt, the result of that game might have been different. However, that struggle along with the others played under adverse weather conditions has passed into history, but members of other teams should profit by the mistakes made by certain elevens and the good judgment used by others.

Chicago is expected to put up a stronger defensive front than any eleven Dartmouth has met this year. It should at least be stronger than the defense offered by Harvard and Cornell. The Maroons stopped Grange in his tracks and they will do their utmost to check the ground gaining efforts of Oberlander and the other star Dartmouth backs. It may be the forward pass which will upset the Midway eleven, but Stagg will undoubtedly work on defensive tactics all week to be prepared for the avalanche of passes to be tossed by Oberlander and his teammates.

Gophers Groan For Iowa.

Coach Spears will drive his Minnesota eleven at a sprightly clip all week in preparation for Iowa. The Gophers are undefeated in the Big Ten, but were held to a tie score by Wisconsin, the only conference team met this year. Aside form meeting Iowa on the week-end, Minnesota also will clash with Michigan at Ann Arbor on Nov. 21. Coach Spears can be depended upon to give his team a number of clever plays, for he realizes what victories over Iowa and Michigan mean for Minnesota football.

Northwestern resumed practice yesterday with kindled spirit for its game with Purdue. The unexpected overthrow of Michigan last Saturday boosted Northwestern stock to nebulous heits. The team had been defeated by Chicago and Tulane. It barely managed to squeeze out a vicover Indiana, but it shocked the football world by winning from Michigan, 3 to 2.

Baker Will Be Back.

The Purple should be at its best on the week-end. Moon Baker will be back in the lineup and his presence alone will help the morale of the team. Lewis, the mainspring in the victory over Michigan, will go stronger while the remainder of the team will display a more aggressive brand of football.

Michigan and Ohio State will meet at Ann Arbor in the other game of conference importance. With the Big Ten situation in such a muddle, both elevens will turn loose every offensive weapon at their command to win. Each has a chance of laying some sort of claim to the honors. Michigan will strive desperately to make amends for its defeat by Northwestern, and Ohio State for its downfall by Iowa.

Wisconsin, which played its best football of the year in defeating Iowa, 6 to 0, will meet Michigan State at Madison. Illinois will tackle Wabash at Champaign and Rose Poly will be Indiana's opponent at Bloomington.

Notre Dame alumni will be out in force to give their team a rousing welcome when it steps on the field to meet Carnegie Tech, developed by Walter Steffen, one of the greatest players who ever wore the Maroon of Chicago. Despite a defeat by the Army early in the season, Coach Rockne and his players showed splendid spirit by recovering to win the remaining games except the one with Penn State last Saturday. This struggle resulted in a scoreless tie.

In the Missouri Valley conference, three games of importance will be played. Missouri, which is leading for honors, will meet Oklahoma at Columbia. Nebraska will journey to Manhattan to meet the Kansas Aggies and Kansas and Grinnell will clash on the latter's gridiron.

Penn to Tackle Pitt.

In the east, Pennsylvania, which can still lay claim to the eastern championship, will meet the strong Pittsburgh eleven on Franklin field, Philadelphia. Princeton, which swamped Harvard last Saturday, will meet Yale at New Haven and the Army eleven will move down to New York to meet Columbia. Harvard will give battle to Brown at Providence.

On the Pacific coast, Washington, which defeated Stanford last Saturday, will meet California at Berkeley in an important struggle. Bears and Huskies are tied for leadership of the Pacific coast conference and the result of Saturday's game will practically determine the champion of the section.

In the south, Alabama, one of the unbeaten elevens, will meet Florida at Montgomery, and Tulane, another claimant of southern honors which defeated Northwestern, will play Sewanee at New Orleans.

YOST WON'T PLAY AGAIN ON OUR SOLDIERS' FIELD

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Football is a game of uncertainties. There is one thing, however, that it would be safe to bet a year's wages on. That is that Coach Fielding H. Yost will never again permit a Michigan football team to play a game on Soldiers' field.

Heralded as one of the strongest teams in the country, the Wolverines were beaten Saturday in one of the best swimming matches Michigan has ever entered. Heartbroken by their defeat, the thirty-three members of the Michigan squad turned today to preparations for the game with Ohio State this week-end.

With everything to gain in the next two battles, Michigan will hold back nothing. Edwards is back at tackle to bolster the line, and new plays, held in check by Coach Yost all season, will be opened up on Ohio State and Minnesota. All members of the squad returned in good shape.

OHIO STATE.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—With Marek and Karow, back field stars, in the hospital as a result of the hard fought battle on Saturday with Indiana, Ohio State's football eleven today started preparation for the clash on Saturday with Michigan at Ann Arbor. Both injured men are badly bruised, but are expected to recover for the game with the Wolverines. More than 3,500 tickets for the contest were sold here in a few hours and the scalpers already are busy.

INDIANA.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Rose Poly is scheduled to invade Bloomington on Saturday, but it is the stadium dedication game with Purdue a week later that Indiana is thinking about right now. Last November was the first time in nine years that the Boilermakers upset the locals, and Ingram's men are anxious to make amends. Defense will be stressed in this week's practice.

IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Iowa's football men were given only a light drill today, despite the fact that the team faces Minnesota on Saturday. Cowboy Kutsch, however, whose absence from the lineup on Saturday may have cost Iowa a Big Ten championship, is rapidly getting back into form, and if he can be kept uninjured through the week the Hawks will present a strong offensive against the Gophers.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Coach Spears had to go a little easy on his Gophers when they resumed practice for Iowa tonight, because of the crippled condition of the first squad. Six players were excused entirely so that trainers could attend to leg bruises, broken noses, and the like. Gary, regular tackle; Capt. Ascher, and Conrad Cooper were among those not in uniform today, and it is doubtful if they can play against Iowa. Shorty Almquist, his face badly bruised, was in uniform, but he wasn't used.

Murphy Goes South; Race Plans in Air

The Chicago racing situation is so badly jumbled it may take most of the winter to adjust affairs for next season, Joseph A. Murphy, president of the Chicago Business Men's Racing association, declared last night before he left for New Orleans.

"There may be some one who can intelligently discuss the near future of racing here, but I would be at a loss to know who that person might be," he said. "Hawthorne is the only race track in Chicago at the present time and we will move our offices there and dig in for the winter."

Col. Matt Winn of Kentucky, who through a recent deal is said to have come into control of Hawthorne and who will head a syndicate that plans to build a new track before next season somewhere in the Chicago district, will be here later in the week, and may announce his plans for next year, some of the Chicagoans interested in the venture say.

Murphy will remain in New Orleans until after the season closes at the Fair grounds early in February.

ST. VIATOR AND COLUMBIA TEAMS ARRIVE TODAY

Football teams representing Columbia and St. Viator, which meet tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at Soldiers' field, will arrive in Chicago today and be quartered at the Auditorium hotel. If either or both arrive before dark they will engage in light workouts.

While both teams have been eliminated from the Little Nineteen championships, they are in the running for the midwest Catholic college championship. In fact, the winner of tomorrow's game will meet De Paul on Thanksgiving day for the Catholic college championship of the middle west.

Both teams are coached by former all-American players. Ralph Glaze, coach at St. Viator, made the mythical eleven when he played end for Dartmouth and Elmer Layden, coach at Columbia, was an all-American choice last year when he played with Notre Dame. In the five games played this season St. Viator has scored 107 points.

Bob's Going to Wear Goggles on Quail Hunt Today

BY BOB BECKER.

Nov. 10 is a red letter day on the Illinois sportsman's calendar, as it marks the opening of the quail season. Of the few birds that could lure hunters from a duck blind when the mallards are doing their stuff, the quail heads the list, as this little game bird calls into action the dogs as well as the guns.

This is the day when prairie chicken hunting is also legalized. About four bells this morning or somewhere around the middle of the dog watch, we're going to pull the anchor and set sail for the prairie chicken country to see if we can't locate a covey or two, as it's been quite some time since we've heard the roar of their wings and seen the big fellows rocketing across a field.

Before we get through with the day's sleuthing and shooting we'll be in the broom corn country downstate, where the Bob Whites hide out. Last year the quail sure did like the thick stands of broom corn and the manner in which they swept away and out of shootin' range sure did brush the dust into our eyes.

But this year we're going to fool 'em and wear goggles, as it's hard enough to drop a few exploding feathered bombs with both eyes functioning, to say nothing of trying to manipulate a shootin' iron when your eyesight is all cluttered up with dust that the birds kick up.

Comish Rules M'Graw Must Fight Herman

Phil McGraw, the Detroit lightweight, has been forced to go through with his ten round bout with Tommy Herman at East Chicago on Friday night by the Michigan state boxing commission.

Last Sunday McGraw notified Promoter Mullen he hurt his hand while training and could not go through with the engagement. The local promoter then got in touch with members of the boxing commission with the result an investigation showed McGraw wanted to run out of the match. After being threatened with suspension, Phil agreed to fill the engagement and will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning to train at the Mullen gymanisum.

In the other ten round affairs, Archie Bell of New York will meet Ray Ryschell of the stockyards, and Irish Fagan of New Jersey will battle Shuffle Callahan of Gary, Ind. Two other bouts complete the card.

Jimmy Daugherty, well known referee who has handled a number of championship fights for Jack Dempsey, yesterday matched Bobby Barrett, the Philadelphia welterweight, with Frankie Welch of the west side. The bout will be held on Nov. 20 at East Chicago.

YALE COACHES TRY TO BOLSTER TEAM'S FLANKS

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Realizing that the end rush problem is acute, the Yale football coaches today promoted Jimmy Coleman to a regular berth at right wing. Fred Potts and Walter Bradley have been used as first string nominees, both failing to hold the University of Maryland attack in check Saturday. Coleman has figured in Yale athletics for two seasons and today was selected for a first string assignment in his third branch of sport. He is baseball third baseman and basketball forward, and has been varsity reserve football end for two seasons. His home is in Macon, Ga. If his showing in the scrimmage drill scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday meets expectations he will start the games against Princeton and Harvard in closing the Bulldog season. While Stanley Gill has been brilliant on the other wing his defensive play has been weak at times, giving the Yale end rush situation an unsatisfactory standing. Maryland, Brown, and Penn skirted the Eli frontiers repeatedly.

Industrial Cage League to Card Games Tonight

Iowa Farmer's Peach Crop Is Sold by Radio

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

The radio has become the farmer's new salesman. The efficiency of this marketing agency has been demonstrated by a farmer in Iowa, who sold his peach crop over the radio.

C. E. Mincer of Hamburg, Ia., is perhaps the first farmer to use the radio to help sell a perishable farm product. His experience was so successful that the radio may put an end to a lot of the worries of the orchardists and gardeners who have perishable fruits and vegetables to sell. The radio during the last season solved Mincer's oversupply problem, according to Holsinger, horticulturist at Ames.

Mincer had a heavy loss facing him with a thirty acre peach orchard and 700 bushels of peaches all ripe and ready for the market at one time. He had to compete with local growers in selling his big crop, and he had too many peaches for the local stores and dealers.

Mincer called up the announcer of KFNF, the radio broadcasting station twenty-five miles from the farm, and told him to announce that he would have 700 bushels of fine peaches for sale on a certain day. From 350 to 400 bushels were packed and ready for the prospective customers when they began driving into the orchard, and within two hours the entire lot had been sold, some of them going to buyers who drove nearly 100 miles.

With the radio to act as the salesman, perhaps it would be profitable for small growers to pool their surplus fruits and offer them for sale at a central point along a hard surfaced highway and widen the local market to attract customers anywhere within a radius of 100 miles.

PLESTINA SIGNS FOR MAT CLASH WITH FREBERG

Martin Plestina, who has been clamoring for matches with Joe Stecher and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, will meet John Freberg in the feature of the three wrestling bouts at the Star and Garter Friday night. Grenna, the Italian Hercules, has agreed to toss any opponent selected in fifteen minutes, and Rudy Dusek will appear on the same card.

PADDY DRISCOLL PURPLE'S BEST IN LAST 20 YEARS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

PADDY DRISCOLL.

Youth must be served and Paddy Driscoll, the greatest football player ever developed at Northwestern university since the adoption of the forward pass and ten yard rule, back in 1906, is serving it—with a knockout wallop. For Paddy is better now than when he used to set Purple stands wild.

Driscoll, who played in the back field of Northwestern elevens in 1915 and 1915, is a member of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team. In fact, Paddy has played professionally since he left Northwestern in the spring of 1917 to play baseball with the Chicago Cubs.

Since his connection with the professional game Driscoll has been a strong factor in the success of his teams. His drop kicking, running, receiving, and throwing of forward passes have constantly figured in the victories of the Cardinals, managed by Chris O'Brien, himself an excellent player in the early days of professional football in and around Chicago.

Great Runner and Kicker.

In his college days Driscoll was noted more for his running and dodging. At the present time Paddy is one of the most respected field goal kickers in the professional ranks and seems to improve with age.

During his playing days at Northwestern, Driscoll was a marked man in every game. He was among the first to use the pivot in dodging, and he ran with his knees kicking nearly as high as his chest. He was very quick to take an opening and shot through it with the speed of a sprinter. Unlike some good ball carriers, Driscoll was an excellent blocker. If he did not carry the oval he helped to pave the way for a teammate.

During his college career he was one of the best punters and drop kickers in the Western conference. He seldom failed to get height and distance in his punts, while he was fairly accurate in his field goal attempts, but not nearly as much so as at the present time. He was absolutely reliable in handling punts, always waiting a few yards back so that he caught the ball on a dead run forward.

Plays Other Sports.

Back in 1916 Northwestern had an excellent chance to win the Big Ten championship. The Purple had a strong eleven that year and met Ohio State at Columbus in a game which virtually decided the championship. Paddy played a splendid game despite the fact he was marked, but the Buckeyes won the contest and Big Ten championship, 23 to 3. Paddy, however, had scored Northwestern's only points by kicking a field goal.

In addition to playing professional football, Driscoll has played semi-professional baseball and basketball. In the summer months he plays with the Pyotts, formerly known as the Gunthers, which are managed by Bill Niesen.

STRIBLING WON'T BOX IN GOTHAM

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Young Stribling, Georgia's light heavyweight, has declined the issue with Gene Tunney, former American champion of the division. Matchmaker Jess McMahon of the new Madison Square Garden, seeking this match as a feature for the annual Christmas fund show on Dec. 23, exhibited a telegram from Pa Stribling, father-manager of the Georgian, in which Stribling Sr. rejected Promoter Tex Rickard's offer.

BIG TEN TITLE.

THROW the names into a hat, boys, and draw one out. Then award that eleven the gold footballs and the conference championship, which never can be conclusively established, but which never has presented such a jumble for dopesters as this year of grace, 1925.

Beg pardon, we forgot Minnesota, the undefeated Gophers. These stalwarts of the north country have not lost a single conference game. They are the only eleven in the entire Big Ten which has not sipped those trite dregs of defeat. Then look at Minnesota's imposing record. It has played one game, a tie with Wisconsin. And thus a team which has not yet won a game is the only unbeaten outfit in the whole lot.

Unprecedented weather conditions have prevailed, it is true. Many games have not been true tests, but one cannot say that Iowa would have beaten Wisconsin on a dry field or Michigan have downed Northwestern or Chicago have taken revenge on Illinois. You may think what you wish, but fields were not dry, and the points scored are what count.

So take a few cases of comparative scores and see where you get off. Michigan defeated Illinois, 3 to 0; Illinois defeated Chicago, 13 to 6; Chicago defeated Northwestern, 6 to 0; Northwestern defeated, Michigan, 3 to 2. Or you may cite that Iowa beat Illinois, 12 to 10; Michigan beat Illinos, 3 to 0; Michigan beat Wisconsin, 21 to 0; and Wisconsin beat Iowa, 6 to 0.

Minnesota, the undefeated, has yet to meet Iowa and Michigan. If it should win both games it certainly would have a claim for first honors, although playing only three teams. If it loses either contest the situation is hopeless.

The Fumbling Title.

According to Fellow Worker Vaughan the Maroons cannot even claim the conference fumbling championship. In the Wisconsin-Iowa slippery finger contest Wisconsin registered thirteen and Iowa nineteen, which we concede must be the intercollegiate record on a circular track.

Dartmouth Enthusiasm.

As a pan-collegian The Wake attended the weekly luncheon of Dartmouth alumni yesterday noon. These alumni have been waiting all season for next Saturday, and despite warnings of overconfidence they have an idea that eleven young men from Hanover are going to do dire and sundry things to eleven young men from the region of the Midway.

It was a lively pep session of a cheery bunch, with more of the "we're one big family" spirit than most alumni gatherings, in preparation for the big dinner Friday night at the Drake. Alumni council meetings, class reunions, and whatnot will make this the greatest Dartmouth occasion of years in the middle west.

Incidentally, President Jack Childs of the alumni read a letter from Coach Jess Hawley, written just before the Cornell game. It ranks Hawley on at least equal terms with our own best gloom specialists in the Big Ten. And the score was only 62 to 13 in favor of Dartmouth.

Inside Information.

Returning from French Lick to Champaign, we stopped at Paris for gas, and Pilot Compton became chummy with a chap standing around at the filling station. "Are the motor cops working between here and Danville?" he queried. "We've just been doing 55 per from Vincennes up and didn't see a single cop."

"They didn't do very much last week, but I feel they'll be on the job this afternoon," the chap replied. And as he stooped to adjust a muddy shoe we saw peeping from beneath his jacket the star of a motorcycle cop.

Better Lay Off Us.

For several weeks our mail was incumbered with razzing letters, sometimes gentle, sometimes acerbic, from Hawkeye sources because we forecast Illinois and Ohio State to beat Iowa. Being a good-natured sort and having a profound admiration for the coaching skill of Bert Ingwersen, we promised to do better. So we picked Iowa to defeat Wisconsin; and look, Hawkeyes, what happened to your title aspirants. But we'll stick if you will.

Tribune to Hold Big Run on Nov. 29

BY MORROW KRUM

Official sanction of the annual Chicago cross-country run to be held in Washington park, Nov. 29, was given by the Central Association of the Amateur Athletic union at a meeting in the Hamilton club last night.

The indorsement brings the first public notice of the 1925 race. The alarm to distance athletes is hereby sounded. Get into your running suits and train for this five mile cross-country jaunt. File your applications. Prepare for the big affair.

Race at Washington Park.

The race will again be held around the 4¼ mile track in the baseball diamond space in Washington park. The athletes will circle the track four times for a total of five miles. The usual hazards that go with cross-country racing will be placed on the course.

Any amateur runner may compete. There will be individual prizes and a team event. Teams will be composed of five men. There will be a silver loving cup for the winning team and another silver loving cup for the individual who wins the race.

It will be necessary for entrants to join the Amateur Athletic union, for which 25 cents is charged. Applications for membership to that organization will be on hand at the Tribune Public Service store, 11 South Dearborn street, after Nov. 15. Entry blanks for the cross-country event will also be on hand at that store after Nov. 15.

The race will be conducted by officials of the A. A. U.

Teams Urged to Enter.

Coöperation of the various organizations that are members of the A. A. U. was urged last night by Louis B. Reitman, president of the Central association.

"This is one of the big amateur runs of the year," said Mr. Reitman. "It is hoped that every unit organization of the Central association will send at least one team, and more if possible, to the race."

At last night's meeting Mr. Reitman appointed the following committee chairmen to officiate for the Central association for the coming year:

Autos Flood Florida, but None for Sale

BY J. L. JENKINS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Like the ancient mariner, athirst in a world of water, Florida is struggling through a serious automobile famine while tourist cars pour into the state at the rate of 1,000 a day to spill over the already congested state highways and city streets.

Almost any car that faintly resembles an automobile finds a ready sale everywhere in the state. Used cars sometimes change hands two and three times a day before they find a permanent owner. Salesroom floors from the Georgia line to the tip of the peninsula are stripped clean of new stock, and dealers are working out devious schemes to get delivery from factories.

On the east coast some distributors have stolen a march on competitors by bringing in cars on barges. On the west coast practically the only new cars arriving come overland from as far north as Atlanta to beat the general freight embargo.

The new car famine, plus the freight embargo and the biggest building boom that has ever struck the south, is creating hundreds of unique jobs in the Florida automobile industry. In Tampa yesterday a distributor bought a column of Cleveland, O., advertising space to secure drivers for the new cars waiting for him at northern factories.

Some dealers send men to the present freight heads at Valdosta. There they unload the new cars held out of the state by the embargo, load them with parts, and drive them to the doors of new owners.

The prize scheme, however, is that worked out on the west coast. A group of men hook up with Florida distributors and win dealer discounts. Then they take contracts for freighting cement, steel, lumber, and other materials at regular freight rates plus personal expenses, and board trains for Atlanta, New Orleans, and New York.

There they buy new trucks at the dealer discounts, load them with their maximum freight, and drive them back into Florida, where they sell the trucks and collect freight and expense money.

Football Team Offside; Draws 3-4 of Inch Penalty

Danville, Ill., Nov. 9.—(AP)—What is thought to be the shortest penalty ever given in a football game was meted out in the Westville-Hoopeston high school game Saturday. With the ball one and one-half inches from the goal line, Westville was offside, an offense that usually draws a five yard penalty, but in such cases the rule is to make it half the remaining distance to the goal, making three-quarters of an inch the penalty.

DIRECTORS TO ACT ON CHANGE IN COAST LOOP

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 9.—(AP)—A committee of directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball league was named today by Harry Williams, president of the circuit, to determine whether any action shall be taken with reference to moving the Sacramento team away from that city. Lewis Morening, president of the Sacramento club, declared he has found it impossible to maintain a team there because of lack of support. The committee will report at a meeting of the league directorate at Catalina island in January.

A resolution was adopted favoring annulment of the present agreement with the American association for a "little world series." President Williams was instructed to draw up a new agreement and to endeavor to include the International league in the pact.

BEAR TRADERS HAMMER STOCK PRICES LOWER

YESTERDAY'S AVERAGES

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Speculative operations for the advance received another decided setback today when an avalanche of selling orders, launched by bear traders, carried prices down 1 to 11 points in the first hour of trading. Some of the losses were subsequently recovered in part, when operators for the rise, in an endeavor to revive bullish enthusiasm, bid up a selected list of oil, equipment, tobacco and mercantile shares.

Total sales ran above 2,460,000 shares, making the twentieth consecutive full session to overtop 2,000,000 shares. While the reaction was generally regarded as a correction of a weakened technical position, liquidation of stocks also was influenced by speculative apprehension over the money situation and a sharp break in cotton futures.

Motors Are Sold Heavily.

Heavy selling for both accounts took place in the motor shares. Hudson broke 8 points to 121 and then rallied to 125¼. Chrysler dropped nearly 7 points to 232¾ and then rallied a point, and General Motors, Pierce Arrow common and preferred, Chandler, Dodge Bros. A, Hupp, Jordan, Mack Truck, and White fell back 1 to nearly 2½ points. Nash Motors broke 20 points to 435 on a few sales.

Steels were in supply despite the fact that an unusually favorable tonnage statement of the U. S. Steel corporation is expected at noon tomorrow. U. S Steel common reacted 2⅜ points to 135½, and losses of 1@2½ points took place in Bethlehem, Crucible, Gulf States, Replogle, Sloss-Sheffield, Republic, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube. Baldwin showed independent strength, crossing 132 for a gain of nearly 6 points, and then slipping back to 129⅝.

American Can Breaks.

American Can broke over 4 points to 25⅝. Other outstanding weak spots were American Linseed, Commercial Solvents A and B, Fisher Body, General Baking, General Electric, Goodrich Rubber, National Lead, Pittsburgh Terminal Coal, Woolworth, and Radio Corporation, the last named falling to a new low record for the year. Dupont opened 11 points lower at 250, but recovered about half of its loss at the close.

Pacific Oil was heavily bought on rumors of an increased dividend, climbing nearly 5 points to 60⅝ and closing within a small fraction of the top.

United Cigar Stores and Schulte Stores each advanced to new peak prices for the year. Independent strength also was shown by Air Reduction, Atlantic Coast Line, Brunswick-Balke-Collender, Coca Cola, Delaware and Hudson, May Department Stores, Sears-Roebuck, and Union Bag and Paper, all up 2 points or more.

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Heavy profit-taking and bear selling unsettled prices in the early part of today's curb market, but they made irregular recovery later. Electrical refrigeration issues showed outstanding strength. Nizer B soaring over 5 points to 82 and closing within a fraction of the top, the Kelvinator showing a net gain of nearly 3 points at 81⅛.

Oils received better support, net gains of one to 2½ points being recorded by Humble, Indiana Pipe Line, Magnolia Petroleum, Prairie Pipe Line and Reiter-Foster. Lion Oil crossed 25 to a new 1925 high record.

Reactionary tendencies predominated in the motor group, Durant dropping a point and most of the active issues yielding fractionally. Cleveland showed independent strength by attaining a new 1925 peak price. A sharp break of over three points in Liberty Chain Stores on selling inspired by receivership proceedings featured the irregular movement of the radio shares. American Rayon Products fell back about two points on realizing and heaviness also was shown by the Continental Baking issues, Glen Alden Coal, Goodyear Rubber, and the Southern Dairy issues.

Tobacco issues showed independent strength, Eismlober and Cuban Tobacco Certificates, each mounting to new 1925 high records. Independent strength also was shown by General Baking A, Vick Chemical and Victor Talking Machine.

| One month ago | 14.00@15.75 |
| One year ago | 13.25@14.00 |

Dwindling hog receipts and liberal shipping orders helped yesterday's market, prices advancing 10@25c, with day's average up 20c at $11.45, equaling the highest average since Oct. 9. Chicago received 40,000, against 76,600 a year ago, while St. Paul reported 33,000, against 27,700 corresponding Monday a year ago. Market weakened in midsession, but finished comparatively strong, especially on 250@300 lb butchers. Underweights were in larger supply than usual for Monday. Few of the 9,000 estimated carried over were in first hands. Today's receipts are estimated at 32,000, against 30,295 a week ago and 54,234 a year ago.

The cattle market continued on its upward course early, but finished weak, with part of the first gain lost. The smallest Monday receipts in nearly three months injected strength in the trade and bulk of business reflected 15@25c advance over the close of last week. Top steers, averaging 1,166 lbs, jumped to $14.50, highest thus far this month and 25c above last week's summit. Best 1,387 lb. averages brought $14.10. Butcher stock ruled strong to 25c higher. Choice 655 lb. heifers reached $10.75 and 1,116 lb cows $7.50. Calves sold steady to weak; stockers and feeders strong to 25c higher.

Lamb Prices React.

Following last week's unsatisfactory closing market for killing lambs, country loadings were curtailed and prices reacted sharply yesterday. Top natives and Dakota fed lambs soared to $15.75, which was 25c above last week's peak and equal to the highest fat lamb sale since Oct. 9. Bulk of better grades brought $15.25@15.50. Aged and yearling sheep shared in part of the upturn, desirable 100 lb fed western yearlings reaching $12.50 and 111 lb Montana range ewes $8.25; native wethers averaging 135 lbs, $9.00; light feeding lambs advanced to $15.65. Feeding yearling wethers $11.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 13,000 cattle, 32,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against 11,985 cattle, 54,234 hogs, and 12,944 sheep the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

"See for Yourself," say Hollywood's Guests

"Seeing is believing," is an ancient saying. But it is the basis of the up-to-the-minute enthusiasm with which the guests of Hollywood tell their friends of their wondrous trips to Florida's All-Year Resort City.

Hollywood-by-the-Sea surprised them in every feature and in every detail. First came the picturesque trips through the Cumberland Mountains; then the busy round of fun and sight-seeing on Florida's rainbow coast, dancing, golfing, and every form of outdoor recreation and, finally, the refreshing dips in the Atlantic Ocean on Hollywood's matchless beach.

All marveled at the growth of this city that Joseph W. Young has builded fifteen miles north of Miami. They delighted in the beautiful $250,000 bathing casino and peerless beach. They were fascinated by its tropical splendor of a South Sea Isle, with all sophistication of northern watering places.

WHEAT SWINGS RAPIDLY, CLOSING ON DOWN TREND

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat prices fluctuated rapidly within a range of 2@2½c, with local and eastern pressure on the way and it went to 4¾c under the December at the last, the December closing unchanged for the day with May off 1⅜c, and July ⅝c lower. Speculative operations were largely responsible for the erratic action, and in the aggregate trade was light. Corn and rye closed ⅛ lower to ⅛c higher, and oats ⅛@¼c lower.

Houses with eastern and northwestern connections were sellers of May wheat and found support lacking on the way down early, but it was hard to trace where all the grain sold went to, and when buying orders appeared prices advanced sharply. News counted for little either way. Nat C. Murray cabled from Buenos Aires that the consensus there was that the wheat crop would be around 270,000,000 bu. This suggests an exportable surplus of 195,000,000 bu, or 10,000,000 bu in excess of Broomhall's estimate.

Winnipeg wheat market was closed, due to the Canadian Thanksgiving, and had some effect in restricting trading here. Cash wheat premiums in leading markets were little changed, with a fairly liberal movement in the southwest. Primary arrivals were 1,731,000 bu, against 1,823,000 bu a week ago and 2,695,000 bu last year.

Corn Has Narrow Range.

With a government report due today a majority of corn traders were disposed to keep close to shore. Buying of corn against sales of wheat, regarded as closing spreads, was responsible for a small bulge early, but commission house trade was small. Clear and cold weather prevailed over the corn belt, but without increasing country offerings. Spot basis on old corn was ½c to ¾c higher and on new firm. Some attention was paid to Washington messages indicating that present prices were unsatisfactory to producers. Oats and rye were dull.

Cash Houses Buy Lard.

Buying of November and December lard by cash houses combined with strength in hogs made a higher average for provisions, with the close unchanged to 15½c higher on lard, while bellies were 5c higher and ribs unchanged. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

For the present operations in wheat are governed largely by actions of a few large local and eastern traders as the majority of the pit traders see it. There is said to be a large shortage in December and May here against wheat held elsewhere. So long as the shorts in December hold out close observers expect the market will act tight.

There are only 1,322,000 bu of contract wheat in public elevators here, a decrease of 356,000 bu last week. This is a small stock for this time of the year, and a dangerous one at any time for the Chicago market, as operators see it. In case there should be 1,000,000 bu brought in from the northwest between now and the end of December there would not be a large supply.

There will be a holiday in the grain markets at Chicago and the west on Wednesday. Winnipeg will be open, although it was closed Monday, Canadian Thanksgiving.

COTTON BREAKS $7 ON BEARISH CROP REPORT

It was a bear day in the cotton markets with a break at the extreme low of 140 points on December in New York and New Orleans, equal to a drop of $7.00 per bale.

The government crop estimate was so much higher than the trade expected, that it precipitated heavy liquidation by longs as well as increased pressure from the shorts.

At the close futures in Chicago were 101 to 120 points lower for the day with New York off 72 to 98 points and New Orleans 84 to 99 points. Liverpool was 42 to 49 points lower.

Spot markets were off 100 points in New Orleans at 18.75c, and in New York 85 points lower at 19.95c. Galveston closed at 19.30c, Houston at 19.25c.

Interest Coupons Payable February 15th and August 15th. Coupon Bonds in Denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Callable at 101 and Interest. 2% Federal Income Tax Paid by Borrower.

We offer these bonds as an investment of the highest character, combining maximum security with the maximum interest yield consistent with safety. We invite your attention to the following summary:

1. Security: This issue is secured by a direct closed first mortgage on The Warwick apartment hotel building, now nearing completion, together with complete furnishings, a garage with a capacity for 125 cars, and land 300 feet x 235 feet owned in fee.

2. Location: The building is located in the finest residential section of Houston, facing Hermann Park, which is approximately 545 acres in size, and on Main Boulevard, 13 minutes from downtown Houston. This site was chosen after an extensive survey as the finest possible location for a building of this character.

3. Rental Demand: Apartments of this character are in very strong demand in Houston. Similar buildings show practically no vacancies, and a preliminary investigation gives evidence that the building will be quickly and profitably rented. The adjoining garage will greatly increase the rentability of the apartments as well as the income yield from the property.

4. Earnings: Net actual earnings, on a most conservative schedule and after liberal deductions for all operating costs, taxes, and vacancies, are estimated at $191,000—more than two and one-quarter times the greatest annual interest charge and much in excess of the greatest combined interest and sinking fund requirements.

5. Valuation: The land and buildings, when completed, together with equipment, furniture, and furnishings, have been conservatively valued by competent appraisers at $1,940,000. This shows a margin of $640,000 above the total amount of this issue, making the loan only 67% of the lowest appraised valuation.

6. Borrowing Corporation: The president of the borrowing corporation is experienced in the management and operation of high class hotels and will personally manage the property. His associates are men of unusual ability and experience and are highly recommended in every respect.

Suppose you could open one combination bank account, and suppose you could draw checks against this account in payment of your bills, and then suppose that all money you did not need to cover your expenses was automatically set aside in a Savings Fund where it would earn you 3% Compound Interest. If such an account would appeal to you, all you need do is open a Checking-Savings Account today.

Recent and current expansion in building activity has resulted in a marked increase in the financing of improved city real estate. ¶Many conservative investors and financiers have questioned the fundamental soundness of some of the valuations back of the financing of actual and proposed office, apartment, hotel and store properties. ¶Our booklet 921 "The Appraisal of Real Estate Projects" discusses sound appraisal procedure for properties of this nature. # LEGISLATORS ARE BEATEN BY CROPS IN AIDING FARMER

BY HARPER LEECH.

Reports of farmers' troubles in Iowa because of 60 cent corn recall the fact that the last $1.00 corn was also the cause of much distress, because then they didn't have the necessary corn for the available pigs.

The scenery of agriculture is shifting fast. The cotton grower, who had been enjoying better times than the grain grower, is now confronted with a crop which exceeded all expectations, and prices which dash many hopes.

Up in the Dakotas, where discontent was rife last year, they are now extending the glad hand to big business. A party of 15 Armour men, back in Chicago yesterday from the opening of two branch plants, one at Huron, S. D., and one at Fargo, N. D., are still amazed at the welcome they got.

North Dakota, only six years ago, was in the midst of an ambitious Socialist campaign to drive big business out of the state.

The Chicago packers are now welcomed with auto parades, speeches, and banquets. Both of the plants now to be operated by Armour's were built for coöperatives.

One of the Chicagoans reports 3,000 autos in the Huron parade—about half of them new. Detroit is preparing to run on full schedule all winter and there's a hint of why.

The Fargo motorcade to the packing plant, five miles out of town, is estimated to have marshaled 5,000 cars, of which a very large per cent were new.

The extension of the Chicago packing industry to the Dakotas is an aftermath of the diversification campaign which followed the low prices of wheat. They are raising pigs now—also potatoes. Farmers with 40,000 bushels of potatoes on a rising market, with no notes in the bank, are now reported from the state.

What will the next reel show for the farmer? And what farmers? Statesmen who expect to frame any legislative or administrative scheme to fit a country so vast with such rapid shifts of prosperity and distress from section to section, have assigned themselves some job.

Have you noticed that the department of justice is not tearing its hair about the decline of sugar? Isn't it a contrast to the Palmer period, when sugar soared as investigations and threats of indictments multiplied? If sugar growing bulked as big in the United States as it does in Cuba, Louisiana, or Colorado, we would hear something about the gamblers on the sugar exchanges about now.

The extension of packing plants into the Dakotas is another step in the decentralization of that industry. Out of the corn belt, the Dakota pigs run on alfalfa and eat some barley and oats with their reduced corn ration. Result—leaner bellies, which tickle the Englishman's bacon taste and give competition to the Danish bacon. The corn belt bacon is too fat to fight the Danish porker.

$1,000 AN ACRE PROFIT IN FOUR MONTHS IN 'CHI'

BY AL CHASE.

More than seven hundred acres in Rich, Bremen, Thornton, and Worth townships changed hands yesterday with the closing of several deals, in one of which a profit of $1,000 an acre in four months' time is claimed.

This latter deal was a 236 acre tract on Crawford avenue, in Rich township, west of the Olympian Fields Country club, between Illinois and Vollmer roads. Four months ago A. J. Cooper of the Harmony cafeterias, and Fred Frolich, bought this property at $850 an acre.

Make $236,000 Profit.

Yesterday they sold it to Charles Friedlander, Fred S. and William S. Wolffs, Charles Friedlander, and Alexander Block for a reported $436,600, or at the rate of $1,850 an acre. That figures up a profit of $236,000.

This is claimed to be the largest acreage transaction and the largest consideration in the district, according to Cerf & Ehrenhalt, the only brokers in the two deals. It is said tentative plans are under way for subdividing this property. We'll predict, however, that within two or three months the present owners will be cleaning up a good sized profit by selling at a big advance.

A little farther north, in Worth township, a tract of 103 acres, at the northeast corner of 127th street and Ridgeland avenue, was sold by Christian Bohne to John Van Ramshorst for $51,000, according to the county records.

Bremen Township Deal.

In Bremen township a tract of 227 acres on the west side of Crawford avenue, between 175th and 183d, or a mile of frontage on Crawford, was sold by Emil H. and Alfred F. Bramstaedt to Benjamin Bosley for an indicated $284,000. The property was then transferred to the Union Bank of Chicago as trustee.

Arthur C. Schieferstein bought a tract of 140 acres, part of which is in Thornton and part in Bremen townships, from Adolph W. Lakemeyer and the Union Bank of Chicago, as trustee, for a total indicated price of $232,500. The property is at the intersection of Dixie highway and 147th street. Thomas E. Sullivan & Co. were brokers and Joseph J. Sullivan was attorney.

The thirty-five acres on the west side of Kedzie avenue, with considerable frontage between 167th and 175th streets, have been sold by the Union Trust company as trustee to John T. Murray for an indicated $41,000. Mr. Murray then resold the tract to the Union Bank of Chicago as trustee for $53,000.

Oratory at Realty Boards.

Oratory will hold sway at both realty boards today. At 1 p. m. in the main dining room of the Chicago Real Estate board Ralph G. Heilman, dean of the School of Commerce of Northwestern university, will be the first of a series of Tuesday speakers. His talk today will be on "Education and Business."

Farther north of the loop, at the quarters of the Cook County Real Estate board, in the Conway building, Frederick A. Moore, executive director of the new Chicago Forum council, will discuss the subject of "Intelligent Citizenship" at 2:30 p. m. This will be at the regular market meeting of the board. The members' meeting will be held at 3:30 p. m.

Territory The Free State of Oldenburg is one of the foremost agricultural states in Germany. It has a population of 551,805, and an area of 2,482 square miles. While 57 per cent of its population reside in the country and 43 per cent in the cities, there are 19 cities of over 2,000 inhabitants each and 1,311 villages. The country has been an independent political state since the 11th century. It has three districts: Oldenburg on the fertile northwest German plains bordering on the North Sea, close to the Holland boundary line; Luebeck bordering on the Baltic Sea, and Birkenfeld in the Prussian Rhine-Province, bordering on the Saar Basin.

Aside from raising large quantities of cereals, potatoes, hay, etc., it is famous for its Frisian cattle and Oldenburg horses. It also has important internal and overseas trade and plays a large part in shipbuilding, steel and iron work, deep sea fishing, cutting and polishing precious stones, and in the textile, linoleum, cork, glass, brick and peat industries.

Bond Issue These bonds are the direct and only external obligation of the entire Free State to which it covenants to apply all its property and entire taxing power. The State further covenants that if, while any of these bonds are outstanding, it shall issue any loan secured by a specific lien on any of its properties or revenues, these bonds shall share in such lien equally and ratably with such other indebtedness. It is officially stated that the Free State of Oldenburg has always punctually met all obligations under the laws in effect.

Financial The estimated value of all taxable property in the State, exclusive of property of the Federal government, is in excess of $380,000,000. Of this amount it is reported that $284,761,905 is in privately owned real estate. The State has assets in city and country real estate, forests, harbors, accounts receivable, etc., totaling $15,964,285. The largest portion of the State's pre-war paper mark debt has been taken over by the Federal government. The present value of the remaining paper mark debt and other loans measured in rye and gold, exclusive of the present issue, is estimated at $2,169,999. With the completion of the present financing, the total debt will be $5,169,999, or less than $10 per capita.

For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1925, revenues showed a surplus of $381,666 over expenditures. The budget for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1926, provides for total revenues and expenditures of approximately $5,000,000.

Purpose of Issue These bonds are issued to provide funds for the construction of ship and drainage canals, dam and electric light and power development in the cities of Oldenburg, Delmenhorst, Idar and Varel, thus adding to the productivity of the State.

Va.-Carolina Chemical Co. Reorganization in Effect

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The plan of reorganization for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, outlined last August, was declared operative today by the reorganization managers. The action foreshadows an early termination of the receivership into which the company was plunged in March, 1924.

The reorganization plan calls for the formation of a new company to carry on the business. Through an exchange of its securities the old company's funded, bank, and trade debt of about $41,700,000 will be cleared away, enabling the new corporation to start business practically free of floating debt and with net working capital of about $10,500,000.

P., and inter-connected with high voltage sub-stations for the purchase of electrical energy from outside sources. There are over 300 miles of high voltage transmission lines connecting extensive distribution systems, gas plants and water systems.

SECURITY: These bonds will be the only funded debt of the Southern Cities Utilities Company and will be specifically secured by pledge with the trustee of all the outstanding Common Capital Stocks of the West Virginia Utilities Company and the Southern Cities Power Company, the principal subsidiaries of the Southern Cities Utilities Company.

The reproduction cost new, less accrued depreciation, of the properties of these two companies, applicable to the securities pledged under this mortgage, based on appraisals by independent engineers, is very largely in excess of the total amount of these bonds which will be presently outstanding.

| Years ended December 31st | Gross Earnings | Total Income Available for Fixed Charges |
|---|---|---|
| 1921 | $1,893,587.00 | $530,506.00 |
| 1922 | 1,847,318.35 | 668,766.89 |
| 1923 | 1,991,068.90 | 764,559.96 |
| 1924 | 2,601,801.04 | 941,983.63 |

Year ended August 31, 1925:

|---|---|
| Operating Revenue (including other income) | $2,916,376.80 |
| Operating Expenses (including current maintenance and taxes) | 1,911,222.97 |
| Net Operating Income | $1,005,153.83 |
| Balance of Net Income available for this issue (before depreciation) | $ 520,836.45 |
| Interest Charges on $1,500,000 15-Year 6½% Secured Gold Bonds | 97,500.00 |

The balance of net earnings, as shown above, is thus equal to 5.34 times interest requirements on these bonds.

During this period 56% of the consolidated gross revenue was accrued from the sale of electricity, 13% from gas, 8% from merchandise sales and ice, 16% from transportation, and 7% from water.

| 1921 | 1922 | 1923 | 1924 | 1925 |
|---|---|---|---|---|

and $2,353,700 Voting Trust Common Stock, on which no dividends are payable prior to termination of the Voting Trust in 1928. These securities have an aggregate market value at the present time of over $4,000,000.

MANAGEMENT: The properties of the Company are under the direction of men of long and successful experience in the operation of public utility properties.

Republic of Peru.

H. R.—The Republic of Peru is issuing $7,500,000 fifteen year external 7½ per cent gold bonds, payable as to principal and interest in United States currency. These bonds are the direct external obligations of the republic and will be specifically secured by a first closed lien on the entire revenues derived from taxes of whatever nature imposed or levied on the petroleum industry. This industry is one of the most important industries of Peru and, in 1924, accounted for over 20 per cent of her export trade. Receipts from pledged revenues since the inauguration of the existing petroleum tax rates have been as follows: 1923, $1,083,248; 1924, $1,553,850; 1925 (3 months estimated), $1,625,000. The estimated receipts for 1925 are equal to over 3 times the maximum interest charges and over 1¼ times maximum interest and sinking fund requirements of these bonds. The national debt of Peru is low. As of June 30, 1925, at par of exchange, the total debt was $66,177,789, of which $28,283,429 was external. The present external debt, after giving effect to this financing, will be less than the favorable trade balance at par of exchange for 1924. A sinking fund is provided to retire the entire issue at or before maturity through the redemption of not less than $500,000 of bonds annually by purchase at not exceeding 107½ and accrued interest, or by call by lot at that price. The external 8s of 1932 are being called for redemption at par and interest on Feb. 1, 1926. The present issue of bonds is a suitable investment for a business man's spare funds.

George Kern, Inc.
(New York City)
6½% First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

To be dated November 1, 1925 To Mature November 1, 1937

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registerable as to principal only. Principal and semi-annual interest (May 1 and November 1) payable at the office of Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Co. in the City of New York, Trustee. Callable as a whole or in part by lot on any interest payment date up to and including November 1, 1927, at 103 and accrued interest, thereafter to and including November 1, 1929, at 102½ and accrued interest, thereafter to and including November 1, 1931, at 102 and accrued interest, thereafter to and including November 1, 1933, at 101½ and accrued interest, thereafter to and including November 1, 1935, at 101 and accrued interest, and thereafter until maturity at 100½ and accrued interest.

SECURITY: These bonds will be the direct and general obligation of George Kern, Inc., and will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first closed mortgage upon the leasehold of the Company, covering property in the City of New York, on the west side of Eleventh Avenue, extending from Fortieth to Forty-first Streets, upon which property the Company is erecting its new packing plant and abattoir, and upon all the Company's machinery.

The total value of property to be mortgaged has been estimated by the American Appraisal Company, upon completion of the new structure, at $1,300,905.01 or over $1,927 for each $1,000 bond of this issue. The Company's balance sheet as of June 27, 1925, as audited by Ernst & Ernst, after giving effect to this financing, shows net tangible assets of $1,809,096 or $2,680 for each $1,000 bond.

BUSINESS AND PRODUCTS: George Kern, Inc., was incorporated in 1911 and is the successor to a business established by George Kern, Sr., 34 years ago. The original business of supplying in a small way pork products to delicatessen stores has grown steadily throughout the history of the Company, and the business now comprises the packing and wholesale and retail distribution of pork and beef products in New York City, and in territory including eastern Pennsylvania, central New York, Long Island, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

THE PLANT: The Company is now constructing a modern packing plant and abattoir on Eleventh Avenue between West 40th and West 41st Streets, New York City, having out-grown its present facilities on West 37th and West 38th Streets. The land on which the new plant is being erected has been leased from the New York Stock Yards Company for a term, with privileges of renewal, running to May 1, 1970.

The new plant will be the only independent plant in the Borough of Manhattan where hogs can be killed, chilled and delivered, dressed or in cuts, for immediate use or shipment.

EARNINGS: The Company has shown a profit every year since 1911, except 1921. Gross business which amounted to $75,000 in 1912 has increased steadily each year until it reached $3,868,203 in 1924. For the nine months ended September 30, 1925, sales were reported to be $3,567,259.

Average net earnings for the two years ended December 31, 1924, as audited by Ernst & Ernst, after all charges, adjusted to give effect to non-recurring charges and including liberal allowance for depreciation but before Federal Taxes, were $127,995 or over 2.9 times the maximum annual bond interest requirements. Such earnings for the year ended December 31, 1924, were $143,430 or 3.26 times such interest charges. Net earnings for the six months ended June 27, 1925, were $70,172.

SINKING FUND: The indenture securing this issue will provide for a Sinking Fund which is expected to retire approximately 75% of this issue by maturity.

We offer these bonds when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval by our counsel, Messrs. Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett, New York City, and Messrs. Macdonald, Ackley & Casey, New York City, counsel for the Company. Deliveries may be made in the form of temporary bonds or interim receipts of the Trustee.

Price 100 and accrued interest to yield 6½%.

Otis & Co. Peabody, Houghteling & Co.

Gentlemen, Your Health
A message to active and retired men of means

YOU men who can easily afford a Florida home . . . what a mistake you make in not escaping our trying Northern winters. Especially is this true of you still actively engaged in business.

Medical authorities now prove 12 months' work too much. More can be accomplished in 10, they say, if one keeps physically fit.

Your business affairs, like those of others, can be arranged to permit you to winter in Florida. As for you who have retired, in what better place can you spend life's autumn than this land of eternal spring.

INDRIO the Restful

But seek not the crowded cities. These only distract, not rest. Build, instead, in a peaceful, exclusively residential community such as Indrio.

Indrio lies 60 miles north of Palm Beach on the Dixie Highway and the Indian River, an inlet of the Atlantic. Already parks, plazas, golf courses and boulevards are being laid out, while projected improvements embrace a great hotel, bathing casino, bridle paths and tennis and roque courts. Nearby woods and waters provide splendid hunting and fishing.

An All-Year Community

Indrio's climate is delightfully even the year 'round. In summer, cool breezes sweep in from the sea, while winter days are made balmy by the Gulf Stream.

Homesites in Indrio, though not cheap, are surprisingly reasonable considering the high character of the development. A desirable lot costs no more than a popular-priced car, and building costs are much lower than here. As Indrio's less expensive lots are going fast, we strongly urge immediate investigation. # The Harvard Storage and Warehouse Plant

(FORMERLY THE HARVARD BREWERY)
ON PLAIN STREET and PAYTON STREET
LOWELL, MASSACHUSETTS

To Be Sold at Public Auction
TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDERS

Tuesday, Nov. 17, 1925, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon

J. Gilbert Hill, Attorney, has authorized the auctioneers to sell to whomsoever will bid the most and comply with the terms of sale this plant, one of the finest, most completely equipped and largest of its kind; the sale to take place on the premises, on Tuesday afternoon, November the 17th, 1925, at 2:30 o'clock.

Sixteen buildings in excellent physical condition—the majority of brick, iron and stone construction, as enumerated in descriptive and illustrated catalog—with over 200,000 square feet of floor space, and a total acreage of 10 3-10 acres comprise the property. The equipment, which is to be sold as part of the real estate, includes a complete power plant, a refrigerating plant, gas generating equipment and storage tanks, cooling equipment and filters, meters and pumps, furnaces, heaters, blowers, engines, generators, tanks, vats, tubs, and all their accessories. Also drops, elevators, machinery, shafting, pulleys, belting, piping, and all heating, lighting and power fixtures.

Located on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad running direct to Ayer Junction, and connecting with the main lines of the Boston & Maine, it presents to the far-seeing manufacturer a remarkable opportunity. It possesses one of the greatest possibilities in the country for a paper mill, rubber plant, bleachery, dyeing and finishing work, wool scouring plant, or the like, as driven wells provide the purest water, with a never-failing source of supply. When in full operation this immense plant consumed less than one-half the daily capacity of the wells. This means a water supply unequaled by any plant or manufactory in the East. River Meadow Brook also runs right through the property and is an additional source of water supply. The City of Lowell maintains a pumping station in the rear of the plant for parts of its water system.

Rarely does one examine manufacturing buildings of such strength in construction or more substantial in every characteristic. The source of labor would be the great City of Lowell, the largest in the Merrimack Valley, within 38 minutes by rail from Boston. It is ideally located on the main line of the Boston & Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroads. Lowell has a population of over 125,000. It is one of the great industrial centers of New England, a prosperous payroll city. Lowell has direct passenger and freight service to Boston, New York and Montreal, and enjoys the same rates as apply to Boston for shipments west and south. Lowell has always been notably free from labor troubles.

One fact in connection with the plant that we wish to emphasize strongly is the physical condition of the entire property. It would be difficult to overemphasize the exceedingly fine condition of this plant. All buildings, inside and out—all the yards—in fact, everything within the boundary of the plant, are in splendid condition. This means as near perfect as daily business use and operation permits.

There is ample open space surrounding each building. Each building is complete in itself and is lighted and ventilated from either three or four sides. The examination of this property from a manufacturing standpoint will prove most satisfying. This great plant, erected at a cost of over $2,000,000, might once again be put to the use for which it was built. As an investment this phase of the sale cannot, therefore, be overlooked.

By order of

J. GILBERT HILL, Attorney,
174 Central Street, Lowell, Mass.

Illustrated catalog describing the property in detail and its equipment, also the terms of the sale, may be had on application at the office of the Auctioneers.

WALTER E. GUYETTE & CO., 53 Central St., Lowell, Mass.; 82 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

COUPLE DISCORDS ARE STRUCK IN PROSPERITY LAY

BY O. A. MATHER.

Two discordant notes appeared yesterday in the song of prosperity. First came the announcement that President Coolidge is concerned over the agricultural situation in the middle west brought about by the sharp decline in corn prices and attended by numerous bank failures. Second was the action of the Boston Federal Reserve bank in raising its loan rate from 3½ to 4 per cent.

While neither of these occurences indicated any radical change in the general business and financial situation, they were sufficient to inspire fright in the nervous speculative markets, especially when the New York banks called about $15,000,000 of stock market loans in order to remedy a deficit of $7,943,320 in reserves, reported last Saturday, and when the call loan rate rose to 5 per cent late in the day.

Traders Ponder Money Market.

Last night speculators in the stock market were wondering whether the action of the Boston reserve bank means that the banks are about to put the brakes on the rampant speculation of the last few months. The advance in the Boston rediscount rate was not of itself significant, as commercial rates now range from 4¼ to 5 per cent.

The significance lies in the fact that the New York reserve bank may take similar action on Thursday. It is not usual for the Boston bank to act first and it is usual for the Boston bank to maintain the same rate as New York and make its changes simultaneously or afterward. At all events, the growing uneasiness in Wall street over the credit situation caused the third sharp reaction in the stock market since the famous unexpected smash recorded in the late dealings on Saturday, Oct. 17.

Higher Rate Justified.

If the brake of higher interest rates is imposed on stock market speculation, it will be not without some justification. The reserve banks last week increased their loans on stock exchange collateral by $37,000,000, making an increase of $167,000,000 in a month and of $206,000,000 since the end of August. Such loans now are $934,000,000 higher than a year ago, accounting for most of the increase of $1,137,000,000 in total loans and discounts.

As to the effect of this expansion marketwise, there are two inferences. One is that a pyramid of credit has been constructed whose stability must largely depend on maintenance of inflated stock market prices, and that such a pyramid usually collapses. The other inference is that a credit market that has lent itself to such expansion without forcing money rates up sharply is capable of lending much more, which theory has often been disproved.

SALARY, BONUS, COMMISSION.

No experience necessary. Leads furnished. If you work consistently you can increase your income more rapidly with us than with any similar organization. A. A. M., who earned only $4,000 a year before we hired him, received more than $25,000 last year, his second year with us.

You can do the same if you are intelligent, willing to work, and over 21 years of age.

Many of our highest paid men earned as little as $30 a week before coming to work with us. We are paying them five times as much. Now they own good cars and are enjoying big incomes every week.

YOU want the best things of life. Money will buy them, and we offer you the opportunity to earn MORE MONEY in one year than you might ordinarily earn in five.

We require 100 more men to help us handle our ever increasing volume of business, already amounting to more than $1,000,000 a month. We can double it if we get the right men right away.

That's why we will hire men inexperienced in selling and give them the best sales training in this business.

We are not a new firm; we have 27 years of success behind us and are now ready to start the most amazing, sensational price smashing sales campaign "RIGHT HERE IN CHICAGO." Our advance advertising amounts to more than $100,000 worth of publicity.

LEADS FURNISHED.

Cash in on this great wave of Chicago real estate activity and at the same time know down in your heart that you are selling the "best on the market," that you are building a clientele of customers who will be your friends for life.

WANTED—MALE HELP.
Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

[Salesmen's big massmeeting Tuesday evening, 8 o'clock, Nov. 10. Every salesman in Chicago invited. Auditorium, 11th flr. Lake View Bldg., 116 S. Michigan-av.]

An OPEN LETTER TO SALESMEN OF CHICAGO.

Here is a message of truth; of facts; of big earnings of men who have recently joined in a campaign of the fastest selling proposition that has ever been put over in Chicago, backed by a muti - millionaire, a man whose name is known from coast to coast, a real sportsman. Proposition offered is one that comes only about every 10 or 15 years. You men now selling Chicago real estate, you fellows who are selling bonds, books, stocks, merchandise, and you traveling men who are out on the road week in and week out, I want you to heed this advice and then put yourself in line to get the full facts. Any average, every day, ordinary salesman can make $500 a week and the good ones can make better than $1,500 a week. Figure this on the year and see what kind of an income you will have. We work 12 months in the year, and in 4½ months last winter we paid out more than $1,000,000 in commission to our salesmen.

YOU SALESMEN!

Get off the dead proposition—you fellows who are selling cheap Florida lots and making small commissions—get off of it. Get off the slow going, hard grind selling field that breaks your heart and leaves you discouraged all the time. Go with the live lions—the man who pays out more money to his sales force than any other man in America. Go with the man who is famous for making his associates and salespeople rich. Go with the man who is a prince to work for. Go with the man who makes you feel that you own the business with him—who has your interest at heart. Make every day the pay day. You can go over the top in this campaign easier and quicker than in any other selling proposition in America. You don't have to take my word for it. Come and investigate. There are at least 1,000 men in Chicago right now who should get up early tomorrow morning and come to my office for a personal conference. Now what do you think of this? Take my advice and take time to find out. If I offered to give you $1,000 cash you probably would be here at my office by daylight tomorrow morning. I will give you more than that—I will give you an opportunity to make $10,000 cash and make it quickly. What do you think of that? See General Manager, Room 1407 Lake View Bldg., 116 S. Michigan-av.

GIRLS—

READ HELEN'S LETTER.

From time to time you have probably noticed advertisements for TELEPHONE OPERATORS setting forth the advantages of the work. Maybe you wonder what TELEPHONE OPERATORS, themselves, think of the work. If so you will be interested in the following:

"Imagine my amazement when I got over to the Training School and was treated so royally. I had always had long lectures on venturing into the cruel outside and business world, but it was just like stepping outside of our door and back into it again—home. The instructors were lovely and very sympathetic and considerate. Everything was for our comfort. I was, indeed, very much surprised and after a few days dubious, thinking maybe this would only last during our training period. But when I came into my office I found everything as nice there and the supervisors just as kind as at the training school. I am really surprised yet."

This is just a sample of enthusiasm that could be expressed by over 10,000 young girls.
